Introduction

The American Heritage Center (AHC) is the University of Wyoming's (UW) repository for historical manuscripts, rare books, and university archives. Internationally known for its historical collections, the AHC first and foremost serves the students and citizens of Wyoming. The AHC sponsors a wide range of scholarly and popular programs including lectures, symposia, and exhibits. A place where both experts and novices engage with the original sources of history, access to the AHC is free and open to all.

Collections at the AHC go beyond both the borders of Wyoming and the region, and support a wide range of research and teachings activities in the humanities, sciences, arts, business, and education. Major areas of collecting include Wyoming and the American West, the mining and petroleum industries, environment and natural resources, journalism, military history, transportation, the history of books, and 20th century entertainment such as popular music, radio, television, and film. The total archival holdings of the AHC are roughly 75,000 cubic feet (the equivalent of 18 miles) of material. The Toppan Rare Books Library holds more than 60,000 items from medieval illuminated manuscripts to the 21st century. Subject strengths include the American West, British and American literature, early exploration of North America, religion, hunting and fishing, natural history, women authors, and the book arts.

Organization of the Guide

Entries are arranged alphabetically and include the title, dates, collection number, collection size, and a brief description of the collection's creator and contents. Many of these collections have more in-depth finding aids available online through the Rocky Mountain Online Archive (<http://rmoa.unm.edu>). Catalog records for all collections may be found at <http://uwcatalog.uwyo.edu> (for best results, limit search scope to "American Heritage Center").

Visitor and Contact Information

Current contact information and visitor information including location and hours of operation for the AHC Reading Room and the Toppan Rare Books Library can be found at <http://www.uwyo.edu/ahc>.

Allyn, Frank H.

Papers, 1846-1968.

3 cubic ft.

Acc. #5912

Frank H. Allyn was the first engineering graduate of the University of Wyoming, a draftsman in the U.S. Surveyor General's office in Cheyenne, an early homesteader of the Riverton Valley, and postmaster of Riverton, Wyoming, from 1907-1914. He retired from the Wyoming State Highway Department in 1949, having worked in its drafting office since 1920.

The collection contains primarily maps, many by Frank H. Allyn, including Wyoming highway maps (1930-1968), lands of the Union Pacific Railroad Co., road logs from the Laramie, Cheyenne and Rawlins areas (1920-1923), Shoshone and other Indian lands, school districts in Wyoming (1910), and maps of the Riverton and Fremont County area including the original plat of Riverton by F.H. Allyn (1906).

Also included are maps of oil fields and copies of historical maps such as the trail from Missouri to Oregon (1846), routes from Ft. Laramie to Great Salt Lake (1858), and Territory of Wyoming (1876). Some biographical and personal material is also included.

Ames, John Alfred

Papers, 1941-1969.

.9 cubic ft. (2 boxes)

Acc. #3136

John A. Ames, a geologist, worked for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, 1947-1956, Alpha Portland Cement Company (1956-1979), and began a private consulting practice in geology and mineral resources in 1979.

Collection includes manuscripts of Ames' thesis, "The Geology of the Dawson Butte Area, Castle Rock Quadrangle, Colorado," 1941; notes on the Dawson Butte area, 1947; 53 aerial photographs and 12 negatives; reports done for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad on salt and limestone; and miscellaneous other materials.

Andersen, Hans

Papers, 1930-1965.

1.35 cubic ft. (3 boxes) + 5 boxes of printed materials

Acc. #3058

Collection contains daily journals, photographs, and miscellaneous other materials of this pilot who worked for the Federal Aviation Administration from the 1930s until the 1960s.

Ault, Phillip H.

Papers, 1832-1976.
.9 cubic ft. (2 boxes)
Acc. #5878

The collection consists of research notes, photographs, and manuscripts from two young adult histories by Phillip Ault: Wires West, a history of the transcontinental telegraph, and All Aboard, a history of passenger trains.

Beggs, James Montgomery

Papers, 1981-1986.
9 cubic ft. (9 boxes) + 26 cubic ft. of printed materials
Acc. #9043

Beggs was administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration from 1981 to 1986.

Collection includes copies of printed transcripts of speeches, congressional testimony, memorandums, a small amount of correspondence, biographical information, materials related to NASA participation on the White House Science Council, copies of NASA newsletters, 5 videocassettes of congressional testimony and an interview, 1 audiotape of Earth sounds recorded from the Voyager spacecraft, photographs, posters and miscellaneous other materials related to Beggs' tenure as NASA administrator.

Bentele, Max

Papers, 1936-1993
4 cubic ft. (5 boxes)
Acc. #4567

Bentele (1909-) is a designer of turbojet aircraft and served as president of Mahle Company, which produced pistons for jet airplanes.

Collection contains the research notes for Bentele's autobiography "Engine Revolutions"; personal and subject files on aviation and sonic transpiration, including photographs and blueprints for aircraft; and miscellaneous other material.

Bergman, Jules

Papers, 1962-1982.
2 cubic ft. (2 boxes)
Acc. #8702

Jules Bergman (1929-1987), a broadcast journalist, joined ABC News as a news writer in 1953. He became ABC's science editor in 1961, a position he held until his death.

Collection includes photographs, research files and scripts of Bergman's broadcasts. Subjects are chiefly the NASA space program, medicine, and aeronautics.

