1. Appointments

Name	Rank	Start Date	Salary
Chestnut, Kim	Interim Vice President for Diversity, Equity and Inclusion	4/13/2022 – 12/31/22 as interim VP for DEI	$250,000 ($216,000 base salary as VP for Student Affairs plus $2,917 per month for additional duties as Interim VP for DEI)

Kimberly Chestnut has led the University of Wyoming's Division of Student Affairs since fall 2019. Before being named vice president, Chestnut was UW's dean of students, a position to which she was appointed in 2018. She came to UW from West Chester University (Pa.), where she was the assistant vice president for student affairs. She also has held positions at the University of Colorado-Boulder, Temple University in Philadelphia, Berkeley College (N.J.), Antioch University Midwest (Ohio) and Widener University (Pa.).

Chestnut holds a doctoral degree in human sexuality education and a master's degree in education, both from Widener University; a master's degree in organizational psychology from George Washington University in Washington, D.C.; a bachelor's degree in psychology from the University of Colorado-Boulder, and a graduate certificate in diversity leadership from Temple University.

During her eight years at Temple University, Chestnut applied skills learned through the diversity leadership graduate certificate to participate, support and eventually co-lead numerous inclusion efforts for various groups across campus. In transitioning to West Chester University, she continued this work in supervising multiple departments connected to diversity, equity, and inclusion work and traveled nationally facilitating transformational social dialogue trainings. For the four years at UW, she has continued to invest in inclusion related efforts and relationships while providing divisional leadership to the various teams within multicultural affairs.

She is a member of the American College Health Association; National Association of Student Personnel Administrators; American College Personnel Association-College Student Educators International; Association of Title IX Administrators; Advanced Sex Educators and Trainers; American Association of Sexuality Educators, Counselors and Therapists; and Delta Gamma fraternity.
