University of Wyoming Mission Statement (April 2002)

The University of Wyoming aspires to be one of the nation’s finest public land-grant research universities, dedicated to serving as a statewide resource for accessible and affordable higher education of the highest quality, rigorous scholarship, technology transfer, economic and community development, and responsible stewardship of our cultural, historical, and natural resources.

In the exercise of our primary mission to teach and educate students, we seek to provide academic and co-curricular opportunities that will:

- Expose students to the frontiers of scholarship and creative activity, and the complexities of an interdependent world;
- Ensure individual interactions among students, faculty, and staff;
- Nurture an environment that values and manifests diversity, free expression, academic freedom, personal integrity, and mutual respect; and
- Promote opportunities for personal growth, physical health, athletic competition, and leadership development for all members of the University community.

As Wyoming’s only university, we are committed to outreach and service that extend our human talent and technological capacity to serve the people in our communities, our state, the nation, and the world.

The primary vehicles for identifying the specific actions and resource allocations needed to achieve this complex mission are the University’s Academic Plan, Support Services Plan, and Capital Facilities Plan, each revised periodically.

Associate Vice President Lowe proposed to the Board that the tuition waiver employee benefit be changed to allow all employees to take one class of up to 6 credit hours. She then provided a couple of staff success stories—employees who received their degrees while working at UW. Associate Vice President Lowe stated that this would include credit hours for the summer session as well. She stated that she feels this change will help with recruiting new employees to UW.

There was discussion by the Board with questions regarding what percentage of our employees currently take classes, how taking classes will impact the work of the employees, and employees making up the time away from their work for class.

MINUTES OF THE MEETING

Vice President for Administration Phill Harris briefed the Board on the FY 2009 Operating Budget Section 1. The total recommended budget for FY 2009 is $240,183,136, which is up $19,671,682 over the adjusted FY 2008, the current year. There is also $246 million reserved for the second year of the biennium. The $19 million increase is detailed by item in the Trustee Report, page 5.

Vice President Harris also noted there are special appropriations which were not included in the Section I Block Grant. One of those appropriations is for the School of Energy Resources. The funding for this will be from the Federal Abandoned Mine Land Funds which were recently released for this purpose. This special appropriation will provide approximately $8 million for FY 09 and $10.9 for FY 10 for the School of Energy Resources.

Another additional appropriation is for the Medical Education Budget. There are a number of programs within this budget. They include the Family Medicine Residency Program in Casper, the Family Medicine Residency Program in Cheyenne, the Washington, Wyoming, Alaska, Montana, and Idaho (WWAMI) Instruction and Contracts, Psychiatric Residency Rotation, Advance Practice-RN Psychiatry, and Dentistry Contracts for a total FY 09 budget of $15.3 million and $16 million reserved for FY 10. The FY 10 reserve is higher to reflect a 4% salary increase.

Vice President for Administration Phill Harris presented the FY 2009 Section II Operating Budget. The total budget for FY 2009 Section II is $161.2 million with a similar amount plus increases for FY 2010. He noted that these also include funding for ASUW and Student Media, as well as the Wyoming Union. Those expenditures were submitted and approved earlier this year and are included in this budget.

At this time Vice President Harris asked the Board to approve a construction contract for the SARAC Lab Addition and Congregate Residence to Norb Olin Constrution, Inc. of Wheatland, in the amount of $944,547, which represents the Base Bid of $939,797 and one alternate for $4,750. This request is on the Consent Agenda, however approval is required today, May 8, 2008, in order to award the bid within the 30-day time period permitted. If not approved today, the project would have to be re-bid, and a special meeting of the Board of Trustees would be needed to approve the contract.

Trustee Spicer moved to approve the contract as stated by Vice President Phill Harris. Trustee Haynes seconded the motion which passed unanimously.
MINUTES OF THE MEETING

Dean of the College of Agriculture Frank Galey briefed the Board about the programming offered through the Cooperative Extension Service. The Cooperative Extension Service is a partnership, jointly funded by the federal government (41%); the state (34%); and local counties (25%). Total expenditures for Cooperative Extension in FY 07 were $10.6 million which is about 44% of the College of Agriculture’s Section 1 Budget.

When the state accepts the federal funding it agrees to provide programming to the University in five areas: youth and community development, sustainable agriculture, food and nutrition, environment, and biosecurity.

