The American Heritage Center (AHC) is the University of Wyoming’s home for historical manuscripts, rare books, and University archives. The AHC collects and shares unique and significant material in all formats, documenting the lives of people, communities, organizations, and landscapes. Strengths include Wyoming and the American West, politics and public policy, ranching and energy, entertainment and popular culture, industry, transportation, and military history. The documents and archives held by AHC serve as raw data for scholarship and heritage work, and support thriving communities of place, identity, and interest in Wyoming and beyond.
On behalf of the American Heritage Center, I want to express my thanks for your thoughtful gifts. Your generous charitable contribution will support the ongoing activities and the initiatives of the American Heritage Center (AHC), the University of Wyoming’s archive for historical documents, rare books, and university archives. Your gift helps enable the American Heritage Center to collect, preserve and share the documents, photos and other historical records the Center maintains. Here is what the Center has been doing recently.

Bringing in new collections: The AHC brings in new collections almost weekly. In recent months, we have brought in several collections from geologists who worked in the West, across the country and internationally. The Center’s national and international scope has led to the acquisition of the collection of ASOR—the American Society of Overseas Research—the society of American archaeologists excavating in the Middle East. The collection contains materials that go back a century. And, just coming over the transom are the records of the western, conservation-oriented magazine High Country News, founded by Wyoming’s own Tom Bell.

Hosting Wyoming History Day (WHD): The Wyoming state-level competition for National History Day was held on May 1st, here on the University of Wyoming campus in Laramie. More than 100 students competed in both middle school and high school categories, featuring historical presentations through videos, in-person skits, papers, poster presentations and websites. The new coordinator worked to streamline the process and everyone from teachers to judges to volunteers agreed that it was the best WHD event in years. More than a dozen students and student teams went on to take part in the national competition.

Mounting New Exhibits: AHC Photographer Theoren Shepard has mounted two new exhibits from AHC collections that will be on display at the AHC until November 1, 2023. The first is “The Art of the Railroad” which shows historical and contemporary photographs that reveal the artistic appeal that oftentimes appears in the rough, mechanical nature of the railroad. The second is “Artwork of the West: The American Frontier from Four Artists.” It includes works by Hans Kleiber, Carrie Arnold, Estelle Ishigo, and Thomas Kennet-Were. With the exception of Kennet-Were, these artists sought to portray everyday occurrences in their home towns, focusing on their place in the west rather than the west itself.

As the American Heritage Center seeks to bring its collections to the general public as well as to researchers, I would like to ask you to join me in supporting that effort with a financial contribution. Thank you for your passion and assistance as the AHC continues its work to serve its growing audiences!

Sincerely,
Paul Flesher, Director
American Heritage Center

The Toppan Rare Book Library had a productive and exciting year and saw growth in many areas.

"New acquisitions included seven sub-collections added over 1,000 books to the library"

Toppan curator Mary Beth Brown was accepted and awarded a partial scholarship by the California Rare Book School for a course in the history of children’s literature. While Elizabeth Kuntz, Toppan cataloger, resigned during the summer of 2022 for another position, we soon hired two full-time employees and welcomed Marcus Holscher, Toppan Rare Book Assistant, and Emma Comstock, cataloger.

During the spring 2023 semester, Toppan had two Museum Studies interns who worked on various projects and helped with processing book collections and installing a traveling book arts exhibit sponsored by the Rocky Mountain Book Chapter of the Guild of Book Workers. The exhibit titled “OPEN: A Traveling Exhibition Celebrating Fine Binding and Book Arts” was on display from April 17 through May 23, 2023. During the academic year, 24 classes and tours (numbering 318 people) visited Toppan.

New acquisitions included seven sub-collections which added over 1,000 books to the library. The collections that were accessioned during this year included:

- Nancy Anderson (August 2022) - 3 items
- Barratt Family and Olga Moore Arnold (November 2022) - 341 books
- Leroy and Sue Milner (April 2023) - 34 books
- Jack Phillips (May 2023) - 1 book
- Coe Deacc (May 2023) - 17 books
- James Brooks Mitchell (May 30, 2023) - 642 books
- John and Barb Messineo (Ongoing since June 2023) – donation is ongoing
- Connie Marcus (July 2023) - 27 books
- Total: 1,065 books

Aside from cataloging, our main priority this year was to inventory the collection allowing us to have an accurate number of the books in the collection, but also identify and prioritize unprocessed and uncatalogued collections. Since the hiring of Emma Comstock in February 2023, we have catalogued 368 books and processed several backlogged collections. As the year ended, we (along with Coe Library) were in the middle of a library system conversion and working through changes to our processes.
Newly Accessible

The faculty and staff of the American Heritage Center serve in leadership and participatory roles in many professional and scholarly organizations:

- Coordinator and grant-writer to support the nine-city Wyoming tour of A Sissy in Wyoming, a play written and read by Gregory Hinton about the life of Larry “Sissy” Goodwin, September 30 to October 9, 2022.
- Project director for completion of two-year (2020-2022) IMLS grant to digitize AHC primary sources for Wyoming History Day website (www.wyominghistoryday.org).
- Co-coordinator with UW American Studies faculty member Andrea Graham in conducting oral history project and UW graduate student field school to explore changes in the coal economy of Kemmerer and Diamondville, Wyoming, May-June 2022.
- Coordinator of oral history project, “Prominent Wyoming Resident’s Oral History Project, 2021-2022” (Accession #560007) to interview Wyoming residents who offer a unique perspective to Wyoming and may have been overlooked by historians, biographers, and other scholars. Interviews were conducted by Sandra Holyoak and Anne MacKinnon.
- Co-coordinator with Wyoming State Archivist Sara Davis in NHPRC-funded grant project to establish a Roving Archivist Program (RAP) in Wyoming. One-year grant funding allowed the hiring of professional archivist to create needs-based survey and directory of institutions holding archival materials to form the basis for establishing RAP services, 2022 to present.
- President, Wyoming Historical Society through September 2022.
