Building the capacity of career development professionals through a network of state-wide support.

About the Career Development Network

The UW ECHO in Career Development will target career development professionals working in P-16 local education agencies and other community partners working to support and assist students in making informed career and academic decisions.

Who should attend:

Network participants could include career and technical education teachers (CTE), P-16 school counselors, school administrators, general and special education teachers, case managers, community college professionals, business and industry partners, and other members of an interdisciplinary team working to support students' successful transition to employment.

What is UW ECHO?

UW ECHO delivers virtual professional development to support community conversations around best practice in education, health, and disability services.

Benefits of UW ECHO:

- Increase the application of evidence-based practices
- Increase the self-efficacy of participants
- Participate in training and co-management of individual and district/agency concerns to improve student outcomes
- Attend sessions from any location using videoconferencing technology
