

UW

Department of Psychology
Wyoming Center
on Aging

MINOR IN AGING STUDIES

WHY PURSUE A MINOR IN AGING STUDIES?

By 2030, one-fifth of the US population will be over age 65.

There is a great demand for professionals with expertise in aging.

Gain hands-on experiences through an internship in a setting that interests you.

The Minor in Aging Studies is complimentary to any major!

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

(18 credit hours total)

---

- Core Courses

- Fundamentals of Aging - FCSC 2110
- Community Resources for Older Adults - PSYC 3400
- Aging Minor Internship - PSYC 4970

- Elective Courses

- 9 credits hours - 6 of which must be outside the student's major

Now is the perfect time to consider a Minor in Aging Studies from UW! People are living longer than ever before and populations are aging worldwide. The gift of old age presents numerous opportunities in a wide variety of careers. The demand for professionals with expertise in aging is growing rapidly. Whether your interest is in healthcare, social services, business, or a number of other fields, a Minor in Aging Studies will compliment your declared major.

Questions? Contact us!

Catherine Carrico, PHD, Clinical Associate Professor
Department of Psychology
Associate Director, Wyoming Center on Aging (WYCOA)

ccarrico@uwyo.edu | (307) 766-6687