How to Find a Job

Job searching is time-consuming and can be overwhelming! Sometimes it is difficult to even get started when the possibilities are so numerous. Be enthusiastic, self-confident, and persevering. You got it!

1. Break it into small, achievable goals. Dedicate a couple of hours a week to your job search and identify your timetable. This keeps you on track and working toward your goal. Try to be realistic about the amount of time you are willing to commit to finding a job.

2. Try narrowing down your possibilities by answering the following questions honestly:

   WHO? Who do you want to work for? Who do you know? Who are the other people you need to consider in your decisions?

   WHAT? What size of employer appeals to you? What type of employer would you enjoy? What type of job? In what capacity do you want to work? If you don't know where to start, try beginning with who you WON'T work for.

   WHY? Why would you take the job — future career goals, compatible work environment, opportunity for advancement, or more responsibility?

   WHERE? Where do you want to live? Where do you want to start? Where do you want to go?

   HOW? How will you start to look for a job? How will you identify potential employers? How will you evaluate opportunities and offers?

3. Write your resume and a sample cover letter.

4. Network! Network! Network! Let everyone you can think of know that you are starting this process. Ask them to keep a lookout for potential opportunities or contacts. Circulate copies of your resume.

5. Identify potential opportunities. Research interesting employers. Start with an appointment at Career Services and use your online tools (www.uwyo.edu/aces/career-services/), including EPIC.

6. Start applying to targeted employers. School breaks are excellent times to visit a targeted city to meet with potential employers.

7. Follow up! Keep track of your job search and keep going! Remember to send thank-you notes.

8. Finally.......You are hired! Way to go!

Networking

70%-80% of jobs ARE NOT advertised on job boards or websites!

What is Networking?
Simply put, it is developing and maintaining relationships.

You’ve already done it!
• Talking to your fellow classmates
• Attending a student meeting
• Asking a professional in your field for advice about how to get your foot in the door

1. Elevator Speech. Prepare a few sentences to pitch yourself to people you meet. Complete the “elevator speech” milestone in EPIC.

2. Be Nice. Get involved in interesting activities, form lasting and mutual relationships, and offer assistance and support to others.

3. Be Enthusiastic and Positive in Communications. Take the initiative; you never know where the person working with you on your class project will be working two years from now.

4. Tell EVERYONE You are Looking for a Job. Start with people you know – family, friends, doctors, hairstylists, professors, alumni, anyone you come in contact with – and tell them what you want to do and why (your elevator speech).

5. Informational Interviewing. Ask for advice and insight from a professional. Explain you are a student, and they were recommended as someone who has a lot of experience and expertise about the field. People are very open when they are treated like an expert. Don’t call and ask “Do you have any jobs?” Learn more about UW Cowboy2Cowboy informational interviewing in EPIC.

6. Talk with Professors. They have interacted with thousands of students who are now out there working for companies. What are their careers?

7. Join LinkedIn. Start making connections. Complete the LinkedIn milestones in EPIC.

8. Follow up. You’ve made a contact; be sure to maintain it. Get their business card. Before you leave the meeting, ask if they mind staying in touch with you. Smart job seekers know to maintain contacts with people in their field at all times, not just when they are looking for a letter of recommendation, internship, or job.

9. Say Thank You! Don’t take people for granted. Let them know you appreciate their time, help, and expertise. ALWAYS send thank-you notes.
Networking Communications

Use email, mail a letter, or post a LinkedIn message as an opportunity to express interest in a specific organization and to market yourself.

- State who you are, how you found them, and what you are asking for.
- Ask for a specific amount of time (20-30 minutes) to discuss your career path and seek their advice.
- Inquire about possible job opportunities
- Don’t ask for a job if requesting an informational interview.