Boesen, Victor

Papers, 1948-1976.
11 cubic ft. (11 boxes)
Acc. #8290

Research files and manuscripts from many of this author's works on aeronautics, weather control, and naval operations during World War II and inventor William P. Lear.

Bond, Hiram Gilbert

Papers, 1875-1906.
.45 cubic ft. (1 box)
Acc. #9954

Bond, a lawyer, broker, and entrepreneur, was originally from New York and moved to Denver in 1870. He was engaged in businesses all over the United States and Canada, including mining, railroads and banking. Bond owned and resided at a ranch near Denver. In 1874 he began investing in gold and silver mining in Colorado, then in 1883 moved to New Mexico and invested in a gold mine there. The mine failed and he returned to his Denver ranch. During the 1880s Bond started a company that made electric engines for locomotives, and also organized the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company of Birmingham, Alabama. He sold this company and moved to Seattle in 1891. In the 1890s Bond became involved in harvesting timber in Washington, and in gold mining at the Monte Cristo mines in Washington and, along with his son, Marshall Bond, at the Klondike in Canada during the 1897-1899 Alaskan gold rush.

Collection consists of Bond's diaries and memorandum books from the time period after he moved west, in which he recorded notes concerning his various business ventures.

Bonnalie, Allan Francis

Papers, 1902-1974.
31.27 cubic ft. (63 boxes) + artifacts
Acc. #5859

Allan Francis Bonnalie joined the U.S. Signal Corps in 1917 and served as a pilot with the British Royal Air Force during World War I. From 1922 to 1929 he was a mechanical engineer with Southern Pacific Railroad in San Francisco.

He joined United Air Lines in 1930 as a pilot and from 1945 to 1952 he was general manager of United of Mexico, Lineas Aereas Mexicanas, S.A. (LAMSA). LAMSA was sold by United in 1953 and Bonnalie was director of United's flight training program in Denver, Colorado, until his retirement in 1958. In 1961 and 1962 he made several trips overseas for the U.S. Foreign Operations Administration (FOA) on aviation matters.

Collection contains materials relating to Bonnalie's career in aeronautics from 1902-1974. The collection includes a log book (1931-1934); correspondence (1921-1973); miscellaneous maps and charts; eight scrapbooks (1912-1938); materials on Bonnalie's service in World War I (1918-1921); certificates and military orders; manuscripts of writings by Bonnalie; models of airplanes and other miscellaneous artifacts; and journals kept while traveling to Afghanistan, Bolivia and Yugoslavia for FOA (1961-1962).

The collection also includes photographs, slides and glass plate negatives of airplanes, Bonnalie, his work with Southern Pacific and a history of naval aviation (1902-1929); World War I and aeronautics posters; research materials on airways and travel (1930-1955); materials on United Air Lines and LAMSA (1947-1958); an index card file on specifications and features on airplanes and engines; and the manuscript for an unpublished autobiography entitled "A Lifetime in Aviation: The Autobiography of Allan F. Bonnalie" (ca. 1974).

The collection also contains three 16 mm films on LAMSA and Mexico; three 16 mm and one 35 mm films on flying and flight training; and one 8 mm film of a ticker-tape parade in New York City after Charles Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic flight (1927); and miscellaneous other materials.

Bonney, R. C.

Papers, 1917-1922.

.45 cubic ft. (1 box)

Acc. #9950

Bonney, of Marshall, Colorado, served as a local chairman of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers of the Colorado and Southern Railway.

The collection contains Bonney's correspondence, pamphlets, newsletters, reports and other materials of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers.

Boone, Daniel L.

Papers, 1929-1963.

.25 cubic ft. (1 box) + artifacts

Acc. #4141

Boone was a pilot with Browers Air Service from 1929 to 1931 and American Airlines from 1931 to 1963.

Collection contains pilot's logs (1929-1931, 1962); correspondence (1931-1963); newspaper clippings; photographs of Boone and various airplanes; material regarding a speed record for a commercial air route by Boone in 1963; a flying helmet and an American Airlines pilot's uniform; and miscellaneous other materials.

Bowen, Melvin O.

Papers, 1925-1970.

.9 cubic ft. (2 boxes) + 1 box of printed materials

Acc. #3761

Collection contains pilot's logbooks, photographs, 14 pieces of correspondence, memorabilia and miscellaneous other materials of this pilot who worked for Trans World Airlines from 1928 to 1963.

Brooks, David C.

Collection of materials on automobiles, 1894-1980 (bulk 1910-1950).

29.24 cubic ft. (58 boxes)

Acc. #4244

David C. Brooks (d. 1982) was a collector of automobile memorabilia.

Collection is chiefly printed materials on early automobiles including pamphlets from over 150 domestic and foreign manufacturers and parts makers, catalogs, books, periodicals, reprints, newspaper and magazine clippings, photographs, correspondence and directories. Also includes some travel guidebooks and postcards and materials on postcards.

Buchanan, George S.

Papers, 1942,1973.

3.15 cubic ft. (7 boxes) + 2 boxes of printed materials

Acc. #8136

Buchanan was a pilot and a consultant with the Federal Aviation Administration and the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Collection contains correspondence, subject files on aviation, photographs, 1 reel-to-reel audiotape of a speech and miscellaneous other materials.

Burington, Richard Stevens

Papers, 1882-1981 (bulk 1925-1970).

