

Statement of Diversity Equity and Inclusion (DEI)

The Division of Communication Disorders acknowledges, celebrates, and respects the diversity of our community, including but not limited to diversity of race, gender, religion, color, national origin, disability, age, veteran status, sexual orientation, genetic information, gender identity, creed, ancestry, political belief, status as a parent, and any other applicable protected category. We strive to provide equity and access to all, and to be inclusive of all. Our educational community benefits as a whole from knowledge of individual differences and backgrounds.

If you have concerns regarding our DEI statement, we encourage you to share your experiences with the Division faculty. DEI is integral to our mission of preparing students who will improve communication and hearing of others, and includes demonstrating excellence, respect, integrity, compassion, concern for the well-being of others, and accountability in all endeavors and creating an environment supportive of diversity in ideas, perspectives and experiences. All individuals in the UW Communication Disorders community are responsible for creating an inclusive environment where every person is valued and honored.
