

Need a fun way to make your resume stand out?

Travel with a group of UW students to FRANCE

Study Food, Culture and Agriculture

No French language skills necessary!

Many cultural and food-industry field trips!

Earn 4 upper-division credits!

June 1-June 30, 2017

The Experience

- Live in Angers, France for 4 weeks. Study at the university, Ecole Supérieure d'Agriculture (ESA).
- Enjoy field trips to famous destinations (Paris, Eiffel Tower, Louvre, Mt. St. Michel, WWII sites).
- Visit local agri-businesses to learn about their sustainable production and marketing practices.
- Explore Sustainable Food Systems: agroecology, niche marketing, food & wine production.
- Discover how culture, history, science, and public perception affect France's food system.
- English is the language of instruction, but you will be able to learn some conversational French.
- Enroll in AGEC 4890: Special Topics: Study Abroad Preparation (required) Spring Semester (1 cr)
- Enroll in AGEC 4280 (required) Summer, 2017 to earn 3 upper-division UW credits.
- Students can stay an extra month to complete an optional French farm internship for 3 addl creds.

Lodging and Meals

- Students live near the University with host families who speak more than adequate English.
- All meals included: most lunches at university cafeteria; other meals with your host family.

All-Inclusive Cost: Undergrad Resident ~$5,600; Undergrad Non-Res ~$6,700.

Study-abroad scholarships available to help reduce your costs!

Contact Tom Foulke at: foulke@uwyo.edu or stop by room 220 Ag C for more info