Chief of Staff

- This week I will solely focus on scholarships and getting everything running. I've been meeting with the executives on a weekly basis to keep in touch with them and understanding how I could help them out. If you would like to sit on my committee for scholarships please let me know.

Director of Finance

- Last week, as you know, I was out on Monday and Tuesday, but I was back in on Wednesday and Friday to continue posting and working for FWC. This week, I started working on revamping FWC's website for the Help Button. For this, I might need some committee members help. Also, I will be continuing to work on putting on an event for October. This event will have my former Finance professor come in and give a small talk on financial wellness. I will want to table in the union on the days leading up to the event. In the coming weeks, I also want to be working more with the CAC and the Wellness Center to put on event and promote financial wellness.

Associate director of RSO relations

- This past week I was doing a lot of behind-the-scenes accounting work for event and conference funding, which entails things like maintaining excel sheets with all of the funding board money on it. Like usual, I've been having a lot of RSOs coming into my office with lots of questions and spending to be had. As far as outreach to the senate, please personally email me if you'd be interested in starting up one or both things with me regarding RSO recognition:
- -RSO "speed dating" event to get senators (and freshman senators) more involved with RSOs on campus.
- -Collaborating with the CAC to give away an ASUW award (to go towards future funding) to a deserving RSO and how that application/process will look.
- Wishing you all a great week of being in ASUW! Please come in and chat with me if you'd ever like to.

Director of Marketing

- This week I worked on the launch materials for WyoVocal and UWYO Guide and they're mostly done! I also finished updating the site with the current information and am starting to make the website in the format much like the college of business' website! That should be up within the next week. This coming week, I am going to continue to work with IT on getting UWYO Guide on WyoWeb below WyoVocal. I will also start working with Tyler on the Student Help Button and marketing strategies involving that.

Director of Governmental Affairs

- This week I worked to get our J.C. advisor appointee to senate, and get Jerry to a meeting for confirmation. I have still unfortunately not heard anything from the president's office regarding the Governors dinner, despite both an email and a phone call today (10/13)
- In the next week I am excited to get to work on the JC and Election Archives, help secure a Chief Justice and the J.C. Advisor. I am still available to help anyone with legislation!

Director of Programming and Institutional Development

- -I am hoping to get the first draft of the SLS Resolution written.
 - -I completed my first draft of the SLS Resolution, and sent it to Macki, Michael and Tyler.
- -I am planning on meeting with IFC and CPH and submitting the Strategic Partner legislation
 - -I met with IFC and CPH yesterday to finalize the Strategic Partner legislation and I submitted it today so it should be up for first reading on Tuesday.
- -Hopefully I will be able to find a time that works for everyone on ASTEC Ad-Hoc and then I will schedule that meeting and hopefully have our first meeting next week.
 - -I found a time for the ASTEC Ad-Hoc meetings, they are officially on Fridays from 12-1, and I was able to schedule a room in the Union for those meetings.
- -I am hoping to get the 'Tips to Surviving Senate' button started on Guidebook and I need to get all of the new Senators information for Guidebook.
 - -I didn't get to the 'Tips to Surviving Senate' button on Guidebook, but I did add all of the new Senators information.

Director of Diversity

- Also, I encourage all members of ASUW to consider attending the Good Mule Fall Project because it specifically deals with political activism and, as a student government, I think it would be beneficial for Senators and executives to better their tactics, understand their constituents, and sculpt a more aware student government.
- -Student Wellness Advisory Board – An outreach report continues to be developed, now with the help from the Student Outreach & Policy committee that will assist in gauging student body concerns and reactions with the UW Help Button project from the 104th Administration.

- -The Good Mule Fall Conference- I have participated in outreach on behalf of the SLCE office to have underrepresented students attend the fall edition of the Good Mule, which will focus on political activism. As a facilitator, I hope to moderate the conversation to inspire these communities to engage with the student government as a primary source for change they wish to see at the university.
- -Chief Diversity Officer inquiry: I am planning on attending the Committee on Women and People of Color (CoWPoC) meeting with President Nichols this upcoming week to specifically gather information on if I will be made the undergraduate representative on the search committee for the CDO position.
- -UMC Collaborations: After sending delegates to the UMC Roundtable, both for RSOs and a substitution from ASUW, I will be working with UMC to see how the student government can help with the collaboration that UMC has with Keeper of the Fire to host demonstrations and projects involving the Standing Rock/North Dakota Pipeline protests involving indigenous communities.
- -MLK Days of Dialogue: I am reaching out to RSOs and individuals that have expressed interest in MLKDOD programming and will be attending two committee meetings this upcoming week.
- -Childcare Assistance Scholarship: I will upload all materials by Wednesday with a password protected encryption so that the anonymity of students is preserved and intrusion from outside entities not involved in the reviewing committee eliminated.