33.3 cubic ft. (74 boxes)
Acc. #7751

Burington was a professor of mathematics at Case School of Applied Sciences (now Case Western Reserve University) and Ohio State University between 1926-1941. He became a civilian employee of the U.S. Navy Bureau of Ordnance in 1941, and in 1946 was named its chief mathematician. In 1959, Burington became chief mathematician of the Bureau of Naval Weapons and in 1966 was named the chief mathematician of the Naval Air Systems Command.

Collection contains subject files of notes, correspondence, reports, documents, reprints, and other materials; manuscripts of mathematical papers; notebooks; correspondence; speeches; reports; reprints; printed materials related to mathematics and his Naval work; his dissertation; timetables and travel brochures, chiefly from various railroads; and miscellaneous other materials.

Canaday, Robert F.

Papers, 1908-1980 (bulk 1950-1980).
50 cubic ft.
Acc. #1066

Robert F. Canaday spent his entire career with Douglas Aircraft Company, a subsidiary of McDonnell Douglas Corporation. He was born in Casper, Wyoming, in 1917 and educated at the University of Wyoming and the California Institute of Technology. He began his career at Douglas Aircraft in 1939. In 1968, he became Vice President for military sales and marketing. The collection is chiefly materials related to Canaday's career at Douglas Aircraft. There are 87 aircraft models, including several versions of the A4 Skyhawk; art works of various aircraft, including oil paintings, lithographs, and prints; 20 boxes of photographs; 8 training and advertising films; certificates; and navy organizational emblems. Also included are topical notebooks; 10 boxes of topical files; personal correspondence (1947-1973); a manuscript biography on Edward H. Heinemann and miscellaneous other materials.

Casement, John Stephen and Frances Jennings

Papers, 1857-1928 (bulk 1866-1869)
.45 cubic ft. (1 box)
Acc. #308

John S. Casement was born in 1829. In 1850 he was in Ohio as a track-laying foreman. While working near Painesville, Ohio, he met Frances M. Jennings, whom he married Oct. 14, 1857. Frances M. Jennings was born in Ohio, Apr. 23, 1840. John S. Casement enlisted in the Union Army during the Civil War and attained the brevet rank of general. After the war he returned to building railroads. In association with his brother, Daniel T. Casement, J.S. Casement took a contract to do all of the track laying and some of the grading for the Union Pacific Railroad then being built across the country. Mrs. Casement during much of this time remained in Painesville exchanging letters with her absent husband.

The collection primarily consists of correspondence between the couple during the time J.S. Casement was constructing the Union Pacific Railroad from Omaha, Nebraska, to Promontory Point, Utah, from 1866 to 1869. Also included are some business records (1866-1887), printed materials (1881-1928), and photographs (1857-1867).

Cassady, Thomas G.

Papers, 1918-1974 (bulk 1942).

.25 cubic ft. (1 box)

Acc. #5729

Cassady served with the French Flying Service as a pilot with the 28th Aero Pursuit Squadron during World War I. He returned to France in 1942 as a naval attaché to the U.S. Embassy in Vichy, France, during World War II. However, Cassady reported to the Office of Strategic Services as an undercover agent whose job was to help the French Underground find escape routes for downed Allied pilots, which took him into occupied France on four occasions.

After the Nazis occupied Vichy in November 1942, Cassady was taken prisoner and held in a hotel on account of his diplomatic status. He was returned to the U.S. in February 1944 as part of a prisoner exchange and resumed his undercover work that same month in Algiers and later in Paris when France was liberated. Cassady worked as an investor before and after World War II.

Collection contains a history of the 28th Aero Squadron (1918); correspondence, mostly written by Cassady in 1942 while he was in Vichy, France, before Nazi occupation and sent to his wife Elizabeth (1942, 1945, 1959, 1974); photographs; newspaper clippings; and miscellaneous other materials. Some of the material is in French.

Chittenden, Samuel H.

Papers, 1868

.1 cubic ft. (2 letters)

Acc. #10736

Samuel H. Chittenden was employed as a survey engineer during the construction of the Union Pacific transcontinental rail line in 1868. During this time he wrote many letters to his family in East River, Connecticut, describing his life and conditions and events in the construction camps.

Collection includes two letters, one written from Fort Sanders on March 2, 1868 and one from Bear River City, Wyoming on November 22, 1868, which mentions events of the Bear River City riot of November 19. Also included are photocopies from an article in the journal "La Posta" in which other letters and background information are published.

Chope, Horace M.

Collection of materials on automobiles, 1906-1975.

14.2 cubic ft. (27 boxes + 2 map tubes)

Acc. #4030

Chope (d. 1981) collected materials on antique and classic automobiles.

Collection contains advertising brochures for various domestic and foreign cars; broadsides (1906-1938); auction catalogs; automobile calendars; membership rosters of car clubs; lists of automobile dealers; newsletters and periodicals from antique automobile clubs; notebooks; manufacturers' pamphlets; photographs; posters; reprints; correspondence related to automobiles (1939-1975); and miscellaneous other materials.

Collbran, John S.

Papers, 1872-1970.

.45 cubic ft. (1 box)

Acc. #3131

John S. Collbran was a son of Henry Collbran who developed the Midland Terminal Railroad in Colorado and became the primary concessionaire in Korea, developing railroads, streetcar lines, power companies, and mining properties during the turn of the century. John and his brothers Arthur and Herbert all lived and worked in Korea during the early years of the century. Brothers Herbert and John married sisters Florence and Mabel Farish, daughters of John B. Farish, of Denver, Colorado, while Arthur was married to Augusta Coors of the Golden, Colorado brewing family.

