Managing Transportation Infrastructure Assets in an Era of Limited Resources

The presentation will discuss principles and procedures for developing an integrated transportation infrastructure management system. While the primary emphasis will be on highway facilities, the interaction between roads and urban transit and other facilities will be highlighted and a system of systems approach will be considered. Techniques for tradeoff analyses between facilities as well as between management objectives will be presented.