Being able to work on the problems and then come together as a class was really helpful. I liked that there were a variety of questions.

Really helped me understand Psych better and gave examples which helped during the test.

I think the involvement from peers helped and worked well in the SI sessions. It was a great feeling like it was not a lecture, but rather a friendly environment.

It was helpful working different problems than seen in class. Also being able to ask one-on-one questions was great.

Working in groups and then going over them. I liked when the problems got a bit more difficult because it helped more with studying for the exams.

It was helpful having worksheets to work on and just an extra scheduled time to work and ask questions.

Having interactions from other students was helpful. My SI Leader was very helpful as well, she really knew and was prepared with the content.

SI is a series of out-of-class study sessions led by a student who has successfully taken the class before. It's a great way to practice the material and work with other students to learn the content. Students who attend SI tend to earn a higher overall grade in their course! SI works best if you attend the whole semester, not just before exams.