The Collbran collection contains marriage (1872) and death certificates (1925) for Henry Collbran; correspondence (1924-1970); genealogies of the Collbran, Prather, Farish and Martin families; newspaper clippings; photographs of the Farish and Collbran families and Korean subjects; a tape recording of reminiscences by John S. Collbran about his father and Korea; typewritten materials, family stories, reminiscences; an unfinished manuscript of the life of John B. Farish; and miscellaneous materials.

Collins, Reid

Papers, 1968-1985.

5 cubic ft. (5 boxes) and 3 boxes of printed materials

Acc. #8980

Collins (1931-) was a radio broadcaster and journalist for CBS News from the late 1960s until 1987.

Collection contains radio scripts for CBS News (1975-1985); subject files on NASA and the Apollo Space Project; and 6 reel-to-reel audiotapes and 31 audiocassette tapes of Collins on CBS News broadcasts and covering the Apollo Space Project (1968-1978).

Conde, John A.

Collection of materials on automobiles, 1886-1981, (bulk 1945-1981).

29.1 cubic ft. (56 boxes)

Acc. #4191

Conde (1918-) was assistant director of public relations for American Motors Corp. In 1977 he became curator of transportation at the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, Michigan.

Collection contains chiefly printed materials on American automobiles and pickup trucks, including sales and parts catalogs, owner's manuals, specifications, advertising brochures, automobile show programs, color charts, news releases, press kits, pamphlets, reports, periodicals, newspaper clippings, and speeches. Also includes photographs, negatives, slides, transparencies, and blueprints as well as materials on foreign automobiles.

Converse, Jesse

Papers, 1884-1938.

.9 cubic ft. (2 boxes) + certificate + artifact

Acc. #109

Jesse Converse (1861-1939) was born in Anamosa, Iowa. His father died before he was six and his mother was remarried to W.E. Wilcox. The family moved to Laramie, Wyoming, in 1867 and Wilcox operated a jewelry store. Converse took over the business in 1881 and retired in 1906 to build and operate the converse office building in Laramie. Converse also served as a trustee of the Albany Mutual Building Association from 1893 to 1918 and was active in several freemasonry societies. He was named Most Eminent Grand High Priest of the Grand Chapter of Wyoming Royal Arch Masons in 1910. In 1887 Converse was married to Katherine Reynolds.

Collection includes a personal scrapbook and ledger (1909-1938); correspondence and other materials related to his freemasonry activities (1889-1938); news clippings; a photograph album; photographs; an 1891 certificate of membership in the Laramie Fire Department; a manuscript describing a trip to Alaska in 1925; a glass negative camera; and miscellaneous other materials.

Courtney, Frank T.

Papers, 1916-1968.

2.25 cubic ft. (5 boxes) and 1 box of printed materials

Acc. #2779

Frank T. Courtney (1894-1982) was born in London and served with the Royal Flying Corps (the forerunner of the Royal Air Force) in France during World War I, attaining the rank of captain. He was a test pilot and racer in England from 1919 to 1928. He also tried to fly the Atlantic from east to west in 1919, 1926 and 1928, but was unsuccessful each time.

Courtney came to the U.S. in 1928 as a technical assistant to the Curtiss-Wright Corporation. From 1936 to 1940 Courtney tested hydroplanes in England, returned to the U.S. in 1940 to fly test planes for Convair and later served as an advisor to Boeing. Courtney was married to Constance May "Ginger" Filby (1901-1968), who was also an aviator.

Collection contains 16 items of correspondence (1928-1961); articles by or about Courtney (1955-1962); diaries (1923-1942); pilot's logs (1930-1938); photograph albums (1916-1941); manuscript for Courtney's history of aviation, The Eighth Sea; 6 reel-to-reel audio tapes of an interview with Courtney on the evolution of the fighter plane (1968); blueprints of the Armstrong Whitworth Siskin II fighter and the Courtney-Curtiss-Wright amphibian airplane; and miscellaneous memorabilia.

Cusmano, August M.

4 cubic ft. (4 boxes) + 3 boxes of printed materials

Acc. #8726

Cusmano was a pilot and administrator with United Air Lines from 1946 to 1976.

Collection contains correspondence; subject files on aviation; materials concerning a United crash in Bali in 1979; and miscellaneous other materials.

De Ford, Paul Victor

Railroad collection, 1940-1978.

2 cubic ft. (2 boxes)

Acc. #8522

Collection contains timetables, brochures, travel guides, maps and other railroad memorabilia; photographs of trains; and a historical manuscript on the Southern Pacific Railroad written by this railroad enthusiast.

De Leeuw, Hendrik

Papers, 1941-1977.

.9 cubic ft. (2 boxes) and 4 boxes of printed materials

Acc. #2301

Collection contains miscellaneous correspondence, the manuscript for From Flying Horse to Man in the Moon; and several ink drawings by this journalist who covered the NASA space program.

Dearing, Charles Lee

Papers, 1948-1969.

.9 cubic ft. (2 boxes)

Acc. #5122

Dearing (1903-1972) was an economist with the Brookings Institution (1929-1956) and with Wilbur Smith and Associates after 1964. From 1956-1962 he was executive director of the Illinois Toll Highway Commission.

Collection contains correspondence, speeches, and miscellaneous other materials by Dearing on highway transportation in the United States.

Dechert, Clarence W.