Inquiry By Email (Requesting an informational interview)

Dear Ms. Smith:

As a junior majoring in psychology at the University of Wyoming, I am interested in a career path in human resources. I received your information from the UW Alumni Association, and I’m hoping to speak with you regarding your background and career path, as well as any advice you have for someone in my position. Would you be able to set aside time for a brief informational meeting or telephone call? My resume is attached. I look forward to hearing back from you soon!

Joe Cowboy

Linkedin Connection Request

Mr. Jones:

I enjoyed meeting you at the ASME’s Careers in Mechanical Engineering Panel yesterday and appreciate your willingness to connect on LinkedIn.

Regards,

Joe Cowboy

Career Fair Follow-Up Message

Hello Ms. Sanders:

Thank you again for your time at the UW Career Fair yesterday – I really enjoyed learning more about the Communication Associate role at XYZ Wyoming, especially the opportunity it provides to rotate through your various business units. I know that my marketing experience, which we discussed at the career fair, would apply well to your company, and I am excited to learn more about the internships you are offering. In addition to applying through your online application portal, I have attached my resume for your convenience. I look forward to further discussing my qualifications with you in an interview.

Thank you for your consideration and your time,

Joe Cowboy

Licensed Pharmacy Intern (P)(I), Wyoming (#1111) and Colorado (#9999)
Resume Checklist

Resumes are focused professional and academic life summaries. Resumes are subjective, there is no perfect format and different styles appeal to different types of employers.

- Error Free (no inconsistencies, spelling, or grammar mistakes; all could instantly disqualify you)
- One Page (unless you have extensive relevant experience)
- Easy to Read (with clear font choices)
- Prominent Name & Contact Info (up-to-date and easy to find)
- Clear & Organized Content (order each section and list content from most to least relevant)
- Reverse Chronological Order (most recent first)
- Consistent Tenses (present tense for current position and past tense for older positions)
- Use Bullet Points (highlight skills, abilities, competencies, and relevant duties)
- Consistent Margins (can be adjusted to save space, but keep even)

Many employers spend 10 seconds reviewing your resume. Make your best qualities easy to find.

Employer Pet Peeves:

- No Personal Information. Don’t include photos, marital status, age, weight, religion, etc., to avoid potential discrimination issues.
- No Templates. A unique resume will set you apart from the competition.
- No Jargon, Acronyms, or Abbreviations. The person reviewing may be unfamiliar with some terms.
- No “References available upon request.” Have a separate page of references.

Your resume is an advertisement. Employers are the target and you are the product. Have your resume reviewed!

Additional Application Materials

WRITING SAMPLE
- Can be a past report or class writing assignment.
- Should be no more than two to three pages while expressing a complete thought.
- Do not submit with grading or comments.
- Choose a relevant topic when possible.
- If you do not currently have a relevant writing sample, consider writing a synopsis of a recent article relevant to your industry.
- Include prompt when provided one.

UNOFFICIAL TRANSCRIPT
- You can view and print your unofficial transcript or order official transcripts from WyoWeb.
- If you need to send electronically, you will either print and scan or snip each page and paste into a word document.

INDUSTRY SPECIFIC
- Some industries may require or suggest additional documents, such as online or printed portfolios for creative industries or a statement of teaching philosophy in education. Check with industry professionals or a career consultant to determine your industry’s expectations.

APPLICATIONS BY EMAIL
- Always include a brief note in the body of the email stating what you’re applying for, what materials you have attached, and how to contact you.
- An email can also be a good opportunity to reiterate your excitement for the position.

APPLICATION FILE NAMES & SAVING DOCUMENTS
- Employers receive dozens of cover letters and resumes a day. Saving your documents with clear and appropriate file names will ensure your materials don’t get lost. Example: JoeCowboyResume.pdf or JoeCowboyCoverLetter.pdf.
- Saving as a PDF prevents your formatting from getting jumbled.
- Some online application systems cannot process PDFs, so always follow specific system instructions.
References

- Employers generally ask for three to four professional references.
- Ask each contact if they will serve as a strong positive reference for you.
- Have a reference page that is separate from your resume.
- Choose past/current supervisors (internship, summer job, or volunteer experience), professors, and colleagues.
- List your references in order of relevance and priority.
- Let references know you are job searching and that they may be contacted; provide them with your resume and a job description.
- Ask if your reference will share a recommendation on your LinkedIn profile.

