RE: Modern Language Education Program Review

After reviewing the data presented in the Program Review Report as per University regulation, I am providing you a memorandum of recommendation related to the above named degree program, Modern Language Education. The program housed on the Laramie campus has had a history of low productivity in terms of the number of degrees awarded.

The Modern Language Education program has received national recognition from a national specialized program accreditation (SPA) body, American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (ACTFL), and is approved by the Wyoming Professional Standards Teaching Board (PTSB) making the degrees awarded eligible for professional licensure, certification or endorsement in Wyoming. Consequently, the Modern Language Education program meets both state and national accreditation standards as a program recognized nationally with conditions. Conditions of the program will be addressed in a September 2016 revised report to be submitted to the appropriate SPA body.

The concurrent major in modern language education has been undersubscribed for many years now. The state of Wyoming has not placed a major emphasis in high school curriculum, especially with the large number of small high schools in the state, on foreign language instruction. Wyoming has also been slower than other states to make adequate provisions for teachers who are now facing increasing numbers of English as a Foreign or Second Language Learner (EFL/ELL) status.
As the demographics of the nation are rapidly shifting with increasing numbers of immigrant students enrolling in schools and commerce becoming increasingly globalized, the number of students in modern language education at UW has remained low and stagnant. Although there are pockets of immigrants in the state of Wyoming, most notably in Teton County, the state has not experienced the dramatic increases in numbers of immigrant students that other Rocky Mountain states have experienced. At the very time the need for modern language instruction seems to be increasing in demand for Spanish and Chinese instruction in the U.S., students in modern language education in Wyoming and at UW have remained low and stagnant. At some point, UW and the state will need to revisit its commitment to foreign language instruction if numbers of immigrant students increase and commerce demands in the U.S. and Wyoming increase, but with current demands of budget reductions upon UW, this is certainly a low productivity and high cost program that could be eliminated in the near term.

Add to this the fact that the single faculty member who supports the modern language education program has determined that he will be resigning in the face of low productivity in UW modern language education programs. Dr. Hendryx has had a vested interest in increasing access to and a focus on Chinese language education, a language that is currently not currently available as a major at UW or typically taught in the Wyoming public schools at this time. With the prospect of Dr. Hendryx's impending resignation, there would be no one to support modern language education in the College of Education, as this faculty position would be forfeited to FY 2018 budget cuts.

My recommendation is to eliminate the Modern Language Education program in the College of Education at UW and forfeit the current funds invested in faculty to the FY 2018 budget reductions required by the state of Wyoming. In the future, the viability of majors in modern language education may need to be re-examined. Perhaps a solution for Wyoming's schools would be to offer more languages as a minor and fewer or no languages as a major in secondary education programs. This would allow high schools to employ teachers in their major fields with modern languages representing only a potential augmentation to the curriculum in small Wyoming high schools rather than an investment in a teacher's major teaching assignment. In the meantime, the Secondary Education Department and College of Education will work with the Department of Modern and Classical Languages to investigate the possibility of the MCL faculty teaching and developing the course work needed to support an option for their students to become 6th-12th grade language educators.

Deans and Directors who administer an authorized major or course of study approved by action of the Board of Trustees will be responsible for conducting program reviews. Four key elements should be addressed in each academic program review: (1) Program Demand, (2) Program Quality, (3) Mission Centrality, and (4) Cost.

For each program that is reviewed, a recommendation will be made by the Academic Dean to the Vice President of Academic Affairs.

Title of Program/Specialization: Modern Languages Education (French, German, or Spanish)
Indicate whether undergraduate or graduate program/specialization: Undergraduate

Part 1 – Program Review

1. Program Demand:
Modern Languages Education is a Bachelor’s Degree program that includes concurrent majors in secondary education French, German or Spanish. It does not meet the minimum number of graduates over a five-year period. Listed below are numbers of graduates from the previous six years of the Modern Languages Education program.

2. Program Quality: Is the program of high quality?
a. Program accreditation
   1. Wyoming Professional Teaching Standards Board (PTSB) or an equivalent nationally recognized accrediting agency is responsible for licensure and endorsement of the Modern Languages Education graduates. UW’s Modern Languages Education program is accredited by the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (ACTFL) and National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE).
2. The most recent program review of the Modern Languages Education program through ACTFL was completed and the program was recognized with conditions in February of 2015. Program faculty will use the ACTFL recommendations to submit a revised report in September of 2016.

