

Welcome to the April 2006 issue of @uwyo, a digest of news briefs about the University of Wyoming. Want to have your @uwyo delivered to an alternate e-mail address? Send a message to foundation@uwyo.edu. If your e-mail is not set to receive HTML messages, you can also visit www.uwyo.edu/newsletter for a Web version of this issue.

National Champs

Justin Daraie, Riley Hopeman and fellow members of the UW Nordic Ski Team men's squad finished first in the United States Collegiate Ski and Snowboard Association (USCSA) championships in Sugarloaf, Maine. UW finished second in the women's team competition. Read more.

UW Receives Legislative Support for Personnel, Programs, Facilities and Scholarships

The Wyoming State Legislature, during its 2006 session, increased UW's budget by more than $166 million in critical areas ranging from employee salaries to additional faculty positions, facilities, programs, and matching funds.

Read the story.

UW Announces Spring Enrollment

Spring semester enrollment at the University of Wyoming is slightly up from last year's figures, according to a report submitted to the UW trustees at their March meeting. Read the story.

EnCana Gift Boosts Petroleum Engineering at UW

A $2 million gift from EnCana Oil & Gas USA to the University of Wyoming will create and provide equipment for new research laboratories for the university's resurgent petroleum engineering program. Read the story.

From the pages of UWYO magazine:

Up from Down Under

Coach Legerski's first international recruits prove to be worth the gamble. Read the story.

More Stories

UW Researchers Join in Carbon Dioxide Reduction Efforts

Three UW Professors Named Education Fellows in the Life Sciences

American Chemical Society Honors UW's Gerald Meyer

UW Men's Nordic Ski Team Wins National Championship

This is one bet assistant University of Wyoming Nordic ski team coach Rachel Watson is glad to lose.

Four years ago, Watson told this season's UW men's team members that if they ever won a national title, she would let them shear her long locks. The Cowboys wouldn't let her forget that promise after they captured first place in the United States Collegiate Ski and Snowboard Association (USCSSA) Championships in Sugarloaf, Maine, Saturday.

By that evening, the UW assistant coach was sporting an outdated mullet haircut, which nearly matched the men who cut their hair earlier in the team's traditional Mohawk style.

"The men have been working for this win for four years and they finally have it," says UW coach Christi Boggs, technology coordinator at the UW College of Education. "We couldn't be more proud of our athletes because they conducted themselves as true champions the entire week."

After winning two previous races earlier in the week, the UW men coasted in the final event, the 3x5 kilometer relay race finishing behind Cornell University. Cornell needed two other teams to place higher than the Cowboys to win the overall national title, but UW used its depth to secure the team's first-ever national title -- by the narrowest of margins.

UW finished the week with a team-low 62 points, just one point better than Cornell. Clarkson College (Potsdam, N.Y.) finished third with 100 points, followed by St. Olaf College (Northfield, Minn.) with 108 and the United States Military Academy had 213.

The UW women's team, which has won the USCSSA championships two of the past three seasons, finished in second place for the second consecutive season. St. Olaf won the women's national title with 52 points, 10 better than the UW Cowgirls. Clarkson College placed third with 103 points, Cornell had 125 and the U.S. Military Academy 192.

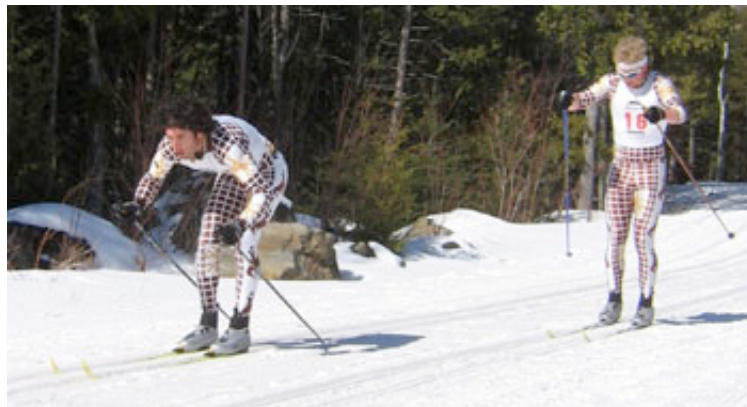

"The women had an amazing run considering that most of them were in their first-ever national competition," Boggs says.

The UW women also finished second in the final 3x5 relay race behind St. Olaf.

UW women skiers receiving individual combined All-American status were Kari Boroff, Daniel; Erin Hammer, Lander, sisters Liz and Katie Turner, Chugiak, Alaska, and Aubree Haffee, Pinedale.

Receiving honors for the men's team were Justin Daraie, Casper, and Riley Hopeman, Joe Howdyshell and Josh Peterson, all of Lander.

Go to Newsletter home page

Nordic Nationals -- Justin Daraie, left, and UW teammate Joe Howdyshell, earned All-American honors. (UW Photo)