Papers, 1940-1953.

1.8 cubic ft. (4 boxes) of manuscript materials and .9 cubic ft (2 boxes) of printed material and artifacts

Acc. #8006

Clarence W. Dechert (1908-1982) was an aeronautical engineer with the U.S. Bureau of Aeronautics and the Civil Aeronautics Administration in Wyoming. His work included construction and maintenance of airways communications and navigation facilities in Wyoming and other states.

Collection contains correspondence, aeronautics course materials, aviation handbooks and manuals, photographs and negatives, inspection records of airway structures, and miscellaneous material pertaining to Dechert's career in aeronautical engineering.

Donaldson, J. Glenn

Papers, 1953-1965.

3.6 cubic ft. (8 boxes)

Acc. #2765

J. Glenn Donaldson (1903-1967) was a lawyer in Denver, Colorado and handled primarily labor arbitration cases.

Collection contains arbitration case files dealing with labor disputes between unions and oil, mining, railway, airline and telephone companies (1953-1965); 2 scrapbooks; and miscellaneous certificates.

Downs, Hugh

Papers, 1915-1992.

148 cubic ft.

Acc. #10150

Downs (1921-), a television journalist and announcer, hosted the television game show, "Concentration" from 1958 to 1968, and the news shows "Today Show" (1962-1971), "Over Easy" (1977-1980) and "20/20" (1978 to the present). Downs produced many television documentaries, commercial and educational films through his production company Raylin Productions. He also worked as a reporter and narrator for television news specials and documentaries.

Downs maintains an active interest in space technology, mental health, population control and problems of the aged. He serves with many public service organizations, is chairman of the board of UNICEF and has served on the NASA Advisory Council.

Collection contains materials relating to Downs' television work and productions, his public service work, personal interests, and family. Materials relating to television productions include scripts, reports, schedules, photographs, research materials, correspondence, logs, audio and video cassettes and films.

There are manuscripts of articles and books by Downs, personal and business correspondence, photographs of Downs and his family, drawings of Downs, awards, scrapbooks and speeches. Public service materials include correspondence, reports and minutes of many organizations with which Downs worked.

Collection contains correspondence, invoices, receipts, and other materials related to the Hupp Motor Car Company; rules, entry blanks, correspondence and other materials related to automobile races; two photograph albums from his world tour; and miscellaneous other materials.

Drake, J. Walter

Papers, 1898-1941.

2.8 cubic ft. (6 boxes)

Acc. #6560

John Walter Drake served in the Navy during the Spanish American War and practiced law in Detroit, Michigan, from 1896 to 1908. He was president and later chairman of the Hupp Motor Car Company which he co-founded with his brother Joseph R. Drake in 1908. Drake was assistant secretary of the U.S. Department of Commerce from 1923 to 1927 and in 1929 headed the U.S. delegation to the Second Pan American Highway Congress in Rio de Janeiro.

Collection contains six scrapbooks of newspaper clippings, correspondence, photographs, pamphlets, invitations, items related to the inauguration of President Hoover in 1929 and other personal memorabilia and a photograph album.

Eicholtz, Leonard

Diaries, 1852-1910.

1.35 cubic ft. (3 boxes)

Acc. #238

Eicholtz was a railroad construction engineer born in 1827 in Pennsylvania. He worked with the corps of engineers of the Pennsylvania Railroad from 1852 until 1854 when he started work with the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad Company. Following the outbreak of the Civil War, Eicholtz entered government service as an assistant engineer with the construction corps of United States Military Railroads. The corps worked to build rail lines from Tennessee to Georgia. When Eicholtz left the service in 1866 he had achieved the rank of Colonel and the position of chief engineer of the U. S. Military Railroads.

In 1866 Eicholtz became resident engineer of the Kansas Pacific Railway Company, and conducted surveys in Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, and California. He worked with the Union Pacific Railroad Company as superintendent of bridge building from 1868 to 1869, and then as chief engineer with the Central Pacific Railroad Company from 1869-1870. He moved to Denver and conducted the construction of the Kansas Pacific Railroad eastward from Denver. He was an incorporator and chief engineer of the Denver & South Park Railroad Company (later the Colorado & Southern Railway). In 1878 Eicholtz became director of the First National Bank of Denver, a position he occupied until his death in 1911.

The collection consists of Eicholtz's diaries for the years 1852, 1855-1860, 1862, 1864-1870, 1872-1874, and 1878-1910, which record his daily activities as a railroad construction engineer. There is also an 1893 diary of Elizabeth C. Eicholtz, presumably a relative of Eicholtz. The collection also includes handwritten transcripts of some of the diaries.

Engel, Al

Papers, 1911-1979.

2.25 cubic ft. (5 boxes) + artifacts

Acc. #7615

Engel received his pilot's license in 1910 and worked as an air mail pilot from 1911 to 1914. He worked as a test pilot for Curtiss Aircraft after 1915 and after World War I as a general manager for Babcock Aircraft Corporation.

Collection contains 14 pieces of correspondence (1934-1979); pilot's logbooks (1911-1914, 1962); newspaper clippings; photographs of Engel and the "Bumble Bee," the plane he used for air mail delivery; a blueprint of the "Bumble Bee"; a 48 star flag that flew with Engel; and miscellaneous memorabilia.

Fales, Dean Abner

Dean Abner Fales (1890-1969) was professor of automobile engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology from 1919 to 1949. Following his retirement from M.I.T. in 1949 he was consultant to various automobile manufacturers and also founded and served as the first president of the Veteran Motor Car Club of America.

