Course Description: Students will obtain hands on experience working with livestock while obtaining knowledge of the facilities, animals and people associated with our Animal Science Teaching and Research herds and flocks. Students will gain an increased understanding of animal behavior while developing or enhancing their knowledge of fitting and showing techniques for a lamb, pig, beef heifer, or horse. Those enrolled will be expected to train, groom and fit their selected animal and exhibit this animal in the Block & Bridle Club's Little International Livestock Show at the Hansen Livestock Teaching Arena on the evening of Friday, October 26, 2012. All animals and required equipment will be furnished, although students can use their own equipment if preferred.

Class Time: Other than a couple of group sessions and a demonstration session, students will be expected to work independently within their own time schedules. Those enrolled should plan to expend an adequate amount of time to appropriately train, fit and present their assigned animal for exhibition.

Evaluation: Students will mainly be evaluated (i.e. graded) based on their time commitment and degree of successful training, grooming/fitting and exhibition of their animal at the Little International Livestock Show on the evening of October 26, 2012 at the Hansen Livestock Teaching Arena. There will also be a couple of small assignments that will be used to help determine grades. These assignments will be either handed out at one of the class times or emailed to the class. As is the policy with all University of Wyoming classes and events, the use of alcoholic beverages will not be tolerated at any time during the class. This includes, but is not limited to, working with the animals at the respective animal unit and during the evening of the show. You are encouraged to seek advice and assistance with any task with which you are not familiar, but all students are expected to do all of their own work for this class. Abuse of these policies will be grounds for failure of the class.

Points possible for the class are as follows:

Pre-show working with the animal:	25 points
Biography:	10 points
Fitting of the animal:	25 points
Showing the animal:	40 points
Other assignments (as needed):	10 points each
Bonus points will be assigned as follows:
Champion showman of each specie:	3 points
Reserve Champion showman of each specie:	1 points
Champion Round Robin showman:	3 points
Reserve Champion Round Robin showman:	1 points

Letter grades will be assigned according to the following scale:

90.0 – 100% = A

80.0 – 99.9% = B

70.0 – 89.9% = C

60.0 – 79.9% = D

<60.0% = F

Students with a Disability: If you have a physical, learning, or psychological disability and require accommodations, please let the instructor know as soon as possible. You must register with, and provide documentation of your disability to University Disability Support Services (UDSS) in SEO, room 330 Knight Hall.

Academic Dishonesty: The University of Wyoming is built upon a strong foundation of integrity, respect and trust. All members of the university community have a responsibility to be honest and the right to expect honesty from others. Any form of academic dishonesty is unacceptable to our community and will not be tolerated. Teachers and students should report suspected violations of standards of academic honesty to the instructor, department head, or dean. Other University regulations can be found at:
