Building the capacity of school nurses and interdisciplinary teams to improve the quality of school nursing and deliver optimal student health for academic success.

About the Student Health Network

UW ECHO in Student Health provides ongoing support for school nurses and other professionals working to enhance the physical, mental, and emotional well-being of K-12 school-aged students.

Who should attend:

Network participants could include school nurses, school administrators, school counselors, health and physical education teachers, school psychologists, primary care providers, primary care staff, healthcare administrators, and state agency staff.

What is UW ECHO?

UW ECHO (Extension for Community Healthcare Outcomes) delivers virtual professional development to support community conversations around best practice in education, health, and disability services.

Benefits of UW ECHO Networks:

- Increase the application of evidence-based practices
- Increase the self-efficacy of participants
- Participate in training and co-management of individual and district/ agency concerns to improve student outcomes
- Attend sessions from any location using videoconferencing technology