Collection contains materials relating to Fales' interests in automobiles and automobile engineering including correspondence (1922-1967); subject files on automobile engineering and various automobiles (1907-1966); newspaper clippings (1930-1965); 10 photograph albums of antique cars, the Automobile Racers Club of America, the Veteran Motor Car Club of America and railroads (1936-1965); photographs of Fales and automobiles (1906-1965); speeches on auto and highway safety (1936-1961); and postcards of automobiles.

Fee and Murphy Family

Papers, 1867-1927 (bulk 1898-1927)

.45 cubic ft. (1 box)

Acc. #335

Michael H. Murphy came to Wyoming in 1867 with the Union Pacific Railroad. He later operated a saloon in Laramie, Wyoming, called Tammany Hall. John and Lawrence Fee also came to Wyoming in 1867 with the Union Pacific Railroad and settled in Laramie. Lawrence Fee was town marshal and tax collector for the city of Laramie in the 1870s and 1880s and was a city councilman during the 1890s.

The collection mainly contains photographs of the Fee and Murphy families and their friends. They were taken in Laramie and the surrounding area, primarily in the first two decades of the 20th century.

Fryxell, Roald

Papers, 1950-1978.

95 cubic ft.

Acc. #6108

Fryxell, a geologist and anthropologist, was most noted for his work in dating archaeological sites and related geological studies. Early in his career he served as curator of Ginkgo Petrified Forest State Museum in Washington from 1960 to 1961. Later he was a professor of anthropology at Washington State University. While at Washington State, he began excavating in 1962 at the Marmes Rockshelter archaeological site in southeast Washington. The excavation resulted in the discovery of the famous Marmes human skeletal remains in 1968, the earliest well-documented remains found in the Western Hemisphere.

In 1969 Fryxell was named to NASA's Lunar Sample Preliminary Examination Team, and examined the lunar rocks and soil samples brought back by the Apollo missions. He was also the designer of the apparatus used for collecting core samples of the moon's surface. Fryxell also researched and published extensively in his field. He was killed in an automobile accident at age 40.

Collection relates to Fryxell's career as a geologist and anthropologist including his work at the Ginkgo Petrified Forest State Museum, Washington State University, with the Marmes Rockshelter archaeological site and with NASA. Materials include correspondence, subject files, field notes and research data, photographs and photograph albums, manuscripts of professional articles, scrapbooks and maps.

There are also reel-to-reel audio tapes relating to the Apollo missions, photographs and slides of Apollo missions and lunar samples, 16mm films relating to Apollo missions and the Marmes archaeological dig, tools used in gathering and studying lunar samples, and some personal materials and correspondence with family including Fryxell's father, Fritiof Fryxell.

Fuller, E. O.

Papers, 1940-1965.

19.8 cubic ft. (44 boxes)

Acc. #80

Fuller (1875-1965) served as chief fiscal agent for the University of Wyoming from the 1920s to 1940s, and worked with the United States General Land Office. Through expertise gained in these two positions, Fuller was called as an expert witness in cases before the United States Indian Claims Commission. The Commission was established in 1946 and heard Indian claims against the U. S. government for payment of land ceded by the Indians.

Fuller testified on the values of land and land resources during the following Indian Claims Commission cases: Case #61 (1959) of the confederated Salish and Kootenai tribes of the Flathead Reservation in Montana involving an 1855 treaty; Case #239 (1954) of the Tillamook Indians of the Siletz Reservation in Oregon involving an 1874 treaty; and Case #63 (1953) of the Shoshone Tribe of the Wind River Reservation in Wyoming involving an 1868 treaty.

The collection consists mainly of background materials Fuller gathered in relation to each of these cases, including reports, bulletins, maps, statistics, and newspaper clippings. There are also Fuller's notes, briefs, exhibits and other court documents. In addition there are subject files of materials on various industries and corporations Fuller gathered in the course of his work. Materials include annual reports of companies, newspaper clippings, and Fuller's notes on many railroads, airlines, and oil, gas and mining companies.

McCollough was married in 1915 to Elsie Martha Rogers (b. 1889) and they had two sons: Albert W. Jr. (b. 1917) and Robert Rogers (b. 1919). Albert Jr. and Robert both attended the University of Wyoming, with Robert earning an M.A. in English in 1942.

Collection contains mainly materials relating to A. W. McCollough's service in the Wyoming House of Representatives from 1922-1932 including correspondence with other politicians and constituents, reports, notes, and a certificate of election for the 1931 term.

The collection also includes a typescript copy of a speech by Wyoming Governor William B. Ross (1924); three photographs and two cyanotypes of the Laramie, Hahns Peak and Pacific Railway (1910); the minutes of an August 25, 1930, meeting of the Committee Upon Valuation and Taxation of Property; and correspondence, agreements, and miscellaneous other materials relating to McCollough's investment in the Deerwood Fur Farm of Centennial, Wyoming, which raised silver foxes (1928).

Collection also includes thirty-three dance cards from 1936 to 1942 from various University of Wyoming fraternity and sorority dances that either Robert or Albert W., Jr. attended. The collection does not contain any materials relating to McCollough's work as an attorney.

McMillan, Neil T.

Papers, 1893-1975.

