Wyoming State Parks, Historic Sites, and Trails is a Government Member of Tread Lightly! Tread Lightly! provides these general suggestions for recreating in natural areas and leaving the least amount of impact to the area:

T - Travel Responsibly on land by staying on designated roads, trails and areas. Go over, not around, obstacles to avoid widening the trails. Cross streams only at designated fords. when possible, avoid wet, muddy trails.

R - Respect the Rights of Others including private property owners, all recreational trail users, campers and others so they can enjoy their recreational activities undisturbed. Leave gates as you found them. Yield right of way to those passing you or going uphill.

E - Educate Yourself prior to your trip by obtaining travel maps and regulations from public agencies. Plan for your trip, take recreation skills classes and know how to operate your equipment safely.

A - Avoid Sensitive Areas on land such as meadows, lakeshores, wetlands and streams. Stay on designated routes. This protects wildlife habitats and sensitive soils from damage. Don't disturb historical, archeological or paleontological sites.

D - Do Your Part by modeling appropriate behavior.

ABOUT GLENDO STATE PARK

Glenbo State Park is located 33 miles north of Wheatland, Wyoming and encompasses 10,200 acres of land and Glenbo Reservoir.

For many years, Glenbo State Park has provided opportunities to camp, boat, and fish. With the recent trail development project, Glenbo State Park also provides exceptional opportunities for hikers, cyclists, wildlife and nature watchers, and anyone looking to spend time outdoors. Trail development at Glenbo State Park began in the spring of 2010. Currently, 45 miles of trails provide breathtaking views of Glenbo Reservoir and Laramie Peak. The trails at Glenbo State Park provide an inexpensive way to recreate and offer many benefits, including:

- relieving the stresses of everyday life for both children and adults;
- developing physical fitness and encouraging healthy lifestyles;
- reconnecting and reinvigorating bodies, minds, and souls;
- experiencing the sounds of nature through experiencing natural scenery and the smells and sounds of nature.

An additional 15 miles of trails is planned to be completed over the next few years.

ETIQUETTE

While recreating on the trails at Glenbo State Park, please abide by the following guidelines for trail users. Doing so will provide a safer and more enjoyable experience for all.

- Hikers yield to other trail users.
- Downhill hikers yield to uphill hikers.
- Do not disturb wildlife.
- Keep pets leashed at all times.
- Please pass with care and use verbal alerts in advance of passing.
- Be cautious around corners or blind spots.
- Select routes in keeping with your ability level and always maintain safe and controlled speeds.
- Stay on designated trails and cyclists are encouraged to always wear a safety helmet.

Under Wyoming law, any person who takes part in any sport or recreational activity, including equestrian activities, assumes the inherent risk in that sport or recreational opportunity, whether those risks are known or unknown, and is legally responsible for any and all damage, injury, death to him/herself or other persons or property that results from the inherent risks in that sport or recreational opportunity W.S. 1-1-123.

PARTNERSHIPS

The trails at Glenbo State Park have been made possible through grants from the Recreational Trails Program (RTP) and the Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF). Additional support has been provided through cash donations from private individuals, donations from many volunteer groups and the National Dulles Community Corps (NCCC), and partnerships with the Wyoming Conservation Corps, Wyoming State Lands and Minerals, Cheyenne Board of Public Utilities and the Bureau of Land Management.

Yes, you can support the trails at Curt Gowdy and Glenbo State Park through your monetary donations and/or by volunteering your time at one of our Volunteer Trail Building Days. For information, please call (307) 771-6333.

Wyoming Trails Advisory Council

The Wyoming Trails Council, made up of both motorized and non-motorized trail users, serves as a representative voice for the appropriate and diverse use of Wyoming’s trails. Trails Council members represent specific trail use activities such as snowmobiling, all-sensoir vehicle riding, off-highway motorcycling, horseback riding, bicycles, and cross-country skiing. Because council members are closely affiliated with those specific user groups, they provide unique perspectives to the council as a whole and to trail planning projects. Primary duties of the Trails Council include setting priorities for the Department of State Parks and Cultural Resources regarding the management of the state’s trails fund and off-road recreation vehicle fund. The Trails Council is also responsible for setting the guidelines for distribution of federal grant funds through the Recreational Trails Program.

INTERNATIONAL MOUNTAIN BICYCLING ASSOCIATION

Curt Gowdy State Park, located between Cheyenne and Laramie on County Road 210, is one of 25 miles of trails connecting Granite and Crystal Reserves. Specific features of the Curt Gowdy State Parks trail system include four mountain biking play areas, mountain biking skills areas, and a dedicated four mile exercise trail. The International Mountain Bicycling Association (IMBA) awarded the designation of Epic to the Curt Gowdy Trail System in 2009. This designation, the first ever in Wyoming, means the trail system provides a quality ride and quality experience for trail users.
