

TRANSFER STUDENT PEER MENTOR PROGRAM

Kinsey Ashby

Hometown: Powell, WY

Major: Kinesiology, Pre-Occupational Therapy

Personal Interests: Anything outdoors, hiking, camping, adventuring with my puppy Flynn Rider, and drinking coffee!

Campus Involvement: Delta Delta Delta, Rho Lambda Honorary, and Campus Ventures

How I can help as your peer mentor (and former transfer student): I am a resource for you in any way I can help. Transferring is somewhat of a stressful product, however being organized makes it all easier. So, if you need help planning out your week, organizing different events, or just getting organized in general, I'm your gal!

What was I nervous about? I was nervous about not knowing where anything was, both on and off campus. To be honest, I still use my maps app to get around sometimes! However, with the help of friends (and maps) on campus, I got to every class on time.

What was I excited about? I was excited about moving to Laramie, a bigger town but, I think I was even more excited about getting to go to the football and basketball games with my friends!

Advice for an incoming transfer student: Get involved! It is important for any student on campus, but most important for transfer students to get a great feel of the school, meet new people, and have so much fun!

What is it like being a transfer student at UW? Being a transfer student can be exciting, nerve-racking, and life changing all at the same time. From yelling, "Cowboys! Cowboys! Cowboys!" at the football game, to rushing from one side of the campus to the other, and finally to meeting people you would've never met if you didn't transfer, being a transfer student at UW is awesome.