Curriculum Vitae/CV

Vita: A comprehensive biographical statement (generally three or more pages) and is identified with its extensive use of headings.

A Vita or a Resume? How do I choose? A vita, or CV, is typically used in academia, primarily for people with graduate and professional degrees, research, and consulting areas. Regardless, you need to make sure your most relevant qualifications appear on the first two pages.

Getting Started: As with resumes, there are widely divergent opinions about what is necessary and desirable. Consider all suggestions carefully and incorporate only those that make sense to you. Organize with the most relevant and powerful heading first, next powerful second, and so forth.

Identifying Information: List your name, phone number, address, and email at the top of your vita. It used to be common practice that you included marital status, and children, (even height and weight!), such information is absolutely inappropriate.

Summary of Educational Background: List all your degrees in reverse chronological order. Begin with your bolded degree abbreviation (Ph.D.) and discipline, date you received or plan to receive it, university/college name, city, and state. Include your dissertation and thesis titles. You can include GPA, minors, or area of concentration.

Summary of Relevant Work Experience: This section can be broken down into several subcategories (Teaching Experience, Grants, Research Activities, Professional Experience, Courses Taught, Service, Advising, Work History, etc.). Again, your decision will be based on your experience and the position. Bold the position title. List organization name, city, state, and dates of employment. List all information in reverse chronological order. Describe responsibilities with action verbs.

Recent and Current Research: For most academic positions, this is the crux of your vita. Describe research projects recently conducted or in progress: type of research, purpose, grants, funding, etc.

Granting Agency, “Title of Grant,” $Grant Value, Year

Papers and Poster Sessions Presented at Conferences: Use categories such as workshops, presentation by competition, and presentation by invitation. List these in reverse chronological order (most recent comes first).

Last name, First initial., other authors. (Year, Month). Paper/Presentation Title. Name of Conference, City, State. Dates.
Publications: List all professional publications using the bibliographic style prescribed for your discipline. However, bold your name to make it easy for the reader to find. Include published work and pending publications.

Last name, First initial., other authors. (Year). Title. Journal, Volume (Issue), page numbers.

Pending Publications:

Last name, First initial., other authors. (Year to be produced). Title. Manuscript submitted for publication.

Professional Memberships: List these in alphabetical order.

Leadership/Professional Service: Bold your position title, name of the organization, and give dates. (Remember to include membership on major committees, task forces, boards, elected offices, etc.)

Special Awards and Honors: This can be divided into subcategories, or you may want to decide to include these activities under relevant work experience. You should include scholarships, fellowships, teaching or research awards, competitive assistantships, etc.

Final Tips:
• Be consistent
• Don’t use double entries
• Don’t mix chronological orders
• The job description is your road map!

Heading Examples:
• Abstracts
• Appointments
• Academic Service
• Academic Training
• Administration

Cover Letter Basics

A cover letter introduces the resume and is your chance to pitch yourself. It proves that you can do the job and shows enthusiasm for the organization. Cover letters are sometimes more important than resumes.

The easiest way to approach your letter is to think of yourself responding to two common interview questions:

1. Why do you want to work here, specifically?

   Research the company, show them that you are interested in what they do and explain why you decided to apply for the job.

2. Why should we hire you, specifically?

   Keep it brief and explain the reasons why you are qualified for the position. Look at the job description and show that you have the qualifications they are asking for in an employee. Make the connections for the reader!

Cover Letter Pet Peeves:

- Resume Duplication. The employer already has your resume. There is no need to write out all your qualifications again.

- Reading a Novel. Long blocks of text with irrelevant information will certainly be skipped over.

