

Figure 5-20. Normal hysterosalpingogram (above). Spillage of dye from the infundibular ends of the oviducts indicates patency. Both tubes are blocked beyond the tubo-uterine junctions in the hysterosalpingogram shown below. The most common causative factor in tubal blockage is inflammatory insult.