From Health Policy to Actuality: A Challenge for Engagement

Bonnie Braun, PhD
University of Maryland
School of Public Health
University of Maryland Extension
10-3-13

Engaging in Public Policy

Very low – Moderate – High – Very High

Test: How do you rate your pleasure with being at today’s conference?

1. How do you rate your conviction that each one of us can, and should, engage in public policy as a contributing resident of a democracy?
2. How do you rate your conviction that our youth can, and should, engage in public policy?
3. How do you rate your involvement in public policy over the course of your lifetime?
4. How do you rate your involvement in public policy within the past year?
5. How do you rate your involvement in public policy within the past year in relation to health policy?

Health Public Issues Evolution

1. Concern
2. Involvement of Some of the Public
3. Issue Defined
4. Identify Alternatives
5. Evaluate Consequences
6. Make Public Choices
7. Implement Rules & Regulations
8. Evaluate Policy

National Issues Forums

http://www.nifi.org
Public Engagement

- Coming Together
- Looking for Answers
- Talking and Reasoning
- Deliberating Choices
- Taking Action

Democracy demands an on-going deliberative process.

www.nif.org

University of Maryland College Students
Deliberate Health Care Options

Low-Income Rural Mothers
Deliberate Physical Activity Options

Engaging Unheard Voices

Under what conditions can, and will, limited resource citizens engage in the deliberative public policy process?

An Experiment in Civic Engagement

A Partnership between the Charles F. Kettering Foundation & the Maryland Family Policy Impact Seminar

“6- I” Policy Analysis Organizing Framework

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>General Questions to Guide Analysis</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Information</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Federal Legislation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Federal Legislation Deconstruction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Federal Legislation References</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Issues</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Federal &amp; State Implementation of Legislation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Modification of Legislation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Funding of provisions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Impacts</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>On the economy, society, communities, families, individuals health and financial well-being</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Implications</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Public engagement in resulting public policies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Changes in insurance, care and financing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Massive educational programming</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Imperative</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Confusion, lack of understanding, potential for uninformed or misinformed decision-making and for fraud</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Interventions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Federal and state calls for action</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Professional actions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Land-grant system mobilizes its resources—research, education and Extension outreach</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Concerned citizens identify potential impact of the Medicare Modernization Act and actions they could take.

We bring legislators, faculty, and students together to promote a family perspective in public policy.

The Maryland Family Policy Impact Seminar is a series of seminars, forums, briefing reports and follow-up activities to inform the decision making of state policy makers. The seminar promotes a family perspective in policy development, enactment, and implementation by connecting research to policymaking.

Given the growing realization that one effective way to help individuals is by strengthening their families, the Family Policy Impact Seminar analyzes the effects of policies and programs on families. Rather than lobbying for a particular policy option, the Seminar provides policymakers with a neutral, nonpartisan forum for fostering dialogue and seeking common ground.

Activities of the Seminar include seminars, forums, briefing reports, roundtable discussions, and follow-up activities around specific issues that impact family well-being.

The Maryland Family Policy Impact Seminar is directed by the Department of Family Studies at the University of Maryland, College Park, and is part of a national network of state Family Impact Seminars.
Ecology of Health Policy

1. Citizen
2. Educator
3. Analyst
4. Advocate
5. Family & Community Policy:
6. Strategies for Civic Engagement

Produced by the American Association of Family & Consumer Sciences with funding from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation

Bonnie Braun, PhD.
Professor,
Department of Family Science;
University of Maryland

Specialist,
University of Maryland Extension

Faculty Scholar,
Horowitz Center for Health Literacy;
University of Maryland
School of Public Health