- Generic Letters. Research the position and the company, then tailor your cover letter to the job announcement. The lack of specific references to the job and company will indicate to the employer that you were too lazy or uninterested to perform basic research on the company. Reference specific items from the job description. Many job seekers will not spend the time to develop a complete cover letter for each job, or even worse, they will neglect to include one.

- Unnecessary Sentences. Get to the point while remembering that employers read dozens, if not hundreds or thousands, of cover letters per position.

Most entry-level applicants have similar qualifications. The cover letter is your chance to stand out from the crowd.

Mr. John Smith
Human Resources Manager
Design My Home
1 Beacon Street
Denver, CO 02116

Dear Mr. Smith:

Having experience as a copywriting intern and enthusiasm for interior design, I am excited to apply for the Junior Copywriter position with Design My Home. After speaking with Sarah Brown at the University of Wyoming information session about copywriting opportunities in your Boston office, I knew Design My Home would be the perfect company for me. Design My Home’s creative approach to promoting contemporary décor connects with my personal passion for interior design. My interest in home design in addition to my creative writing, editing, and communication skills make me a strong candidate for this position.

As a copywriting intern I gained direct experience writing, proofreading, and editing copy. One of my largest projects at Publishers Clearing House was to communicate with my fellow interns to research and construct a potential marketing proposal. Our team worked together to design innovative online marketing materials using Adobe Photoshop for our new e-reader product to be implemented through our social media sites. I created copy content to complement the design work of my fellow interns. After proposing our ideas to the senior copywriters and marketing managers, our design was selected to be incorporated into the new social media campaign. I look forward to applying my communication and teamwork skills to the Junior Copywriter position at Design My Home.

While working for UW’s campus newspaper, I was promoted from Staff Writer to Assistant Editor. As Assistant Editor it was vital I managed production deadlines to ensure our paper was published on time and without errors. Working for an independent, student-run paper increases my appreciation for Design My Home’s history as a startup company.

I look forward to discussing how I could apply my skills and experience to the Junior Copywriter position. Please contact me with any questions at 307-555-5555 or JCowboy@gmail.com. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Joe Cowboy
Many companies use applicant tracking systems (ATS) to manage job applications. These systems analyze extracted information for criteria relevant to the position and assigns each candidate a ranking compared to other applicants. The higher the resume ranking, the more likely the application will end up being reviewed by a human reader.

☑ Include job title on the resume
☐ Include a few, clearly defined sections and use ALL CAPS (make it easy for the applicant tracking system to find and categorize the information)
☐ Incorporate relevant, targeted keywords and phrases for the type of position being sought (“Photoshop” instead of “image-editing software”)
☐ Check your email after applying online. (Some applicant tracking systems acknowledge submissions, but these automated responses may be diverted to your spam folder)

ATS Pet Peeves:

- Submitting multiple resumes to the same company. Applicant tracking systems keep previous submissions. You can apply to multiple, related positions, but make sure the resume information is consistent, because the hiring manager will have access to the other versions too.

- Don’t include skills you don’t possess as an attempt to “trick” the applicant tracking system into selecting you. (Remember, the resume will eventually be reviewed by a human.) A unique resume will set you apart from the competition.

- Complex formatting can confuse ATS, because the ATS can’t “read” it. Tables, multiple columns, text boxes, fancy templates, borders, or shading condensed or expanded text extra spaces between letters.

- Images or graphics. Inclusion of any graphics may be enough to “choke” some applicant tracking systems.
Special Circumstances

You know yourself better than anyone else. Think about which things might affect you when you get into the workforce. We have suggestions for a few circumstance, but you may need extra help before you graduate and find a job. Keep in mind that companies are required to abide by Equal Opportunity Guidelines (EOG); a visit to career services about your unique situation is always encouraged though

Disabilities
It is a personal decision to disclose information about your disability to an employer. It can explain to your employer about gaps in your background, but can create fear about prejudice. Utilize the services at UW (like UDSS) before you graduate; you will have to self-advocate after graduation. Remember you have legal protections through the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA):
• Protects you from discrimination.
• Requires employers to provide reasonable accommodation to perform positions essential job functions.
• Protection from retaliation and confidentiality.