To meet these goals, the College of Agriculture has developed two tiers of faculty effort. There are five initiative teams of faculty on campus and also faculty and educators in the field throughout the state. They have a statewide responsibility and also must be responsive to the county or region they work out of. As positions become open, they must look at the local, state and federal needs as they fill it.

The five initiative teams are:

4-H (25% of budget) The 4-H program focuses on youth leadership development.

Range Team (12% of budget) The Barnyards and Backyards initiative works with people who own a small acreage, and it helps them manage and take care of their land. They are starting to do more work with energy companies and land reclamation. Range science is a new program along with a drought task force.

Sustainable Agriculture  (21% of budget) Sustainable Agriculture programs include the Beef College, Master Cattleman Program, Production Advice, Young Beef Female Work, and Horticulture.

Community Development  (10% of budget) One of the most visible programs, it helps rural communities develop leadership. Some go on to the Leadership Wyoming program which the University is involved with. At the request of some of the county commissions, Community Development also offers Board Training to develop assets within the communities. They have also implemented programs to deal with the impact of energy growth, not only from the perspective of communities, but also from the energy companies because they are partners.

Nutrition  (32% of budget) This program is largely driven by federal dollars. Of those funds, two-thirds are used for the Food Stamp program. Health, nutrition and food safety are also in this program.

Dean Galey continued with an outline of what he would like to see in the next academic plan. His topics included:

1. Energy – The USDA has given the green light to spend some matching dollars in the energy area:
   - Community Development
   - Reclamation, possibly in the Energy School
   - Renewable Energy- Wind and Solar
2. Small Acreage
3. Partners with Cooperative Extension.
   - Water and Engineering
   - Climatology
   - Business
   - Arts and Sciences
   - Outreach (especially locations throughout the state)
Trustee Fear asked approximately how many employees the Cooperative Extension Service has throughout the state. Dean Galey said there were about 150 employees including county employees. He pointed out that they were not all UW faculty, but there were one to two academic professionals in every county to run the offices and provide expertise. In addition there are nutrition people throughout the state.

Trustee Fear then asked where a person should go to get the expertise they seek. Dean Galey responded they should go to the county office. Each office knows where to obtain the help needed in each particular instance.

In looking at the next academic plan, Trustee Rochelle wanted to know, whether Dean Galey thought the University should be doing more to emphasize its role in water resources.

Dean Galey felt that water is very important. He had recently hired some water quality specialists. In addition he had proposed sharing water specialists with the School of Energy Resources when the time comes to hire.

Trustee Rochelle asked if there was a good working relationship between the School of Energy Resources, Environment and Natural Resources, and the Law School. Dean Galey said he could not speak regarding the Law School, but there was excellent communication and cooperation between Energy and Ag.

Vice President for Academic Affairs Myron Allen added that if one was to pick any state in the union and put a School of Energy Resources in it and then ask if the College of Agriculture was a player, most would not see how that could be. However, Dean Galey and the College of Agriculture have been closely involved with energy resources.
Trustee Willson asked Dean Galey to comment on the sustainability of the Agrability concept in regards to helping the agricultural community and in regards to disabilities. What are the plans when the grant runs out?

Dean Galey responded that the Agrability program is quite strong in Wyoming under the leadership of Dr. Randy Weigel. The program offers access to national information and resources. Although it is a grant, from what he hears it is a good program and should be continued.

Trustee Willson asked if Dean Galey had any feedback regarding the reception of the Agrability program in the state. Dean Galey responded that the reception is wonderful when people use the service, but they are disappointed in the low number of people using it. He hoped that would change as the marketing phase gets further along.

Discussion ensued regarding Cooperative Extension’s role in helping energy impacted communities. Dean Galey mentioned that there were two positions for that purpose, one in Sublette County and one in Wamsutter. They work with community leaders through coordination and planning of projects such as infrastructure and other community services. It’s a big enough issue that there is a proposal, in this, year for a state-wide faculty position that would serve as a catalytic specialist to pull all of the pieces together. Trustee Fear added that one of the energy impact positions is in her county and childcare is a big issue. Education and facilitation will be the role for the Cooperative Extension Service.

Trustee Neiman asked, in light of the new Academic Plan, which of the five areas is the weakest and what is your plan?

