

Minor in Aging Studies

Now is the perfect time to consider a Minor in Aging Studies from UW! People are living longer than ever before and populations are aging worldwide. The gift of old age presents numerous opportunities in a wide variety of careers. The demand for professionals with expertise in aging is growing rapidly. Whether your interest is in healthcare, social services, business, or a number of other fields, a Minor in Aging Studies will compliment your declared major.

Why pursue a Minor in Aging Studies at the University of Wyoming?

- By 2030, one-fifth of the US population will be over age 65.
- There is great demand for professionals with expertise in aging.
- Gain hands-on experiences through an internship in a setting that interests you.
- The Minor in Aging Studies is complimentary to ANY major!

Course Requirements for the Minor in Aging Studies (18 credit hours total)

Core Courses

Medical Terminology – NURS 2240

Fundamentals of Aging – FCSC 2110

Internship – HLSC 4985

Elective Courses (9 credits hours – 6 of which must be outside the student's major)

Contact us!

Catherine Carrico, PhD, Clinical Associate Professor Department of Psychology
Associate Director, Wyoming Center on Aging (WYCOA)
(307) 766 – 6687
ccarrico@uwyo.edu

College of Arts and Sciences
Department of Psychology

