An overview of my current and past research

Snehalata Huzurbazar

The purpose of this talk is to give an overview of my past and current research projects. One goal is to inform faculty who will evaluate my packet for promotion to full professor. Another goal is to introduce myself and my work to students in the department (and UW). I will also include an introduction to the Statistical and Applied Mathematical Sciences Institute, where I spent the academic years 2012-14, and highlight the opportunities available at SAMSI.