3. The most recent NCATE accreditation site visit for the College of Education was completed in March of 2016; the preliminary report is that all standards were met and two Areas for Improvement were recommended. A final report from NCATE will be available in October of 2016.

b. Credentials of faculty

Faculty Name: Dr. Jason Hendryx, Ph.D. Curriculum & Instruction w/Second Language Acquisition focus, University of Washington

Ethnicity: Caucasian; Gender: Male

Grants Awarded:

- 2015
  - UW Modern and Classical Languages, Travel Support (USD $500, Accepted)
- 2014
  - International Travel Grant, UW International Programs (USD $2,000, Accepted)
  - Ellbogen Center for Teaching and Learning Professional Development Award (USD $500, Accepted)

Mirror, mirror on the wall, who are Wyoming’s world language teachers after all? Session presented at the WFLTA Conference, Laramie, WY.

Imagining and creating intellectual spaces and possibilities for world language teachers: Some options. Job talk presented at the University of Wyoming, Laramie, WY.

c. Program reputation

The modern language education program is nationally recognized by the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (ACTFL) and NCATE. Our program underwent a rigorous accreditation process and is continually assessed to ensure that the NCATE standards are exceeded.

The program includes courses in pedagogy, assessment, and special education with authentic classroom experiences embedded throughout the program.
Students take courses in French, German, or Spanish and are required to pass ACTFL’s Oral Proficiency Interview (OPI) and Writing Proficiency Test (WPT) with an advance low rating. Students in the program are strongly encouraged to study abroad to immerse themselves in the language and culture that they will one day be teaching.

Many of the program’s graduates go on to teach in Wyoming. To provide context, in 2015-16, across grades 7-12, over 14,000 WY students enrolled in Foreign Language classes” (Wyoming Department of Education: data submitted by WY Public School Districts). Many of those students were taught by UW graduates.

d. Curriculum of major or specialization

University of Wyoming Modern Languages Education majors can enter the program as juniors upon completion of an associate’s degree from various Community Colleges across the state and nationally or enroll at UW as freshman, completing all of their educational requirements here.

Once completed the Modern Languages Education Bachelor’s degree leads to certification to teach in the state of Wyoming by the Wyoming Professional Teaching Standards Board.

For those who already have a Bachelor's Degree in a modern language (French, German or Spanish) and are interested in becoming certified to teach, we offer a Post-Baccalaureate Program that will lead to initial Wyoming teacher certification. The credits earned in this program can also be applied to a master's degree in Curriculum and Instruction, if students choose to pursue a graduate degree.

e. Distance delivery of program/major Modern Languages Education is an on-site program offered at UW campus only, although many lower level courses are offered at Wyoming’s community colleges and are transferable to UW.

f. Quality of Assessment Plan/data Program assessment follows the process of all programs within Wyoming Teacher Education Program (WTEP). All Secondary Education Modern Languages programs have Tier 1 status on UW assessment of student learning in the WTEP programs, student teaching evaluations, as well as common assessments to determine student abilities.

g. Strategic Plan
   N/A - There is not a current UW strategic plan to demonstrate connections.

h. Other: Modern Languages Education students are actively involved with local, regional and national activities.

3. Mission Centrality: Does the program advance the mission of UW including institutional strategy?
   a. The Modern Languages Education program aligns well with the mission of the University in the respect to UW’s commitment to service. The mission states there is an understanding that the greatest service is to provide the state and nation with teachers. This is also recognized as one of the Mission’s guiding principles when it comes to serving the needs of the state.

   b. The Modern Languages Education student numbers affect the course enrollments in EDST 2450 - Foundations of Development & Learning, ITEC 2360 - Teaching with Technology, EDST 2480 – Diversity & Politics of Schooling, EDEX-2484 Introduction to Special Education, EDST 3000 – Teacher as Practitioner, and EDST 3550 as well as the course enrollments for the Modern Languages content courses required for the dual degree listed in the table above.

   c. Of the 8 students who graduated in the last three years, 7 or approximately 88% of them are currently working and teaching in Wyoming schools. Of those 8 graduates, 1 is not teaching.

   d. This program is unique because it is the only opportunity for a bachelor’s degree in Modern Languages Education in the state. The dual degree option also makes the program unique and highly beneficial to our students in future employment qualifications and opportunities.

   e. None
4. Cost: Is the program financially viable?

Dr. Hendryx’s 2015-16 salary is $62,352. Benefits are not included in the calculations below.

