2 UW REGULATION 5-1
3 Academic Personnel
4

5
6 A. ACADEMIC FREEDOM

8 Education flourishes only when academic personnel have both freedom and 9 responsibilities in the conduct of their official duties. These duties include: teaching
10 activities, including extension and outreach; research and other scholarly work; service;
11 and shared governance. Adopting a system of freedoms and responsibilities helps ensure 12 that the university can serve as a forum in which ideas may be examined openly and 13 rigorously, without implying institutional endorsement. Although many of these 14 freedoms are protected by the First Amendment of the Constitution, they also exist as a 15 fundamental requirement of the mission of the university.

17 The university adheres to the principles of the 1940 “Statement of Principles on 18 Academic Freedom and Tenure,” by the American Association of University Professors.
19 The following expresses the meaning of that statement, updated for current values.

21 Academic freedom in teaching protects the rights of teachers to teach according to their
22 expertise. Teachers are entitled to freedom in discussing their subject. Teachers have a
23 responsibility to ensure that their teaching is effective and consistent with the standards
24 of the discipline, understanding that disciplines may have diverse points of view on any 25 given subject. Teaching may involve controversial material; however, with academic 26 freedom in the classroom, teachers also have the responsibility to respect others’
27 freedom to express disagreement and alternate opinions.
28

29 Academic freedom in research is fundamental to the advancement of truth. Academic 30 personnel are entitled to full freedom in research, publication of the results, and other
31 scholarly activities that are part of their employment. Academic personnel have the 32 responsibility to pursue research and scholarship with integrity and fidelity to their 33 profession and the institution.
34

35 Academic freedom does not negate the rights of students and the public to disagree with 36 academic personnel’s work, although students are expected to learn material with which 37 they may disagree. Nor does academic freedom shield academic personnel’s work from 38 the consequences of expert review by colleagues in their field of study, which is essential
39 to the rigorous evaluation of teaching, research, and creative activity.
40

41 Freedom in university governance entails the rights of academic personnel to express
42 their judgments about administrative matters that bear on the university’s mission. It 43 includes the right to express agreement or disagreement with institutional policies and 44 the positions of others, including university officials. Academic personnel have the

1 responsibility to participate in university governance and service for the maintenance,
2 health and improvement of the institution.

3 Freedoms of academic personnel also include the ability to invite guest speakers and
4 artists, who are afforded the same academic freedoms and responsibilities of resident
5 academic personnel. Invitation of guest speakers and artists does not imply university
6 approval or endorsement of the expressed views.
7

8 When academic personnel speak or write as citizens, they should be free from institutional
9 censorship or discipline. They should remember that the public may judge their 10 profession and their institution by their utterances. Hence they should at all times be 11 accurate, exercise appropriate restraint, show respect for others' right to disagree, and 12 make it clear that they are not speaking for the institution.

25 1. FULL-TIME FACULTY APPOINTMENTS

26 Faculty members shall be appointed by the Trustees. Recommendations for 27 such appointments shall be initiated by the head of the unit in which the

29 recommendations shall then be forwarded through the appropriate academic 30 officers, who shall add their recommendations; the President of the University
31 will then forward his/her recommendation to the Trustees. No appointment shall 32 be binding upon the University unless accepted in writing by the faculty member
33 within the time specified for response, following action by the Trustees.

41 considered for reappointment annually for the term of the probationary period
42 specified in section D.

1 However, in appropriate circumstances, appointments may be for up to three
2 years; continuation during the initial multi-year term will be contingent upon
3 satisfactory annual performance evaluations. If one is reappointed at the 4 termination of the full probationary period, s/he will be granted tenure. Credit

9 Temporary appointments with faculty rank may be made to address specific 10 instructional or research needs. Such appointments shall not be for more
11 than one year in duration; however, temporary faculty may be reappointed

13 temporary professor does not entitle one to tenure and its privileges.

14
15 c. Visiting Faculty Appointments

16
17 Visiting faculty appointments to address specific University instructional 18 needs may be extended to faculty members from other institutions or 19 professional persons who possess special expertise. Such appointments may 20 be with professorial rank but shall not be for more than one year in duration;
21 however, a visiting faculty member may be reappointed subject to a

23 entitle one to consideration for tenure and its privileges.

24
25 d. Professor of Practice