GLBTQ
Entering the workforce as a GLBTQ individual can be an intimidating experience, and uncertainty about your unique challenges can create anxiety. Currently, 20 states have nondiscrimination laws for your protection. Coming out is a personal decision and you need to spend time thinking about what kind of workplace will make you feel comfortable. There is no right answer.
• Research employers you are interested in; many may actually indicate that they are GLBTQ supportive.
• Utilize UW resources (like the rainbow room) while you are in school and have allies. If you have career questions about how your sexual orientation may affect your job search make an appointment with career services.

Veterans
Employers appreciate that veterans are hard workers and dependable employees. Transitioning from the military to civilian life and explaining your skills developed during your service can be difficult.
• Highlight your skills: patience, perseverance, teamwork.
• Many employers provide veterans’ preference status (including USAJOBS.gov).

Utilize UW services and communities before you graduate!
Before the Fair:
• Complete EPIC Career Fair milestones. (https://epicwyo.tuapath.com)
• Check the Handshake database to see what employers will be in attendance and which are conducting interviews.
• Research the employers (what they do, their products, recent successes/challenges, history, values, work culture, and future plans).
• Practice your elevator speech.
• Attend preparatory events hosted by Career Services.

During the Fair:
• Be confident, act professionally, and be enthusiastic when talking with employers.
• Ask several questions about potential opportunities.
• Jot down notes after each interaction; it is very difficult to remember specifics later.

After the Fair:
• Organize all the material and notes into a notebook or file.
• Send a follow-up email or note to any company recruiters you spoke to and thank them for their time and information.
• Select and pursue companies that appealed to you.
• Check Handshake to see which employers are conducting interviews in the future.

Make the Career Fair work for you
Career Event Checklist

Preparation for career events is critical. Take advantage by attending as many relevant events as possible.

✅ Create a Handshake profile and find event specifics: register for events, time, and location.

☐ Add reminders to your calendar so you don’t forget.

☐ Ask for time off so that you can attend the entire event.

☐ Prepare your resume. Get it reviewed by Career Services staff.

☐ Print multiple copies of your resume.

☐ Develop specific questions for each company to show you have an interest in them and have taken time to research their company.

Plan your professional attire. Clothes are clean, well fitting, and wrinkle-free; shoes shined, jewelry and fragrances are kept to a minimum, hair/nails/facial hair trimmed and professional, freshen breath, use deodorant.

☐ Consider using a professional portfolio or folder to hold your resume. Include a pen and some paper for notes.

☐ Collect employers’ business cards for communicating afterwards.

☐ Connect on LinkedIn with employers who you talked to at the event and send them a personalized invitation to connect.

While the experience may seem overwhelming, remember company representatives are there to specifically learn about you.
Dear Mr. Doe:

It was a pleasure to meet you this morning. Thank you for your willingness to interview me for the Communications Associate job at Aspen Laboratories. Your team really seems to enjoy working there, and I’d be fortunate to count myself among them.

I was particularly interested in the upcoming projects you mentioned this afternoon and believe my internship at the UW’s Communications Office – especially with social media – provided me with a solid foundation to help spread the word about the good work going on at Aspen Laboratories.

Please let me know if you require any additional information. I hope to hear back from you soon about the next steps.

Respectfully,

Joe Cowboy

Dress for Success

Men

- A two-piece matched suit and tie is always the best and safest choice. Navy and dark gray are safe bets — avoid extreme colors or patterns.

- Ties should be good quality (e.g., silk), with subtle patterns and conservative colors. Nothing too bright, no loud patterns, and no characters (e.g., Mickey Mouse).

