

DENNIS CARRUTH

PRESIDENT, CARRUTH PROPERTIES

Bachelor of Science 1966, General Engineering;
Master of Business Administration, 1968

Having grown up in Sinclair, Wyoming and on a ranch north of Steamboat Springs, Dennis has called Colorado home for decades. The founder and president of Carruth Properties Company, he launched his real estate career in 1973, when he joined a company that partnered with Johns Manville to develop Ken-Caryl Ranch; the Elkhorn master planned community in Sun Valley, Idaho and a project in New Jersey called the Hills. Ever since, he has been a leader in the development of Ken-Caryl Ranch and Ken-Caryl Business Center and a recognized small business leader on the Front Range. Current projects include several hundred units of residential development at Ken-Caryl Ranch and a high-end new cabin development at Roaring Fork Club in the Roaring Fork Valley.

Carruth is grateful for opportunities over the years to contribute as board member for such organizations as Homebuilders Association of Metro Denver, Governor's Metropolitan Water Roundtable, University of Colorado Hospital Authority, Colorado Health Facilities Authority, Jefferson County Economic Development Authority, Vail Buddy Werner League and Aspen Valley Ski and Snowboard Association...currently University of Wyoming College of Business and The Trust for Public Land. Dennis resides in the Roaring Fork Valley with Penney, a former COB Board member and long-standing successful Aspen real estate broker. Ongoing interests/passions include time with family and friends, travel, skiing, golf, hiking, reading and writing.
