Geography Brown Bag Series

All Things Geography

Spring 2015, Friday’s 12:00-1pm
A&S 401 (unless noted otherwise)
Jointly Sponsored by
Department of Geography and WyGISC

Feb. 6  Dr. Bryan Shuman, Associate Professor and Director, UW Department of Geology and Geophysics and UW Quaternary Center. “The role of climate change in the Holocene biogeography and abrupt decline of a North American tree species, eastern hemlock (Tsuga canadensis).”

Feb. 13 Dr. Todd Surovell, Associate Professor and Director, UW Department of Anthropology and Frison Institute. “Human spatial positioning and its archeological significance: A case study among Mongolia’s reindeer herders.”

Feb. 20 Ecology Student Symposium: 12:15-1:15p, Keynote Address. Dr. Lise Aubry, Utah State University. Note location: Berry Center Auditorium (rm. 138)

Feb. 27 Dr. Lilia Soto, Assistant Professor, UW American Studies and Latina/o Studies. “What’s in the roots?: Identities and Narratives of the Napa Valley.”

Mar. 6 Joshua Fredrickson, UW Geography/Water Resources Alumnus and Wyoming Hydrographer-Commissioner. “Life after UW: A job (or maybe a career) with the Wyoming State Engineer’s Office.”

(no Brown Bag Mar. 13 (Fri before Spring break), and Mar. 20 (Spring break)

Mar. 27 (No Brown Bag, State Geography Bee)

Apr. 3 (No Brown Bag, Advising Week)

Apr. 10 Dr. William Gribb, Professor, UW Department of Geography. “An innovative way to determine parking demand by 3-D land use in downtown Laramie, WY.”

Apr. 17 Association of American Geographers Student practice presentations.

Apr. 24 (No Brown Bag, AAG national meeting)

May 1 Dr. Christy Briles, Assistant Professor, University of Colorado-Denver Department of Geography and Environmental Science. “Holocene human-environmental interactions in southern Australia and north-coastal Vietnam.”

Please feel free to bring your lunch to our forums. For more information about these talks please visit www.uwyo.edu/wygisc