

Dear SLP Graduate Students,

On March 23, 2017, the University of Wyoming Board of Trustees approved the MS SLP Differential Tuition proposal. The MS SLP differential tuition rate is $115 per semester credit hour on top of standard graduate tuition rates (resident or non-resident). For information on standard graduate tuition rates, please refer to the student financial aid website. <http://www.uwyo.edu/sfa/cost-of-attendance/>

Earlier this year the Division held two town hall meetings to discuss why differential tuition is critical for the program. Reasons for the differential tuition include:

- to ensure that there is adequate funding to deliver the MS program and continue high enrollment,

- to maintain accreditation requirements for the MS program,

- and, to provide students curricular and clinical experiences required for certification and licensure.

The University of Wyoming MS SLP program continues to be very affordable, especially when compared to other programs in the mountain-west region. The differential tuition will go into effect beginning in the Fall 2017 semester for all students enrolled in graduate courses in speech-language pathology.

Mark Guiberson PhD CCC-SLP

Director, Division of Communication Disorders