Dean Galey responded that we need to maintain strength in all areas. Up to the last few years the Ag team was weakest, but it has improved. He would like to see Extension grow. Water, weeds and soils need to be emphasized, but community development needs to grow also. They only receive 10% of the budget right now. A new area is in energy, especially renewables. So the new Ag looks like it will be strengthening business, marketing, and the environment.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Jim McBride inquired if there was a relationship with Ag in the Classroom and offered his agency’s help. Dean Galey replied that they were closely tied in with the program and the college also provides continuing education classes in the summer for Ag in the Classroom teachers. Trustee Haynes added that we should brainstorm how we can find funds for the program. President Buchanan said that the Office of the President and the Ag office are both consistent contributors to Ag in the Classroom.

The Board thanked Dean Galey for his presentation and the fine job he was doing.
MINUTES OF THE MEETING

President Tom Buchanan introduced the topic of Fine Arts facilities planning. He mentioned the fact that the Trustees had toured the existing facilities at the last meeting, and they had a sense of the needs we have in that area. He said the process taking place now is similar to what was done for most of the building projects on campus in their planning stages. It involves fitting events together in a sequence because certain things cannot happen until other actions have taken place, such as legislative requests, remodeling existing facilities and relocating faculty and staff during the construction period. President Buchanan then turned the session over to Vice President for Academic Affairs Myron Allen to present a critical path diagram.

Vice President Allen explained that the diagram is a tool that provides a timeline, but it also shows what has to be done before later steps can take place. The Fine Arts facilities project involves two elements: first, a new building to house the Art Department, which will require accommodations for art needs such as kilns, ventilation systems, paints and all kinds of environmental considerations; second, the other existing building will have to be remodeled to adequately house Music and Theatre and Dance. Those departments need a different set of environmental controls, mostly acoustics.

It will be awhile before ground is broken. Level two planning takes about 14 months. If all funding and planning goes as outlined, construction of the art facility could start as early as the summer of 2011.

When the Art Department moves into its new building, the Fine Arts remodeling project of the existing building can start. This could take time since remodeling often is more complicated than building from the ground up.

Vice President for Administration Phill Harris added that the project is not easy in terms of being able to build adjacent to the existing building and that the complicated utilities in that area make it impossible. Razing the existing facility and building on the same site would not be economically feasible as the building was built in 1974 and replicating the square footage in today’s building environment would be prohibitive.

President Buchanan added that the Fine Arts Project is part of the East Campus Master Plan. The timing of this project dovetails with planning of east campus. The siting of this project is also within that plan. There are points along the way that require approval to obtain funding to move forward. This is one block in the whole plan going on for east campus. The Board will be presented with pieces of the project plan for approval as we move through this process.

Trustee Rochelle asked if this project would be part of our certification process. President Buchanan said that the Music Department is certified. Theater and Dance is also involved with their national organizations. Certainly the quality of the existing facilities are issues that have been, and will continue to be raised as various groups which are involved with reaccreditation and certifications visit campus.

College of Arts & Sciences Dean Oliver Walter added that music has long time certification. Each time the process is undergone, noise pollution is usually the issue.

Staff Senate President Allen Tanner asked if the music and theater departments will have to relocate during the remodeling phase of their building. Both Vice Presidents Harris and Allen were unsure how that would be handled. Vice President Harris said it is a detail that probably will not be addressed until the actual planning of the remodel.

Trustee Rochelle asked what is seen as far as private funding for the project.
President Buchanan responded that there have been multiple conversations about fund raising for this purpose at Foundation Board meetings. We do not have a specific proposal being that we do not have enough information regarding the project’s needs. We will lobby for the Fine Arts facility to be an institutional fund raising priority.

Trustee Lauer asked how much additional space for Fine Arts will go into the remodel of the building. Dean Walter said he thought it was about 1/3 more and with the absence of the Art Department, the overall additional space would be about 150% of the current area.

There being no other nominations, Trustee Lauer moved that nominations cease and that Trustee Lauer be elected by acclamation. Trustee Haynes seconded the motion which carried.

