What are the qualities oil and gas companies look for when they hire interns and employees?

Longtime industry leader, Tom Botts, will present a discussion on the skills energy companies look for in new hires. Tom will provide insight into the future job market in the oil and gas industry as well as what types of jobs are growing in the industry. Join us to learn more about the important skills you can gain through your education that will help you excel in the energy industry!

For more information contact Nadia Kaliszewski at ser@uwyo.edu or call 307-766-4295.