Summit Goals

1. Consider what student work on assessments of key concepts tells us about teacher expectations, student learning, and student success in the life sciences.
2. Work collaboratively to integrate Common Core State Standards. Specifically, discuss how current summative assessments in science address the Common Core State Standards for writing.
3. Gain a greater understanding of how we approach instruction and formative assessments that lead to these summative assessments.
4. Continue fostering conversation and collaboration across secondary and postsecondary levels after this summit.
