The Office of Engagement and Outreach (OEO) invites full-time, tenured/tenure-track faculty, or academic professional lecturers/research scientists/extension educators (extended term track) to submit proposals for Faculty Engagement Fellowships available in 2020. There will be 3 awards given. Applications are due by 5:00 p.m. on October 14, 2019.

The goal of these fellowships is to invite proposals from a broad range of disciplines across UW from people working in public engagement, engaged teaching, engaged scholarship, and outreach focused on community impacts. These awards are planned for faculty working on projects across the 2020 calendar year. Fellows will receive a stipend of $10,000 and up to $2,000 to support outreach programs and travel expenses. Proposals can be from one individual or represent a partnership of up to two people who would share the stipend. Fellows will commit to monthly meetings to share and workshop projects collaboratively with faculty and outreach specialists, participate in OEO-sponsored programming including faculty development seminars, and organize at least one significant outreach program series both on and off campus focusing on faculty development and/or enhancing engagement and outreach in their field of study.

- OEO Faculty Engagement Fellowship. This award is open to a faculty member in any field of study, but with preference given to non-STEM and non-Humanities applicants.

- OEO STEM Faculty Engagement Fellowship. This award is funded through UW’s Science Initiative and open to any faculty member in a STEM field (broadly defined).

- OEO-WIHR Humanities Faculty Engagement Fellowship. This award is a partnership between OEO and the Wyoming Institute for Humanities Research (WIHR) and is open to any faculty member in humanities related fields.

Eligibility: Full-time, tenured/tenure-track faculty member, or academic professional lecturer/research scientist/extension educator (extended term track).

Additional Instructions: Special consideration will be given for interdisciplinary collaborative projects involving faculty working with graduate students or undergraduate students, proposals that enhance K-12 and community college partnerships, and/or proposals that build new capacity in collaborative and interdisciplinary engagement and outreach. Each proposal should clearly demonstrate how the proposed project addresses UW’s land grant mission, broader outreach and engagement mission, and a breadth of campus and community impacts (see OEO strategic plan at www.uwyo.edu/engagement).
Specific Instructions for STEM and Humanities Fellowships: Two of these fellowships represent a partnership between the Office of Engagement and Outreach, UW’s Science Initiative, and the Wyoming Institute in Humanities Research.

- The OEO STEM Faculty Fellow will work directly with OEO and STEM faculty to help build capacity to coordinate STEM-related outreach/engagement programming. The OEO/STEM Faculty Fellow will work directly with OEO, STEM Faculty and existing STEM outreach and in-reach programs to coordinate previously siloed programs’ events, assessments and outcomes and to build future outreach and in-reach capacity. The fellow will be chosen from a committee with representation from STEM faculty and OEO.

- The OEO-WIHR Humanities Faculty Fellow will work directly with the Wyoming Institute in Humanities Research and OEO to help build capacity in humanities engagement/outreach programming and enhance joint work between WIHR and OEO. Projects can focus on one or a combination of the following: engaged teaching/service learning, engaged scholarship, and community engagement/outreach. Projects should demonstrate how they relate to WIHR and OEO’s goals/priorities in engagement. Fellows also commit to participate in WIHR and OEO sponsored programming. The fellow will be chosen from a committee with representation from WIHR’s grant committee and OEO.

General Program Expectations. Fellows are expected to work directly with the Office of Engagement and Outreach Director, UW’s Engagement Council, and faculty across campus to build UW’s capacity in the area of identified community engagement and outreach. The strongest proposals should contain both a statewide component and a campus component and include a discussion on potential community college and K-12 collaborations. These components can include participating in or organizing campus professional development seminars, an in-reach activity for a campus and/or off-campus audience, and off-campus programs within their area of expertise (e.g., a Saturday University program).

Applicants must follow the instructions listed below. Otherwise, their applications will be deemed technically ineligible and neither be evaluated nor funded.

1. Submit this cover application form.
2. Submit a one- to two-page project narrative/synopsis that includes the project objectives, project overview and description, program specifics, targeted audience, and expected outcomes/deliverables.
3. Submit the budget form (last page of application). Outreach and program expenses only, including travel. This portion of the grant cannot be used for salary.
4. If applicable, attach documentation of invitations and details of hosting arrangements and agreements with community partners and/or colleagues to demonstrate genuine advanced planning.
Reviewers will rate applications based on the criteria outlined in the call for proposals: the goals; objectives; deliverables; benefits to UW that are clearly articulated to the OEO mission; and follow-up plans.

Application Deadline: Applications must be submitted with the required supporting materials as ONE electronic .doc, .docx, or .pdf file and emailed to OEO at engage@uwyo.edu by Monday, October 14, 2019, at 5 p.m. ONLY electronic submissions will be accepted. Incomplete and late applications will NOT be accepted! Notification of awards will be made by November 1, 2019.

Questions can be addressed to Dr. Jean Garrison, director of the Office of Engagement and Outreach (engage@uwyo.edu or 766-5202).