- Shoes should be leather, lace-up, or slip-on business shoes, preferably black or cordovan in color. Invest in a good pair — you’ll use them again! Socks should be dark, mid-calf length and match the color of pants.

- A conservative watch is okay for jewelry. Keep jewelry choices simple and lean toward conservative. Removing earrings is a safe bet for men.

- Facial hair, if worn, should be well-groomed and conservative.

Women

- Nothing says professional like a conservative suit. Something in a neutral color (navy, black, or gray) with trousers or a knee-length straight skirt. Pair with a white or off-white cotton blouse. No cleavage, and no mini skirts.

- A dress can be professional if paired with a fitted suit jacket (no denim). Dresses should be knee-length and fairly conservative in color and print.

- Wear tasteful jewelry — too much jewelry, or jewelry with too much flare, could be distracting. Stick to small studs (no dangling) earrings. Take out any additional piercings (nose, etc.).

- Shoes should be closed-toe and neutral in color (black, brown, navy). Flats or two-to-three inch heels are appropriate.

- Style long hair in a way that is not distracting — pulled back or pinned up and secured in place is a good bet. Short hair should be styled neatly.

Why care about how you look?

Looking professional for an interview not only boosts your confidence, it shows the employer how much you really want the job.
Ace an Interview

Good News! If you’ve been asked to interview, your resume and cover letter worked, and more importantly, the employer thinks you are qualified. Now, confidently impress them with these tips:

- Know the Employer. Show how much you want the job by looking over their website, looking at news about them, or interviewing someone who already works there. Be sure to review their mission and values statements.
- Know the Job. Read the description and highlight your skills and how they qualify you for the position.
- Practice! Career Services provides free interview prep. Even going over sample questions can make the difference.
- Be on Time. But, not too early.
- Turn Off Your Cell Phone. Not to vibrate.
- Look Sharp. This will make you feel more confident and professional.
- Enthusiasm and Confidence. If you are not excited and sure you can do the job, why would the employer hire you?
- Know Your “Pitch.” You are the salesman and the product in an interview. Be clear and specific about what you can offer them. Use examples to highlight your qualifications.
- Be Positive. Make sure you highlight each answer, even ones about past failures, with how you made a positive impact or, at least, what you learned from your mistake.
- Don’t Lie! Even a little embellishment could come back to hurt you in the future.
- Bring Your Own Questions. Show that you are thoroughly interested in learning more about the organization.
- Conclusion. End on a good note. Thank them for their time and reiterate again that you are very interested in the position. Know what the next steps are for the hiring process.
- Follow Up. Make sure that you have the correct information for everyone that interviewed you. Send them a thank-you note so they can see your interest.

Your interview is an opportunity to determine if there is a fit between your skills and the position the company is seeking to fill. If your answers aren’t what the interviewer is looking for, this position may not be the job for you anyway.
Instead of asking how you would behave, they will ask how you did behave. The interviewer will want to know how you handled a situation as a predictor of what you might do in the future.

In a traditional interview you are asked questions such as “What are your strengths and weaknesses?” or “Why should I hire you?” Answers to these questions typically are more straight-forward and general, rather than based upon your specific actions.

Be ready to describe the situation, your tasks in it, your action, and the result or outcome by remembering the acronym STAR:

Situation ★ Task ★ Action ★ Result

Ways to prepare for a behavioral based interview:
- Tell a Story. Recall recent situations that reflect favorable behaviors or actions, especially involving course work, work experience, leadership, teamwork, initiative, planning, and customer service.
- Paint a Complete Picture. Be sure each story has a beginning, a middle, and an end. Be sure the result or outcome reflects positively on you (even if the result itself was not favorable).
- Be Honest. Don’t embellish or omit any part of the story.
- Be Specific. Don’t generalize about several events; give a detailed account and discuss your specific role within one event.
- Prepare. Write your stories down so you remember the details you want to highlight.

