A WORD FROM DEAN PAROLIN

Honors College students submitted many applications for the college’s paid internship opportunities. At this time, our partner organizations are in the process of onboarding their interns. As soon as I have a full list of the interns, I will make sure to share it with everyone. The internship program is really exciting – it recognizes that internships can be a big part of your education and even change your life, and that to make them truly accessible, it requires funds, funds that we are so happy to be able to provide. The Honors internships pay $15 per hour up to 133 hours, or $2,000.

I do want to note that a couple of our internship partners are still accepting applications: the Wyoming State Science Fair, run out of UW, seeks a great intern to start in November and play an essential role in supporting this year’s State Science Fair, which gets middle and high school students from all over Wyoming engaged in science. It’s a wonderful endeavor. As well, CyberWyoming is seeking an intern to start in January to help small Wyoming businesses adapt to the demands of cybersecurity in the modern world. CyberWyoming has funding beyond what Honors is providing, so the internship could be larger in scope and ultimately more lucrative.

Please consider applying for these internships. You can check them out at the following link. Good luck, and to everyone who already applied for one of the internships, I say “Way to go!”

https://www.uwyo.edu/honors/internships/index.html
Ask the Dean Feature in Honors College Magazine

Do you have a question for Dean Parolin? Please fill out the survey at the link below! Your question may be featured in our upcoming Honors College Magazine along with a personalized response from our Dean!

Ask the Dean Survey: https://forms.gle/peuhVBUeBg97HiH6

Spotlighting our Seniors

If you are graduating this semester we would love to highlight you in our Fall 2021 Honors College Magazine. Please complete the survey at the link below to be featured. Share with us your experiences, goals for the future, and capstone projects to celebrate your wonderful accomplishments!

Honors College Spring 2021 Graduating Senior Survey: https://forms.gle/dDAADbiCp2j7GZR8
UPCOMING SOAR OPPORTUNITIES!

- 10/21 - 6pm Women Entrepreneurship Week: Founding Stories
- 10/21 - 7:30 pm Momentum Project: Portraits of Women in Motion – Ellen Rowe
- 10/22-23 7:30 pm Las Pajaritas (WYOpen Stages)
- 10/22 - 11 am - 12 pm in the Guthrie House: Marlene Tromp coffee and snack hour
- 10/22 - 1 pm - 3:30 pm Economics Guest Speaker Charles Sims
- 10/22 - 5 pm Larsh Bristol Presentation
- 10/22 - 7:30 pm The Colorado Chamber Players
- 10/23 - 7:30 pm Duo Pragma

LOG INTO YOUR SOAR ACCOUNT FOR MORE INFORMATION

The Department of Classics at Florida State University invites applications to our M.A. and Ph.D. programs. The Classics Department offers MA specializations in ancient history, philology, classical civilization, classical archaeology, and museum studies, while the doctoral program in Classics is designed to train students in all three fields of the discipline (ancient history, classical languages and literature, and classical archaeology).

FSU faculty lead a variety of research projects in all three fields of classical studies and have been awarded numerous fellowships with nationally and internationally recognized research organizations (including the Humboldt Foundation, American School of Classical Studies at Athens, Albright Institute of Archaeological Research, Center for Hellenic Studies, Loeb Library). Faculty research has been supported through major grants, including from the National Science Foundation and the National Endowment for the Humanities. Research in all areas of ancient Mediterranean culture and literature at FSU is interdisciplinary in nature—spanning the philological, theoretical, material, historical, and digital. Research conducted by faculty typically involves FSU students, and its faculty invest in developing FSU graduate students as junior researchers, with its students regularly presenting papers at professional conferences and developing publications.

M.A. and Ph.D. students are funded through fellowships and teaching assistantships that carry stipends, tuition waivers, and insurance for a comfortable lifestyle in Tallahassee. The application deadline is December 15th, 2021. For more information about the program, please check out our website at https://classics.fsu.edu/.

For questions and comments please reach out to Andrea De Giorgi, Director of Admissions, adegiorgiefsu.edu.
HOME COMING
COFFEE
AND CIDER

Homecoming Coffee and Cider with the Honors College
Saturday, Oct. 23, 10.30 am, in front of Guthrie
(weather permitting; inside Guthrie if weather is harsh)
Alums, current students, and friends of Honors!