Trustee President Davis opened nominations for the office of Treasurer. Trustee Haynes moved that we abolish that office since we don’t handle any money. It was pointed out that this would require a by-law change. There was discussion about whether the position could remain vacant or if the current Treasurer should stay in the position until replaced. That person is Trustee Lauer who was just elected Secretary, which would result in a Secretary/Treasurer position. Trustee Rochelle asked if Trustee Bostrom would consider the position since he was currently on the audit committee and Trustee Haynes withdrew his motion. It was decided that this topic should be discussed and dealt with at some point in the future. Trustee Bostrom said he would accept Trustee Rochelle’s nomination with the provision that the position be evaluated in the future. Trustee Haynes seconded the nomination. There were no other nominations. Ann Rochelle moved and Trustee Haynes seconded the motion to elect Trustee Bostrom Treasurer of the Board of Trustees by acclamation. The motion carried.

Trustee President Dick Davis said the committee assignments will stay the same until the incoming President Chuck Brown makes new assignments.

Reports

ASUW

Newly elected ASUW President Kelsey Day introduced herself and her Vice President Jonathan McBride. They have been busy holding interviews to hire an executive staff for the upcoming year. They will be participating in freshman orientation in June and a ten week internship, meeting administrators, faculty, and staff to get to know the University better. ASUW recently formed a formal partnership by signing a MOU with groups around the community to expand the Safe Ride Project. They are working on a polling place on campus at the American Heritage Center. Ms. Day said she is grateful for the opportunity to serve as an ex-officio member of the Board of Trustees and looks forward to the coming year.

Staff Senate
Staff Senate President Allen Tanner gave an overview of his busy year as president. He thanked the board for their mentoring as he grew into his role as Staff Senate President. He said he was glad for the opportunity and sad to see it coming to an end.

Trustee President Dick Davis thanked Mr. Tanner for his report and expressed his appreciation for his comments and contributions at Board of Trustees’ Meetings.

Faculty Senate
Hannelore Mundt, Faculty Senate Chair, reported to the board that she and Larry Hubbell would be sharing the Chair duties for the coming year, due to her and Mr. Hubbell’s travel this summer and throughout the next year. Committee of the Whole- Regular Business

1. Audit and Fiscal Integrity Committee Report, Lowe
Associate Vice President for Administration Janet Lowe presented the committee report to the Board. She thought it would be helpful when working on the committee assignments to know the tenure of and expiration dates of its members. She said the by-laws call for at least three members. The committee now has four members which seems to work very well. Trustees Haynes and Bostrom have served one year of their three year terms. Trustee Lauer has served one year of a two year term. The committee will now need a new three year term appointment and a chair. Trustee Brown’s term expires this spring. She thanked him for his wonderful job.

Associate Vice President Lowe also reported that they will begin formal planning for the audit next week. It’s called the Audit Entrance Conference in which all the principals come together and have planning session. They will be working through mid November when they bring all the statements to the board for its approval.

Committee of the Whole- Consent Agenda

10. Approval of Wind Energy Project, Allen
Trustee President Dick Davis asked Vice President for Academic Affairs Myron Allen to update the Trustees on the Wind Energy Project, the approval of which is on the Consent Agenda today. Vice President Allen reminded the board that some time ago BP America gave the University of Wyoming a gift of $5 million with the specification that $2 million be used to support wind energy. The College of Engineering and Applied Science has looked this over to decide how to use the $2 million. The idea they have in mind is to bring in a larger wind tunnel than we currently have at UW. If they do that it will have to be housed in a facility. The question is whether that facility will be eligible for state matching funds for academic facilities. If it is to be eligible, it would have to have Board approval for state matching funds and appear on the list of approved facilities for matching funds. The question at hand is: would the Board of Trustees vote for approval of a wind facility being added to the list of state matching funds projects? If so, it could turn the $2 million into as much as $4 million from BP.
The question was raised as to whether any donations had come in with naming stipulations. President Buchanan said at this point there had not been any naming stipulations, but it may be open to discussion in the future.

Trustee Palmerlee said that because of his interest in wind energy, he had asked Dr. Jonathan Naughton give him a background on it. He said their planning is for the wind energy research to be unique in the US. We’re kind of the Saudi Arabia of wind here in Wyoming. We haven’t seen the tip of the iceberg yet. He would encourage the board to think positively about the wind tunnel project.

Trustee Willson asked if there was a single reason we should not approve this.

Vice President Allen could see none, but reiterated that this was not approval of the project, but approval to put the facility on the list of projects eligible for state matching funds.

Trustee President Davis reminded the board that this was on the consent agenda so no motion was required at this time.