1.46 (4 boxes)

Acc. #10323

Neil T. McMillan (1893-1975) was born in Denver, Colorado, and attended Colorado College from 1915 to 1917, when he left school to join the U.S. Army during World War I. He was commissioned as a pilot and 2nd Lieutenant in 1918. McMillan spent several years barnstorming before entering the air mail service as a pilot with Western Air Express (later Western Airlines) in 1929. From 1934 to 1946, he was a pilot with Eastern Airlines. McMillan was a member of the Colorado Air National Guard from 1925 to 1934 and 1950 to 1957. He was a civilian employee at Colorado's Buckley Air National Guard Base from 1957 to 1968 and was inducted into the Colorado Aviation Hall of Fame in 1972. McMillan also wrote short stories which were published mainly in boy's magazines.

Collection contains three letters from McMillan to his mother in April, 1917, related to his enlistment in the Army; records of his Army and National Guard service (1917-1968); published stories and manuscripts (1925-1952) including "Birds in the Wind" (1939); photographs and 2 photograph albums (1893-1972); a plaque commemorating his induction into the Colorado Aviation Hall of Fame; military and airline pins and medals; and miscellaneous personal memorabilia.

Morse Bros Machinery & Supply Co.

Records, 1898-1953.

3.75 cubic ft. (4 boxes)

Acc. #9314

The town of Encampment, Wyoming, was founded in 1898 to service the Ferris-Haggerty Mine and other copper mines in the area. North American Copper Co. bought the Ferris-Haggerty Mine, and built a smelter with 16-mile aerial tramway connecting it directly to the mine.

In 1905 Penn-Wyoming Copper Co. bought out North American. Penn-Wyoming operated eleven subsidiary companies within the Encampment area: Battle Lake Tunnel Site Mining Co. (aka Doane Rambler Copper Mine); Carbondale Coal Co.; Emerson Light Co.; Encampment Land & Town Site Co.; Encampment Pipeline Ditch Co.; Encampment Smelting Co.; Encampment Tramway Co.; Encampment Water Works Co.; Haggerty Copper Mining Co.; North American Mercantile Co.; and the Encampment Railway Co.

Two fires occurred at the smelter in March and May of 1906, which put a considerable financial strain on the company. In 1909 Penn-Wyoming's holdings were acquired by United Smelters, Railway and Copper Co. A year later United Smelters went into receivership and bankruptcy. The companies were purchased by the Bondholders Protective Committee and then sold to Morse Bros. Machinery & Supply Co. of Denver in 1919. Morse Bros. sold off most of the equipment of the smelter and mines. The Saratoga & Encampment Railway was operated under an agreement by the Union Pacific Company from 1921 to 1924. In 1926 the line was abandoned.

The collection contains business files of these Encampment area industries, including correspondence, financial and legal records and related material, (1902-1925), maps, plats and blue prints, (1898-1909), pamphlets and other printed materials and some photographs.

Ridley, Arthur Grahame Brooke

Family papers, 1850-1971.

4.95 cubic ft. (11 boxes) and 5 boxes of check stubs (3,5,7,8,9)

Acc. #5745

Ridley was born in Tasmania and emigrated to the U.S. with his parents, Arthur Ernest Brooke Ridley and Mary Amelia Leechman in 1887. Arthur Ernest and Mary Amelia were born in London and had emigrated to Tasmania. Arthur Grahame married Margery Paulson Richardson in 1923. Arthur Ernest (d. 1919) was an electrical engineer and president of the Electric Motor Chair Company of San Francisco.

Mary Leechman's father, John Leechman (d. 1916), was a merchant in Ceylon (now Sri Lanka) along with his brothers, William and Robert in the 1870s. John moved to San Francisco sometime during the 1880s and was an agent for selling tea from India and Ceylon. He was later secretary of the Soulsby Gold Mining Company and the Hamilfield Mining Company.

From 1903 to 1906 Arthur Grahame designed and built custom manufactured automobiles. He worked as an engineering consultant (1911-1932), designing and building over 20 fruit and vegetable dehydration plants. Ridley was also owner of the Speed Carburetor Company (1912-1916). Ridley designed warehouses and processing plants for the California Walnut Growers Association (later the Diamond Walnut Growers, Inc.) from 1934 to 1936 and the California and Hawaiian Sugar Corporation from 1936 to 1940. From 1940 to 1946 he was a systems analyst for Lockheed Corporation and was in Northern Ireland from 1942 to 1944.

Materials relate mainly to Arthur Grahame Ridley and his business interests, with some materials relating to the Ridley and Leechman families. Arthur Ridley materials contain miscellaneous blueprints; papers relating to the California Walnut Growers Association regarding plant construction; correspondence with the California Walnut Growers Association, California and Hawaii Sugar Refining Corporation; and letters sent by Ridley to Margery while in Ireland (1917-1971).

Arthur Ridley materials also include miscellaneous materials of the Speed Carburetor Company (1912-1914); maps of California (1957-1964); newspaper clippings (1920-1967); 5 photograph albums; photographs and negatives of Arthur and Margery, construction of buildings and walnut processing for the California Walnut Growers Association and the construction of a fruit dehydration plant (1929-1936, 1956); Grahame Ridley's licenses and patents to manufacture carburetors, clutches and drying apparatuses (1923-1928); Margery's diaries (1938, 1942-1958); and a reminiscence of the 1906 San Francisco earthquake.

