Excerpt from Essay

Throughout my two semesters of college, I have made endless amounts of memories and experiences on, and off campus. As some say, the first year is only the tip of the iceberg and I know that the rest of college is going to have positive ripple effect on my future. I know this, because it already has influenced my life for the better. So far, it has helped me mature, be responsible, work hard, and chase after my goals. I believe that college will continue to help me interpret different types of sources, better my communication skills, handle constructive criticism better, strengthen my work ethic, and expand my knowledge along with my opinions. Since I have been in college, it has changed my mindset to wanting to know more information and achieve great things, which will benefit my life in the future by helping me want more than just the bare minimum. I believe college will influence me to work harder and help create a better me. I am beyond grateful for the opportunity to continue my education at UW.
