What is a FIG?

Freshman Interest Groups (FIGs) are living-learning communities which means that students who participate in a FIG will live together on a residence hall floor and take 2-3 classes together.

What does a FIG RA do?

The FIG RA is vital to the success of a FIG. Essential duties of a FIG RA include:

★ Work closely with faculty members to create engaging programs which closely relate to the theme of the FIG
★ Offer academic and college transition support to FIG students
★ Create a close-knit community of students with shared interests
★ Meet with the FIGs Coordinator to discuss ideas and ask questions

Why should I consider being a FIG RA?

As a FIG RA you will have the opportunity to:

★ Create a connection between course content and the UW and Laramie community
★ Build relationships with UW faculty and staff
★ Receive an additional stipend up to $250 during fall semester upon successful completion of FIG RA duties