Leechman family materials include miscellaneous materials relating to John Leechman's interests in the Soulsby Mining Company, the Hamilfield Mining Company and the Antill Patent Window Company; and a 1915 letter regarding the death of the son of John Leechman, a World War I British soldier.

Acc. #2714

Roger Q. Williams (1895-1976) served with the U.S. Army Air Corps in World War I and became a barnstormer and stunt flyer during the 1920s. In 1929 he became the second flyer to cross the Atlantic, flying from New York to Rome. During the 1930s Williams was a test pilot, engineer and technical advisor and also established his own flying school, the Roger Q. Williams School of Aeronautics. Williams served in the U.S. Army Air Force from 1942-1946 and in 1949 wrote a history of American aviation, Flying to the Moon and Halfway Back.

Collection contains materials relating to Williams' aviation career, including blueprints for an Aerocoupe designed by Williams for Yankee Aircraft Corporation; correspondence regarding Williams' flight to Rome, his book Flying to the Moon and Halfway Back, and the Roger Q. Williams School of Aeronautics (1928-1949); newspaper clippings; miscellaneous materials relating to the Roger Q. Williams School of Aeronautics; 4 scrapbooks; stunt flying advertisements; pilots log books; miscellaneous certificates, awards and medals; and sketches of Williams and aircraft.

Williamson, C. D.

Papers, 1892-1957.

10.2 cubic ft. (16 boxes)

Acc. #147

Carlyle Dougan Williamson (1886-1959) was born in Leadville, Colorado, and became a cashier at Carbon State Bank in Hanna, Wyoming, in 1909 and later was president from 1930 to 1955. The bank was reorganized into the First National Bank of Hanna in 1920 and again in 1927 to the Hanna State & Savings Bank.

In 1916 Williamson became affiliated with P.J. Quealy, the receiver of the Carbon Timber Company, which conducted logging and tie cutting operations in Carbon and Albany Counties, Wyoming, and was often Wyoming's sole producer of ties for the Union Pacific Railroad. Williamson and Quealy reorganized the company into the Wyoming Timber Company, with Williamson serving as president. He was also closely associated with the Quealy Land and Livestock Company, which was also owned by Quealy, and helped to found the Intermountain Telephone Company of Hanna in 1912. The Wyoming Timber Company also held interest in the Wyoming Timber Lands Company and the Megeath Coal Company, both of Hanna, Wyoming.

Collection contains mainly the business records of the companies that Williamson worked for, along with a small amount of personal material from 1892 to 1957. The collection includes biographical material, newspaper clippings, two pieces of correspondence and photographs. Also included are two manuscripts by John Milliken, a Carbon County settler. One is autobiographical and the other is a description of the killing of Sheriff Bob Widdowfield and the hanging of "Dutch Charley Burris and George "Big Nose" Parrott in Rawlins in 1879 and 1881.

The collection also contains the records of the Carbon State Bank, the First National Bank of Hanna, the Hanna State & Savings Bank, the Carbon Timber Company, the Wyoming Timber Company, the Intermountain Telephone Company and a small amount of material relating to the Quealy Land and Livestock Company, the Wyoming Timber Lands Company and the Megeath Coal Company, and includes correspondence, minutes, financial reports, blueprints and maps, and stock certificates which document Williamson's involvement in the timber, banking, and land development industries of Albany and Carbon County, Wyoming.

There is also a small amount of material relating to the Southeastern Wyoming Clearing House Association, a professional banking association, and to R.R. Crow & Company, another tie cutting business that worked with the Wyoming Timber Company.

Wilson, Gill Robb

Papers, 1917-1963.

6.5 cubic ft. (12 boxes) and artifacts and 1 document box of printed materials

Acc. #2158

Gill Robb Wilson (1893-1966) served with the Lafayette Escadrille and the U.S. Signal Corps in World War I before returning to seminary school and serving as a Presbyterian minister in Trenton, New Jersey (1921-1930). A pilot and a strong advocate of aviation, Wilson served as Director of Aviation for the state of New Jersey from 1930 to 1944. From 1944 to 1951 he was an aviation columnist and war correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune in Europe, Africa and the Pacific. Wilson served as editor and publisher of Flying magazine (1952-1962).

Collection contains personal and professional correspondence (1917-1963) mostly relating to his work for the Herald-Tribune and Flying magazine; 2 scrapbooks; 6 photograph albums; 3 paintings; miscellaneous memorabilia and artifacts, including World War I medals; photographs of Wilson, various types of airplanes, and World War II in the Pacific theater; and the manuscript for the book by Arthur Dunning Spearman, John Joseph Montgomery, which was first introduced in Flying magazine.

Wood, David

Papers, 1879-1890.

.9 cubic ft. (2 boxes)

Acc. #7261

David Wood (1851-1944) operated a freight and passenger stage service in the San Juan mining district of Colorado. He entered the Union Army's 6th Missouri Cavalry in 1862 during the Civil War. Wood came to Pueblo, Colorado, in 1876 and operated a freight line, the David Wood Transportation Lines, from the end of the railroad tracks to mining camps in Lake City, Ouray, Telluride, Rico and Montrose, Colorado. He lost his company to the 1893 silver panic and operated a ranch near Montrose afterwards.

Collection contains miscellaneous business records relating to Woods' freight service, including a cashbook (1879-1883); 3 daybooks (1883, 1885, 1890); general journals (1883-1884, 1887-1889); a supply order book (1883); and a shipping register for the Colorado and Wyoming Stage, Mail and Express Company (1885).