Examples of behavioral based questions include:
- Give an example of an occasion when you used logic to solve a problem.
- Tell me about a course, work experience, or extracurricular activity where you had to work closely with others. How did it go? How did you overcome any differences?
- Tell me about a time when your supervisor criticized your work. How did you respond?

Keep in mind there aren’t right or wrong answers.
Answer Common Tough Questions

1. Tell me about yourself. It is okay to provide a little background on your life but they don’t need a complete biography. Try to focus your answer and end with what drew you to the company and position.

2. What are your strengths/weaknesses?

   STRENGTH — Focus on strengths that you have objectively demonstrated in previous experiences. WEAKNESS — When talking about weaknesses, employers hate cliché answers like, “I just care too much,” or “I work too hard.” You are not expected to reveal your deepest secret! Instead, talk about a real weakness that you have taken concrete steps to work on such as, “I struggled with organization so I have a planner, and I have seen positive improvement as I work on this weakness.”

3. Where do you see yourself in 5-10 years? The employer is trying to determine if you are someone who could stay with the organization. Be honest, but try to avoid talking about how you want to move in six months, plans to run away to the circus, or thoughts about graduate school. Talk about what you like about the future career path or how the company mission and values are a good match for you. At the very least, talk about the type of work environment you’d like to work in or your leadership aspirations.

4. Why did you leave your last position? Remember your mom’s rule: “If you don’t have anything nice to say....” Bad mouthing a former boss or company will not endear you to the interviewer. If you cannot think of a good reason, simply say that you are looking for a new challenge or opportunity.

5. What color/animal/superhero would you be and why? Strange questions like these may pop up in an interview and throw you off. Remember that there is no wrong answer in this situation. The employer wants to see how you think under pressure and how creative you are. Take a deep breath and feel free to be imaginative and funny if appropriate.

6. Why should we hire you? This is your chance to make your final pitch. Limit your answer to your top reasons. Number them if you have a tendency to ramble: “The three main reasons you should hire me are....” Typical reasons for entry level jobs are that you have the education, experience, and passion to fit in well in the work environment.

Dining Etiquette

A potential employer may invite you to dine. Even if this seems informal, you should still be on your best behavior.

Basic Manners

- Turn off your cell phone before sitting at the dining table.
- Be aware of how you are presenting yourself. Sit up straight and smile.
- Refrain from ordering alcoholic drinks (especially if under 21 yrs old!).
- Wait until everybody is served before you begin eating.
- Be polite to the server.
- Follow your host’s lead on what type and price of food you should order.
- Flatware is to be used from the outside working in toward the plate.
- Dinner rolls should be torn one piece at a time, buttered, and eaten.
- Cut one bite of food (meat, fruit, veg) at a time; keep fork prongs pointed down, not up unless eating corn or peas.
- Don’t blow your nose at the table or in your napkin.
- Flatware goes on your plate, turned down, and your napkin goes on the table by your plate when your dining is complete.

Do:
- Discuss the host. Show genuine interest in their life and career. Find similarities and common interests.
- Be knowledgeable. Stay up to date on the news, especially issues related to their industry.
- Prepare. It won’t hurt to have some topics in your mind ahead of time.

Don’t:
- Discuss taboos. This includes personal relationships, recent parties, politics, and religion.
- Monopolize the conversation.
- Rudely disagree with them. Be polite no matter what topics the employer brings up.
Phone & Online Interviewing Tips

Phone or online (usually Skype or Zoom) interviews are very common and are used primarily as the method of choice for the initial interview, primarily if you are in a different location. They can be difficult because you will have less, or no, nonverbal feedback.

• Check (and double check) your equipment. You do not want to lose the job because of technical difficulties or reception problems.

• Your environment is key. Make sure there are no distractions around you and that you are comfortable. Students can schedule a room for interviews with ACES for no charge. Check what is on the wall behind you or any space visible in your camera.