Gather after the Homecoming parade for coffee, cider and cookies

Tour of the Guthrie House at 11 am

Coffee Hour with a UW alum who is now a University President
Friday, Oct. 22, 11 am, Guthrie House front room
Meet Marlene Tromp, a UW Alum who is now president of Boise State
President Tromp will talk with Honors faculty and students
Topics will include her life at UW, her career path, how she has faced challenges, and advice for UW students
Refreshments will be served
Lead the Change

New Hosts for the 2022-2024 cycle will be announced Nov. 1

The FAO Schwarz Fellowship Program

An intensive, transformative two-year experience in the world of social impact

REGISTER FOR THE NOV 9 INFO SESSION

JHU Humanities Collaboratory Summer Research Experience

The JHU Humanities Collaboratory provides opportunities for high-achieving humanities students from community colleges and historically black colleges and universities across the country to participate in an intensive and innovative summer research experience through the Humanities For All Program and the Leadership Alliance First Year Research Experience (FYRE). The program is directed by Dr. Natalie Strobach, Assistant Dean of Undergraduate Research at the Krieger School of Arts & Sciences, and funded by a grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

This Summer Humanities Collaboratory is a unique approach to bringing together students from different branches of humanities scholarship to work together constructively while pursuing individual research projects. In some ways, this collaboratory is modeled after scientific lab research: while each student will be working towards an individual project, everyone will be gathered together in one location and encouraged to observe and engage their peers and instructors. The 2022 Collaboratory is currently planning to be in person on the Johns Hopkins Homewood campus.
PERCOLATE WITH YOUR PROF

- WED 10/27 - 10 AM MATT HENRY @ TURTLE ROCK
- MON 11/1 - 10 AM KENT DRUMMOND & SUSAN ARONSTEIN @ TURTLE ROCK
- SUN 11/7 - 10 AM CHRIS DEWEY @ TURTLE ROCK
- MON 11/8 - 10 AM ERIC KRZSIZANIEK @ TURTLE ROCK

Have coffee with one of our stellar professors! Beverage of your choice and a snack. (paid for by Honors of course)

Hang out with your professor and some like-minded students

Spots are limited but there are still some left!
Sign up here
The Palouse Review
A Literary Arts Journal

The fall 2021 edition will be published December 1, 2021.

Our editors are looking for carefully crafted work that demonstrates the literary, artistic, and academic excellence of our honors community.

The deadline for submissions is November 1, 2021.

Genre Specific Guidelines

Fiction: We consider short literary fiction. There is no specific length requirement but we suggest 5,000 words or less. All submissions must be the submitter's original work, previously unpublished by an online or print journal.

Nonfiction: We consider personal essays, biography, narrative anchored in fact or real events. There is no specific length requirement but we suggest 5,000 words or less.

Scholarship: We consider all topics within the humanities, social, and political sciences. We are looking for carefully crafted essays or research papers of a philosophical, scholarly nature. There is no specific length requirement but we suggest 5,000 words or less.

Poetry: We solicit styles of poetry. We accept a maximum of three poems submitted for a given edition of The Palouse Review.

Photography & Visual Art: We consider all forms of visual art utilizing all types of media, including photography, painting, drawing, assemblage, collage, graphics, design, constructivist works, and fiber art.

Literature: We are looking for original literature poems. The submitter must be the composer of the poem submitted but may not necessarily have written the lyrics. Submitting the score is encouraged but not required.

Digital Multimedia: We accept short videos animated films, documentary-style videos, and audio projects. Digital multimedia projects must be posted to a hosting service such as YouTube, Vimeo or SoundCloud.

palousereview.wsu.edu
Honors Advising Open Meetings
for Spring 2022 Registration:

In addition to scheduling 1:1 meetings with your Honors advisor, we have set up open office hours for either in-person or Zoom drop in meetings the week of Oct. 18th.

- Monday, Oct. 18th, 9am-2pm, Guthrie G10B – in-person
- Tuesday, Oct. 19th, 10am-1pm, https://uwyo.zoom.us/j/9237711611
- Wednesday, Oct. 20th, Noon-5pm, Guthrie G11 – in-person
- Friday, Oct. 22nd: 9am-Noon, Guthrie G11 – in-person
  No appointment needed.

Priority registration for Honors students begins on Monday, October 25 at 7:00 am. (you need to meet with your Major Advisor to receive your PERC (personal electronic registration code) in order to register on the 25th.

For individual appointments at a specific time with your Honors Advisor, use the scheduling links found here: https://www.uwyo.edu/honors/advising/index.html

We look forward to meeting with you soon!

Li Teng, Zach Taylor, & Laura Olson
HonorsAdvising@uwyo.edu
This Week in Colloquium

Each week during the fall semester we will feature one section of Colloquium I and the exciting and stimulating ideas they are exploring.

Colloquium I Section Spotlight:
Janice Grover-Roosa

Students from Honors Colloquium led by Janice Grover-Roosa explore concepts of dreams and reality at the Shell 3D and physics labs on the University of Wyoming campus. Check out their experiences in the video below!
Our Honors College food sharing pantry is open! If you're an Honors Student just come to the Honors College in the kitchen and take what you need! We're so happy to be able to offer this to our students, we sincerely hope you will utilize it.