Buchanan Center for Performing Arts

The Buchanan Center for the Performing Arts boasts some of the best-equipped and finest small theatres in the Rocky Mountain region, including a 375-seat proscenium theatre, a 140-seat experimental black box theatre, and a new, thrust-style theatre. It also contains two state-of-the-art dance studios, full support facilities for scenic and costume construction, and a fully equipped Acting-for-the-Camera Studio. Recent renovations have also included additional performance and design/tech teaching laboratories, as well as enhanced production support facilities.

Cheney International Center

The Cheney International Center houses the Department of Global and Area Studies, the International Programs Office, English Language Center for foreign students, and the International Students and Scholars Office. UW Study Abroad offers more than $200,000 in annually awarded scholarships, with 70 exchange partners and 140 locations available. College of Business

Opened in 2011, the College of Business building provides state-of-the-art technology and classroom space, including a multimedia lab, experimental/behavioral lab and stock trading room. With a total area of 165,000 square feet, the building was the first state-funded building to reach LEED Gold Certification. In addition to the fantastic facilities, the College of Business is one of only approximately 400 business schools in North America (out of more than 1,300 business schools) accredited by AACSB International. AACSB International's accreditation assures quality and promotes excellence and continuous improvement in undergraduate and graduate education for business administration. Please note that this tour is limited to 30 people.

Enzi STEM Building

The Enzi STEM Building is a three-story, 107,000-square foot facility -- located on the northwest corner of campus — home to most freshman- and sophomore-level science lab courses. The facility -- which includes more than 30 labs (including computational science and mathematics labs), small active-learning classrooms and storage and set-up space for lab equipment — houses physics on the first floor; life sciences on the second; and chemistry on the third, with computational sciences scattered throughout. The building is named after longtime U.S. Senator Mike Enzi. Enzi is credited with securing Abandoned Mine Lands funds to construct the $50 million building. Please note that this tour is limited to 20 people.

Half Acre Recreation Center

The renovation and expansion of the historic Half Acre Gym was completed in November 2015. A few of the project's exciting improvements include: a significant increase in cardiovascular exercise and weight training areas; a Wellness Center integrating many aspects of holistic wellness; updated and expanded group fitness rooms including a dedicated "spinning" cycling room; new locker rooms; a new heated spa in the pool area; a Multi-Activity Court (MAC) gym for indoor sport opportunities; a modern classroom used for academic classes; and an expansive indoor climbing area including a large pinnacle wall along with separate bouldering and top-rope teaching areas.