Before the Board voted to approve the Consent Agenda, Vice President for Student Affairs Sara Axelson and the Director of the Office of Alumni Affairs Robbie Darnell reported on the progress of the UW License Plate Program and the scholarship proposal. They thanked the Board for their support. State Statute required they sell 1000 plates by 2016 and the goal was reached in March, 2008 with the sale of 1,594 license plates. The proposal before the Board outlines the final allocation of the funds derived from the sales.

Trustee President Davis asked if there were any more questions regarding the Consent Agenda. Trustee Spicer moved that the Board approve the Consent Agenda. Trustee Lauer seconded the motion which passed unanimously.

New Business
Vice President for Research Bill Gern reported to the Board about Undergraduate Research Day and provided a handout of the abstracts for the projects. He said it was a great day with impressive projects and he thanked Trustee Chuck Brown for attending and participating in the event.

President Tom Buchanan provided an update on the status of the General Electric project. After meeting with the Governor in Cheyenne recently, they agreed to ask Bruce Salzburg, Wyoming’s Attorney General, to lead the Wyoming team that would meet with GE as they move forward to establish a Joint Development Agreement (JDA). A recent meeting in Houston included Mr. Salzburg and UW’s representatives from the firm of Hogan and Hartson who have been retained by UW for the project. Also at the meeting in Houston were Vice President Bill Gern and his associate Vice President, Vice President Phill Harris and Rob Hurless, the energy policy advisor to the Governor. President Buchanan said the meeting went well and that we are on schedule to complete the draft stage of the JDA at the end of May. They officially brought Bob Ballard on board in April. He will oversee the day-to-day operations of the project. He brings many years of experience in these kinds of projects and will provide Vice President Bill Gern some welcome assistance.
The Joint Development Agreement will be followed by definitive agreements. There are critical decision points along the way. Unless things change dramatically, it appears likely that UW will be the entity that owns the facility. The approval process we are likely to use will parallel our existing capital construction process. It is being designed that way and the Board will be involved with decisions along the way. The project is on schedule and it is progressing as hoped.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Jim McBride inquired about whether there had been any talk about siting of the project. President Buchanan said he has had serious discussion with the Governor and the folks from General Electric. The criteria used for siting will be attributes most conducive to the success of the project. As soon as the JDA is in place, we should see some movement as to criteria for siting the project. Place in terms of the size of the footprint remains to be seen. But workforce and infrastructure are also considerations for placement of the facility.

There was discussion as to what type of research will be conducted at the facility and who holds patents on various processes on carbon storage, gasification, etc. These will be determined with the negotiating of the JDA.

Old Business

Regarding safety on campus, Trustee Haynes reminded the Board that at the last Board of Trustees’ Meeting he had introduced the idea of a paradigm shift. He suggested that we train our students, faculty and staff - anyone so inclined - in the use of firearms and firearm safety and that we drop the no firearms on campus restriction. The point of that is that if we were to have a psychotic outbreak, the odds of someone in the area being able to nip it in the bud would be great.

He went on to say he received the packet on safety distributed after the last board meeting and would like to commend everyone involved in its creation for the thoughtfulness, depth, and thoroughness that went into it. The Board needs to make the decision to direct the staff, through President Buchanan, to investigate all of the firearms training programs through the various juris doctor programs around the country to see what kind of training and course work we could have at UW. We need to be proactive.

Trustee President Davis agreed it was an important subject and needed to be addressed at some point such as a Board of Trustees Retreat later in May 2008.

Staff Senate President Tanner asked Trustee Haynes if he knew of any other institutions with such a policy. Trustee Haynes stated that he did not know of any and reiterated that we need to have a well researched and thought out policy that won’t happen overnight.

Trustee Neiman added that the South Dakota legislature had very heated discussion about the same proposal. It didn’t pass, but it was a very big topic.

Trustee Palmerlee thanked Trustee Davis for two years of terrific service as Board President. He took over at a difficult time and has done a terrific job for the Board. Trustee Brown also thanked Trustee Davis for his service, and said he enjoyed working with him the past few years.

Trustee President thanked all the Board for coming together and for the effort by all as well.
Date of Next Meeting
There will be a retreat May 29–30, 2008 in Jackson, Wyoming. The next meeting of the Board will be July 16-17, 2008 in Sheridan, Wyoming.

Adjournment
There being no further business to come before the Board, the meeting was adjourned at 2:15 p.m.
