

School of Pharmacy

Scholarship Profile

Victoria Milano
Class of 2018
Brush, CO

Student Bio

Victoria originally came to the University of Wyoming to pursue a degree in engineering. She switched to pharmacy soon after arriving to campus, when she decided she was more interested in a health field career.

Victoria lists participation in student activities as one of her favorite things about the School of Pharmacy. She notes that through Phi Lambda Sigma she was able to contribute to the annual health fair and see firsthand how hard work can pay off. The small school size has allowed her the opportunity to serve numerous leadership roles in school organizations.

Attending the Cardinal Health Student Leadership Conference as a P2 was also a valuable experience. She notes that she learned a lot from the conference and she is hoping to attend the AACP meeting this year.

Victoria is interested in infectious disease, trauma, and veterinary. She shares "the professors at the University of Wyoming School of Pharmacy are incredible and have always been willing to help me. I also enjoy the small class size. It has allowed me to make great lifelong friends, and we all experience the ups and downs of pharmacy school together."

Dean H. John Baldwin Scholarship

This scholarship was started by H. John Baldwin, who served as the dean for 16 years. Born in Ashern, Manitoba, Dr. Baldwin came to the United States in 1964 to study at Purdue University where he earned his Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy. With a rich teaching and administrative career in pharmacy at Purdue University, the University of Missouri, Kansas City, the Ohio State University, West Virginia University and then as the dean the University of Wyoming School of Pharmacy, Dean Baldwin believed that the success of the School of Pharmacy is due to the hard-working and dedicated faculty and staff, enthusiastic students and highly supportive and successful alumni.