In 2015-16, Dr. Hendryx taught the following six courses:

a. Ratio of student credit hours per FTE: 218 student credit hours: 1 faculty

b. Direct instructional expenditures:
   i. Per student credit hour: $286 per student credit hour ($62,352 Dr. Hendryx’s salary/218 student credit hours 2015-2016)
   ii. Per total degrees awarded: $20,784 per degree (In 2015-16, three Modern Languages/Spanish degrees were awarded. $62,352 Dr. Hendryx’s salary/3 degrees awarded Spring 2016)
   iii. Non-personnel expenditures per total academic FTE: UW, Laramie= $2500 annually to support program development and faculty professional travel.
Program Review: Modern Languages Education, Secondary Education, College of Education

c. Course enrollment
   i. Number of classes falling under university minimums.
      Since Dr. Hendryx has been at UW (2013-2016) 12 out of 18 courses in Dr. Hendryx’s teaching load fall below UW’s 10 students per course minimum. This ratio does include the EDCI 5250 course that is offered each fall semester for modern languages education post bac students, which is not expected to reach minimum enrollment numbers as it is cross listed with Modern Languages Methods I (EDSE 3276).
   ii. Lower-division courses falling under university minimums: 0 (There are no 1000 or 2000 lower division undergraduate courses in this program taught by Dr. Hendryx.)

d. Other instructional cost drivers, such as:
   i. Section fill rates: Only one section of Modern Languages Education courses are offered per academic year.
   ii. Course completion rates: 90-100%
   iii. Curricular complexity: All of the courses in the Modern Languages Education program are laboratory based. The courses incorporate knowledge and skills to prepare future Modern Languages Education teachers.
   iv. Faculty course load: Only one faculty in program. Dr. Hendryx teaches on average 15 credit hours per year.

e. Research expenditures per tenured/tenure-track FTE (and other academic personnel, where appropriate): $2,500.00 provided to the program annually out of Department funds for program development and faculty travel.

f. Compare your data to national benchmarks (Delaware data): No comparative national data are available in Modern Languages Education. (Per UW’s Office of Institutional Analysis.)

Part II - Recommendations

Instructions: After the review is completed, the Dean in consultation with the Department Head will select one of the following recommendations. In the justification, address each of the items associated with the recommendation.

5) Terminate

a. A college may request that a program be terminated due to limited graduate production, lack of student interest, shifts in a given field of study, or continued declines in major enrollments.

b. If the exigency for termination results from the program productivity review process, then a brief justification to terminate a program should be included. Such a justification must include:
   i. Explanation for the decline in graduate production in the degree program; The Modern Languages Education Program has struggled for many years to enroll students inasmuch as jobs for graduates in small Wyoming high schools are relatively scarce.
   ii. Intended timeframe for submitting a program termination request to the Board of Trustees for their consideration; Given the potential elimination of the program due to low enrollments and degree productivity, the only Modern Language Education program faculty member supporting this program is submitting his resignation. Without a faculty member to support this program in secondary education, the recommendations to terminate the program seems reasonable at this time.
  iii. Expected timeline to meet teach-out requirements established through the regional accrediting body. Currently the Modern Language Education program enrolled student numbers are:

    German Education Secondary Education (GESE)
    1 Senior (Fall 16 transfer student enrolled in 2000 level German classes)

    French Education (FRSE)
    1 Junior

    Spanish Education (SPSE)
    3 Sophomores,
    2 Juniors,
    7 Seniors, and
    2 Post baccalaureate students

Given these enrollment numbers, we anticipate 2 additional years of methods courses (EDSE 3276/4276) and residency courses (EDSE 4500) will be required to complete the students’ already in the program.

c. The Secondary Education Department and College of Education will work with the Department of Modern and Classical Languages to investigate the possibility of the MCL faculty teaching and developing the course work needed to support an option for their students to become 6th-12th grade language educators.
APPENDIX A

“Low Productivity” Programs Excluded from Review Process

1) Major Program Modifications
   a) Degree programs that have undergone recent program modifications that adversely impact graduate production for a college.
   b) Modifications traditionally include programs that have undergone recent name changes during the reporting window that result in two equivalent degree programs.

2) Program/Major Specializations
   a) Degree programs that have one or more specializations which reduce the total number of graduates.
   b) The exclusion may apply only for those specializations where the combination results in graduate production that meets the establish threshold for the degree.

3) Terminated Programs
   a) Degree programs that have been inactivated during the reporting period, but still depict graduates that fall below the established thresholds.
   b) Terminated programs will remain on the Program Productivity Report until inactive programs have completely cycled through the established reporting period.

4) New Programs
   a) Degree programs that have been activated within the past 7 years resulting in limited graduate production due to program implementation.
   b) Institutional review may be requested prior to the 7th year if graduate production is not scaling to the required thresholds for the degree level.
