UW Art Museum Curatorial & Collections Internship Opportunity

Overview
The University of Wyoming Art Museum is seeking an intern to assist curators and the collections manager with the development of a new exhibition featuring artworks from the museum’s collection by Oronzo Gasparo. The intern will gain firsthand experience working in a museum by conducting object-based research and writing as well as data entry. The internship will begin in September 2022 and conclude in April 2023. The intern will be compensated $15/hour, provided in partnership with the Honors College.

Located in the beautiful Centennial Complex, the University of Wyoming Art Museum shares in the transformative power of art through exhibiting, preserving, and interpreting visual culture from around the world. As an integral part of the University of Wyoming, we foster a deeper connection with humanity and a creativity that envisions new futures by engaging academic, local, state, national, and global communities.

Scope of Work
- Work 9-hours per week, up to 166 hours at $15/hour
- Assist curators and collections manager with researching and writing object descriptions for artworks to be shown in a new exhibition opening April 2023 including general research, creating a checklist of objects, and writing exhibition text
- Enter objects descriptions and information into database

Qualifications
- Motivated and reliable student excited to work on the exhibition project through completion
- Strong written and verbal communication skills
- Attention to detail
- Interested in art, art history, and exploring a future career in museums

For more information about the UW Art Museum and current exhibitions, visit our website: http://www.uwyo.edu/artmuseum/index.html

To apply please complete the online application by September 12, 2022. You will have to login with your UW credentials to apply.