

University of Arkansas
Fayetteville, Arkansas
Department of Animal Science (<http://animalscience.uark.edu/>)

Full Time 9 Month Clinical Assistant Professor in the Department of Animal Science University of Arkansas

The Department of Animal Science in the Bumpers College at the University of Arkansas is soliciting applications for a full-time, 9-month, non-tenure track position at the rank of Clinical Assistant Professor with a specialization in Animal Health (80% teaching; 10% service; 10% scholarly activity). This position is annually renewable based on performance and funding. Anticipated start date is August 1, 2016.

Application Link

The online posting and application can be found at: <http://jobs.uark.edu/postings/12378>

Position description and responsibilities

The Clinical Assistant Professor will be expected to: 1) serve as the departmental undergraduate coordinator; 2) serve as faculty coordinator for student clubs as needed; 3) recruit and advise undergraduate students; and 4) develop and teach undergraduate courses based on the interests and needs of the Department of Animal Science.

Qualifications required

An earned doctorate in Animal Science or a related doctoral degree and/or D.V.M. A primary focus of this position is providing students with an in-depth scientific knowledge allowing students to be more competitive for veterinary medicine school, professional school, and/or leadership positions in the animal industries. This faculty position will be expected to teach undergraduate introductory animal sciences, animal health/immunology, comparative anatomy, and animal handling techniques courses and to guest lecture in other courses as needed. Selected candidate will be expected to be active in the department's undergraduate program, including mentoring and directing students as their faculty advisor and serving as a member of departmental, college and university committees. Motivation and skills to effectively recruit and educate students through academic programs in Animal Science is necessary.

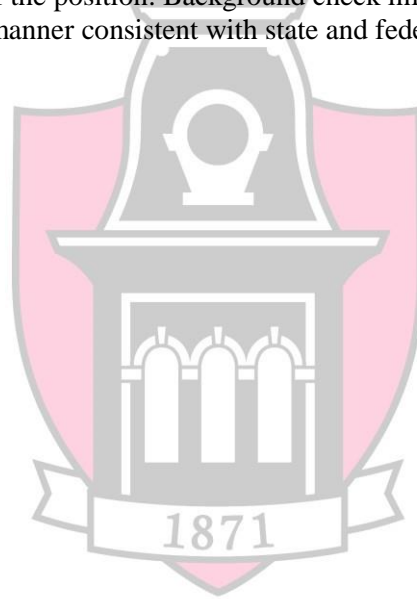

Additional desired qualifications

Candidates with at least two years of experience teaching at university/college level will receive favorable consideration, as will candidates with experience in animal health, animal handling, or animal management. Demonstrated excellence in developing, conducting, and publishing scholarly activity, collaborating within interdisciplinary teams, and strong speaking and writing communication skills. Salary will be commensurate with experience. Review of applications will begin May 16, 2016, and will continue until position is filled. Apply on-line at <http://jobs.uark.edu/postings/12378> with a letter of application, statement of teaching philosophy, curriculum vita, official transcripts, and contact information of three references.

The Department of Animal Science program is located in the Dale Bumpers College of Agricultural, Food and Life Sciences and has 20 full-time faculty with 265+ majors. The U of A, Fayetteville, is a land grant university with enrollment of more than 26,000 and considered the flagship institution in the state university system. Fayetteville is located in Northwest Arkansas in the scenic Ozark Mountains close to lakes, rivers and national forests. Northwest Arkansas is served by Northwest Arkansas Regional Airport, linking the area to nearby international airports. Major cities located within a day's drive of Fayetteville include: Dallas-Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, Wichita, Kansas City, Little Rock, Memphis and Shreveport. For more information on the University of Arkansas and Northwest Arkansas please visit www.uark.edu.

The University of Arkansas is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution. The university welcomes applications without regard to age, race, gender (including pregnancy), national origin, disability, religion, marital or parental status, protected veteran status, military service, genetic information, sexual orientation or gender identity. Persons must have proof of legal authority to work in the United States on the first day of employment. All applicant information is subject to public disclosure under the Arkansas Freedom of Information Act. This position is subject to a pre-employment criminal background check, sex offender registry check, drug screening, and MVR check. A criminal conviction or arrest pending adjudication information alone shall not disqualify an applicant in the absence of a relationship to the requirements of the position. Background check information will be used in a confidential, non-discriminatory manner consistent with state and federal law.

UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS®