

The Military Justice/Judge Advocate General program was a singular course taught at the Law School in the spring of 2019. The course & program have not been offered since the departure of the faculty member with the necessary expertise. As part of the College of Law's budget reduction for FY21 onward, the college eliminated this faculty position.