• Have job-related materials in front of you. Resume, cover letter, job description, company info, etc. You can bring a “cheat sheet” if necessary, containing anything that could help prompt you on relevant interview questions.

• Take notes. Write down relevant information or potential questions for the employer. Also, make sure you get the names of everyone who interviews you for follow up and thank-you notes.

• Match the interviewer’s speaking rate and pitch. Remember to stay within your personality range, but venture toward that portion of your range which most closely matches that of your interviewer. This is an excellent way to establish rapport quickly over distance.

• Have a mirror within view, and smile. You will improve your telephone presence 110 percent just by using this simple technique. You will find yourself coming across much friendlier, more interested, and more alert. If you are self-conscious about seeing yourself in the mirror, you can use the mirror as an occasional checkpoint. But for most people, seeing oneself reflected back gives the kind of feedback necessary to make instant modification toward a positive presence.

• Don’t be thrown off by long pauses or silence after you answer a question. The interviewers are probably just writing down your answer.
After the Interview

Usually it is a good idea to follow up after an interview if you are sincerely interested and believe the interviewer showed interest in you.

1. Send a thank-you letter immediately after the interview.
   • Thank you notes can be hand-written or emailed (See page 32).
   • It is okay to send a thank you by email, particularly if that is how you have previously communicated with the interviewer.
   • Include your thanks for the interview, reiterate your interest in the job, enthusiasm for the company, qualifications and skills, and a final thank you.

2. Follow-up again. If you have not heard back from the employer in their proposed time frame, wait a few weeks then write a brief letter reminding the interviewer of your meeting, express your appreciation for it, and tell him/her again of your interest. In some cases, it may be wise to write a second letter or email about a month later if you do not receive a response to your first letter. Persist.

3. If the interviewer tells you to take a specific action at a later date (i.e., submit an application), telephone or write only after you have done those things.

4. If you receive a job offer, notify that employer of your decision as soon as possible.

5. Ask for an extension if they want a decision by a certain date and you need more time to visit other organizations before deciding. If you would like to discuss your options, please contact Career Services to make an appointment.

Job Acceptance Ethics

When an offer is accepted, you should have every intention of honoring that commitment. Accepting an offer only as a precautionary measure is misleading to the employer. Students should recognize that the acceptance of a job offer may be a legally binding contract and that the employer may have the option to take legal action against the person who accepts more than one offer.

In addition, Career Services may withhold further services to the student, including participating in on-campus interviewing.

Please notify Career Services when you accept employment.

Sexual Harassment

As a University of Wyoming student, you are protected by University Regulations 1-5 and 1-44. These prohibit sexual harassment and/or misconduct. If you feel you have been the victim of these behaviors while on an internship/practicum/student teaching/research experience, please immediately contact the office of Diversity and Employment Practices at 307-766-3459 or diversity-epo@uwyo.edu.
This can be an uncomfortable but necessary conversation with a potential employer. While some job compensation packages are set in stone, many aspects of job acceptance are negotiable.

Salary
Don’t just pick a number that sounds good! Do extensive research on what is normally expected for your field (see links below).
- Industry standards for salaries
- Regional variations
- Cost of living adjustments
- State income tax

Benefits
Remember that salary is not the only important aspect to the negotiation.
- Health insurance
- Retirement packages
- Student loan repayment
- Vacation & sick days
- Relocation coverage
- Performance bonuses

Not all jobs are equal
Check the cost of living in 30 countries and over 50 USA metropolitan areas.

Perks
Perks with no monetary value can have a big impact on your quality of life and job satisfaction.
- Company car
- Business travel
- Professional development
- Office size
- Company gym
- Childcare services

After becoming well informed, confidently make your case for the kind of employment package you would like. Make sure that you justify your terms and remind your employer about the skills you are bringing to their company. If you feel their offer is completely unreasonable, be prepared to respectfully decline employment.
