DESCRIPTION:
This summer’s Institute will explore the impact of figurative art in communicating ideas, action, culture and more. Using the new Artmobile exhibit, Go Figure!, and artwork on view in the UW Art Museum galleries as the starting point, we’ll explore multiple ways to create and understand figurative art, including sculpture, printing, painting, photography, and cartooning. We will discover resources in the American Heritage Center and Coe Library, such as historic photos and rare books, and engage with visiting artists Ricki Klages (painting), Susan Molde nhauer (photography), Chris Amend (painting, drawing). Seasoned K-12 educators, community educators, and museum educators will provide strategies and support for exploring this topic with students of all ages, as well as building partnerships in support of arts education programming in schools and in the community.

Studio time is included every afternoon to explore new materials and ideas inspired by the original artwork, objects and books you will encounter. Whether you have no studio experience, or are an accomplished artist, this 5-day workshop sets the stage for developing new skills and deepening creative experiences with familiar skills.
