DR. COLLEEN CARMEAN

Founder and President of Ethical Analytics Group
University of Washington Tacoma

Nudging Students to Success

Colleen is the founder of the Ethical Analytics Group, a consortium supporting education in moving to evidence in practices, decisions and innovations in student success. She is an advocate and strategist for analytics, e-learning, and new pedagogies. Her research is in emerging learning technologies and focuses on systems that bring together discovery, engagement, the user experience (UX), and assessment. Current projects include helping prepare two state of Washington school districts for the re-opening (and possible closing) of school in Fall 2020.
