Mateline Moore is a Senior Consultant with Deloitte Consulting, LLP, a large, international consulting firm.

In her current role, Mateline's focus is on providing positive outcomes to large universities and academic medical centers. Her specialty is in the implementation of cloud-based financial systems with these institutions – driving the streamlining of accepted business processes, leading change management efforts, and developing leading practices. Mateline previously worked for a smaller firm, Huron Consulting Group, which she was recruited to during her time at the University of Wyoming.

Mateline graduated from the University in May of 2018 with a BS in Finance and Economics and minors in Decision Science and Banking and Financial Services. While at the University, Mateline was an ambassador for the Admissions office, and a member of Chi Omega Sorority – an organization she is still involved with as an alumna.

After graduation, Mateline moved to Chicago to begin her professional career, but has since moved back to the West and settled in Denver.
