

The Story Behind the Study

Jennifer Sharples Reichenberg, Ph.D.

Medaille College

Buffalo, NY

1998

April 2015

Writing
my proposal

October 2016

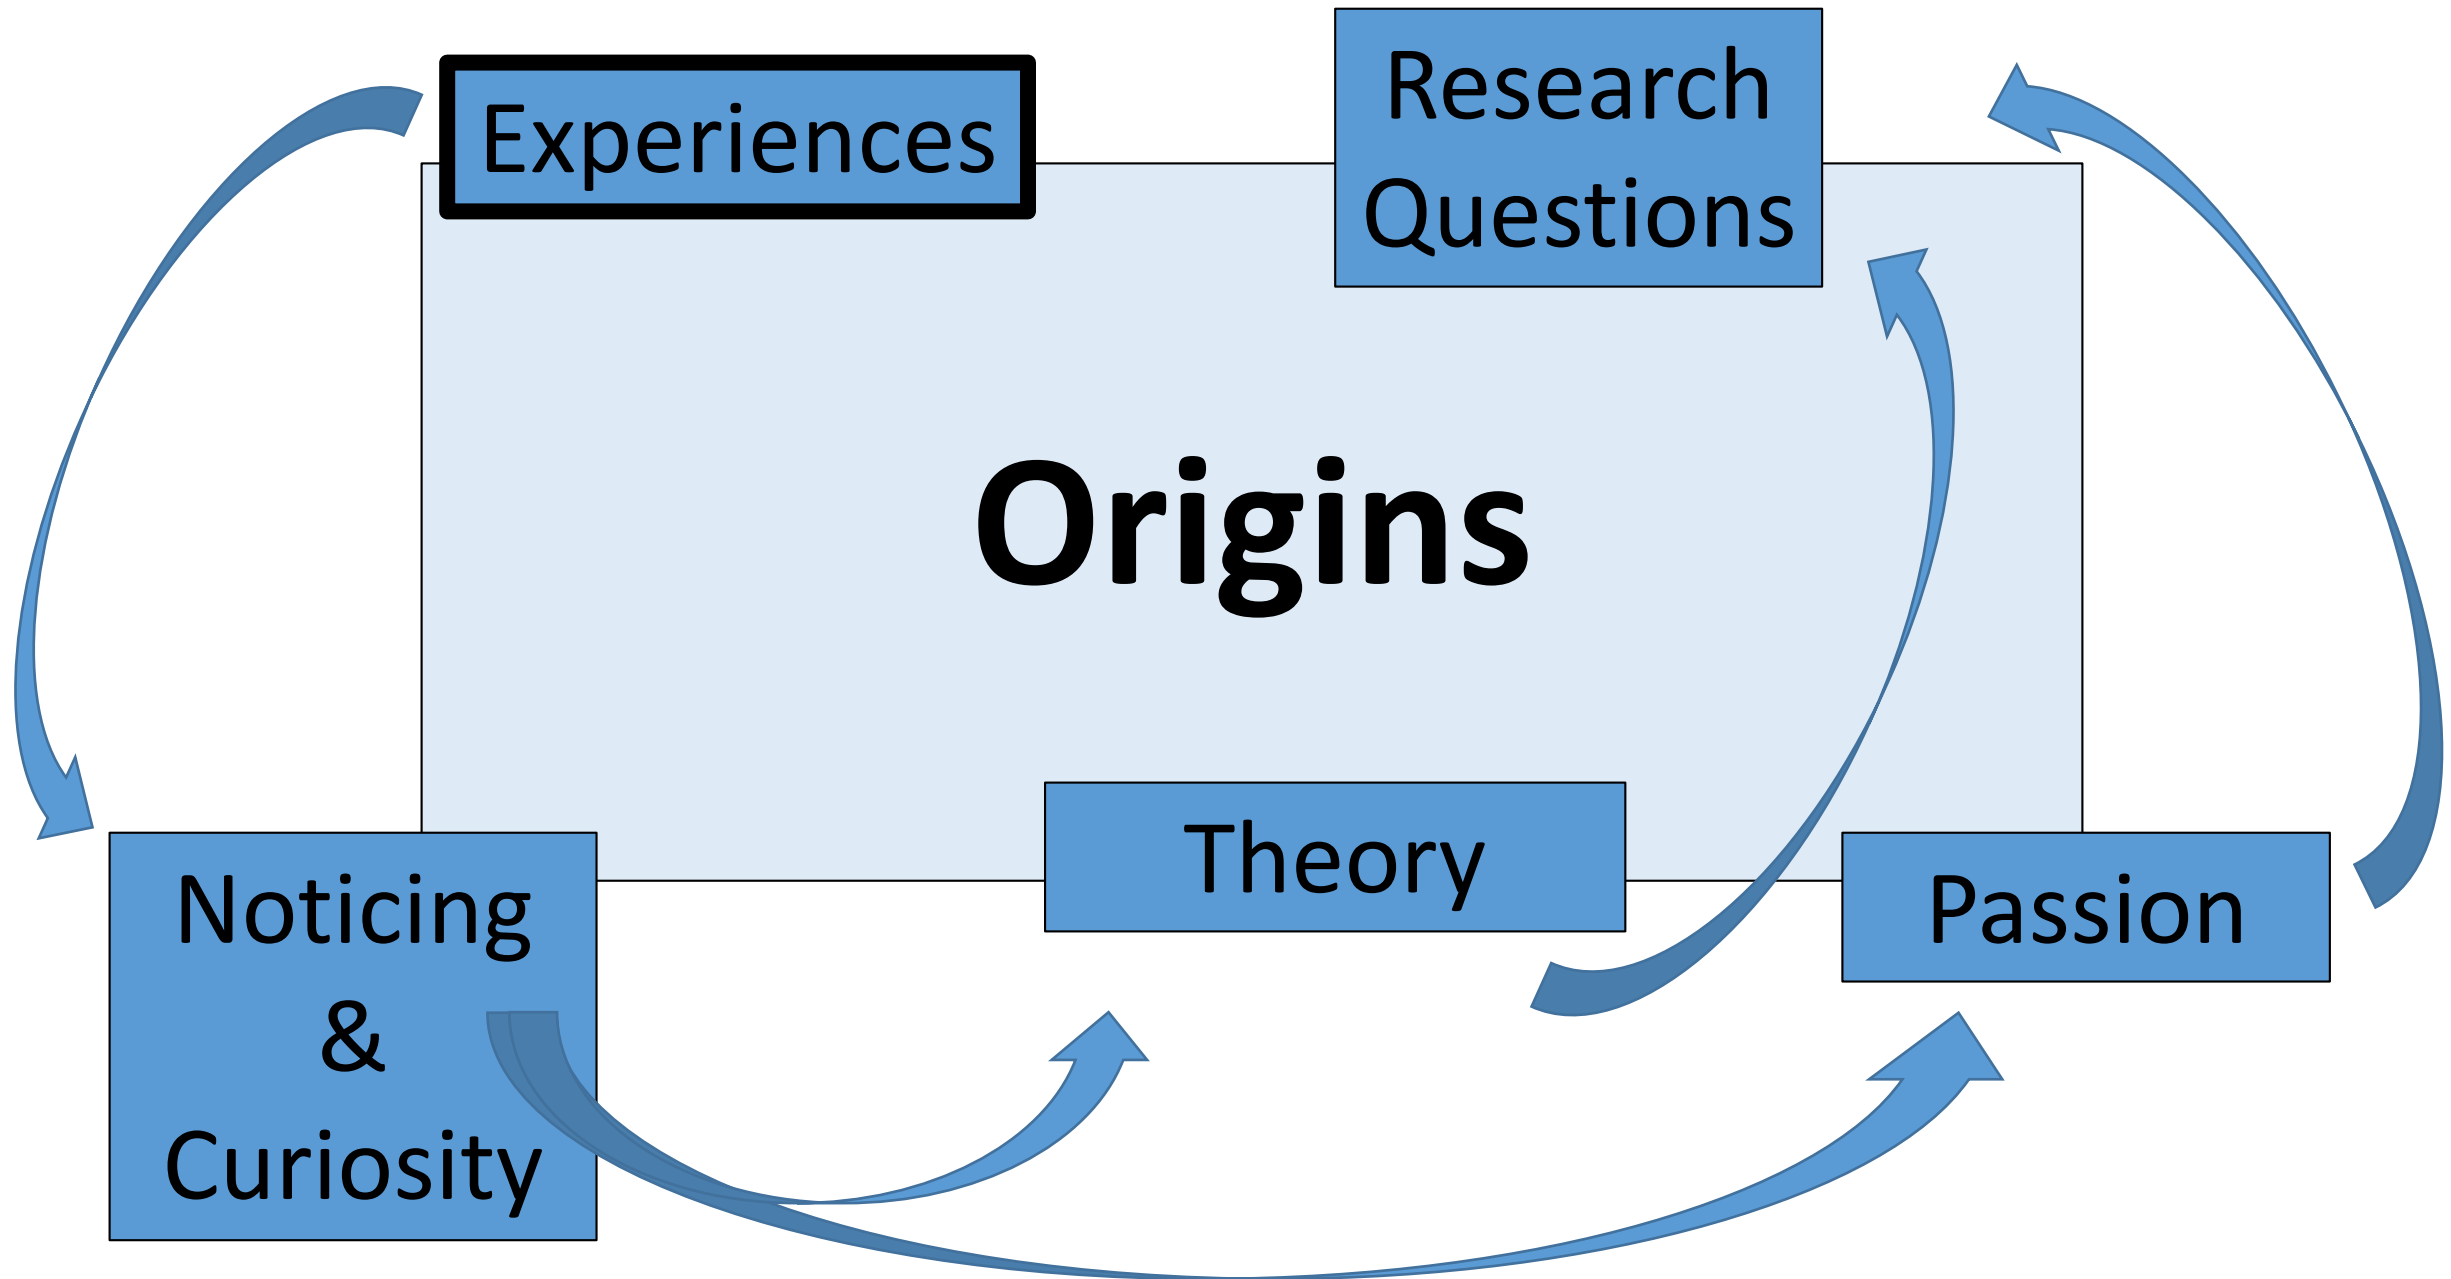

Defending
my dissertation

Experiences

<https://www.bing.com/images/search?view=detailV2&ccid=BeE%2fPYch&id=1D1D729A946BE8FE6A6768566C190353D967489&q=image+school&simid=608011411634455107&selectedIndex=27&qft=+filterui%3alicense-L1&ajaxhist=0>

Creation of Formative Assessments

Instruction

Literacy Specialist
Rural Primary School

Text Complexity

Guided
Reading

Running Reading
Records:
Administration, Analysis, Informing Instruction

Experiences

Literacy Needs Assessments

<https://www.bing.com/images/search?view=detailV2&ccid=N8o6XjMP&id=541330FAF5D26A7692948E28DB98B5A7C4CE83BA&q=image+school&simid=608054730672376509&selecteIndex=20&qft=+filterui%3alicense-L1&ajaxhist=0>

Text Complexity

Guided Reading

Book Clubs

Literacy Consultant

Two Urban Schools
Prekindergarten – Grade 6
&
Grades 6 – 8

Suburban Elementary School
Kindergarten – Grade 4

Information Sessions for Parents of English Language Learners

Running Reading Records: Administration, Analysis, Informing Instruction

Experiences

Text Complexity
and Scaffolding

Literacy Instruction in the Disciplines

Using Assessment to Inform Instruction

<https://www.bing.com/images/search?view=detailV2&ccid=5Pi4MVv5&id=8DBA085DBE9A200BA8FAE04E4A409F79663531DA&q=image+school&simid=608022234942672736&selectedIndex=22&qft=+filterui%3alicense-L1&ajaxhist=0>

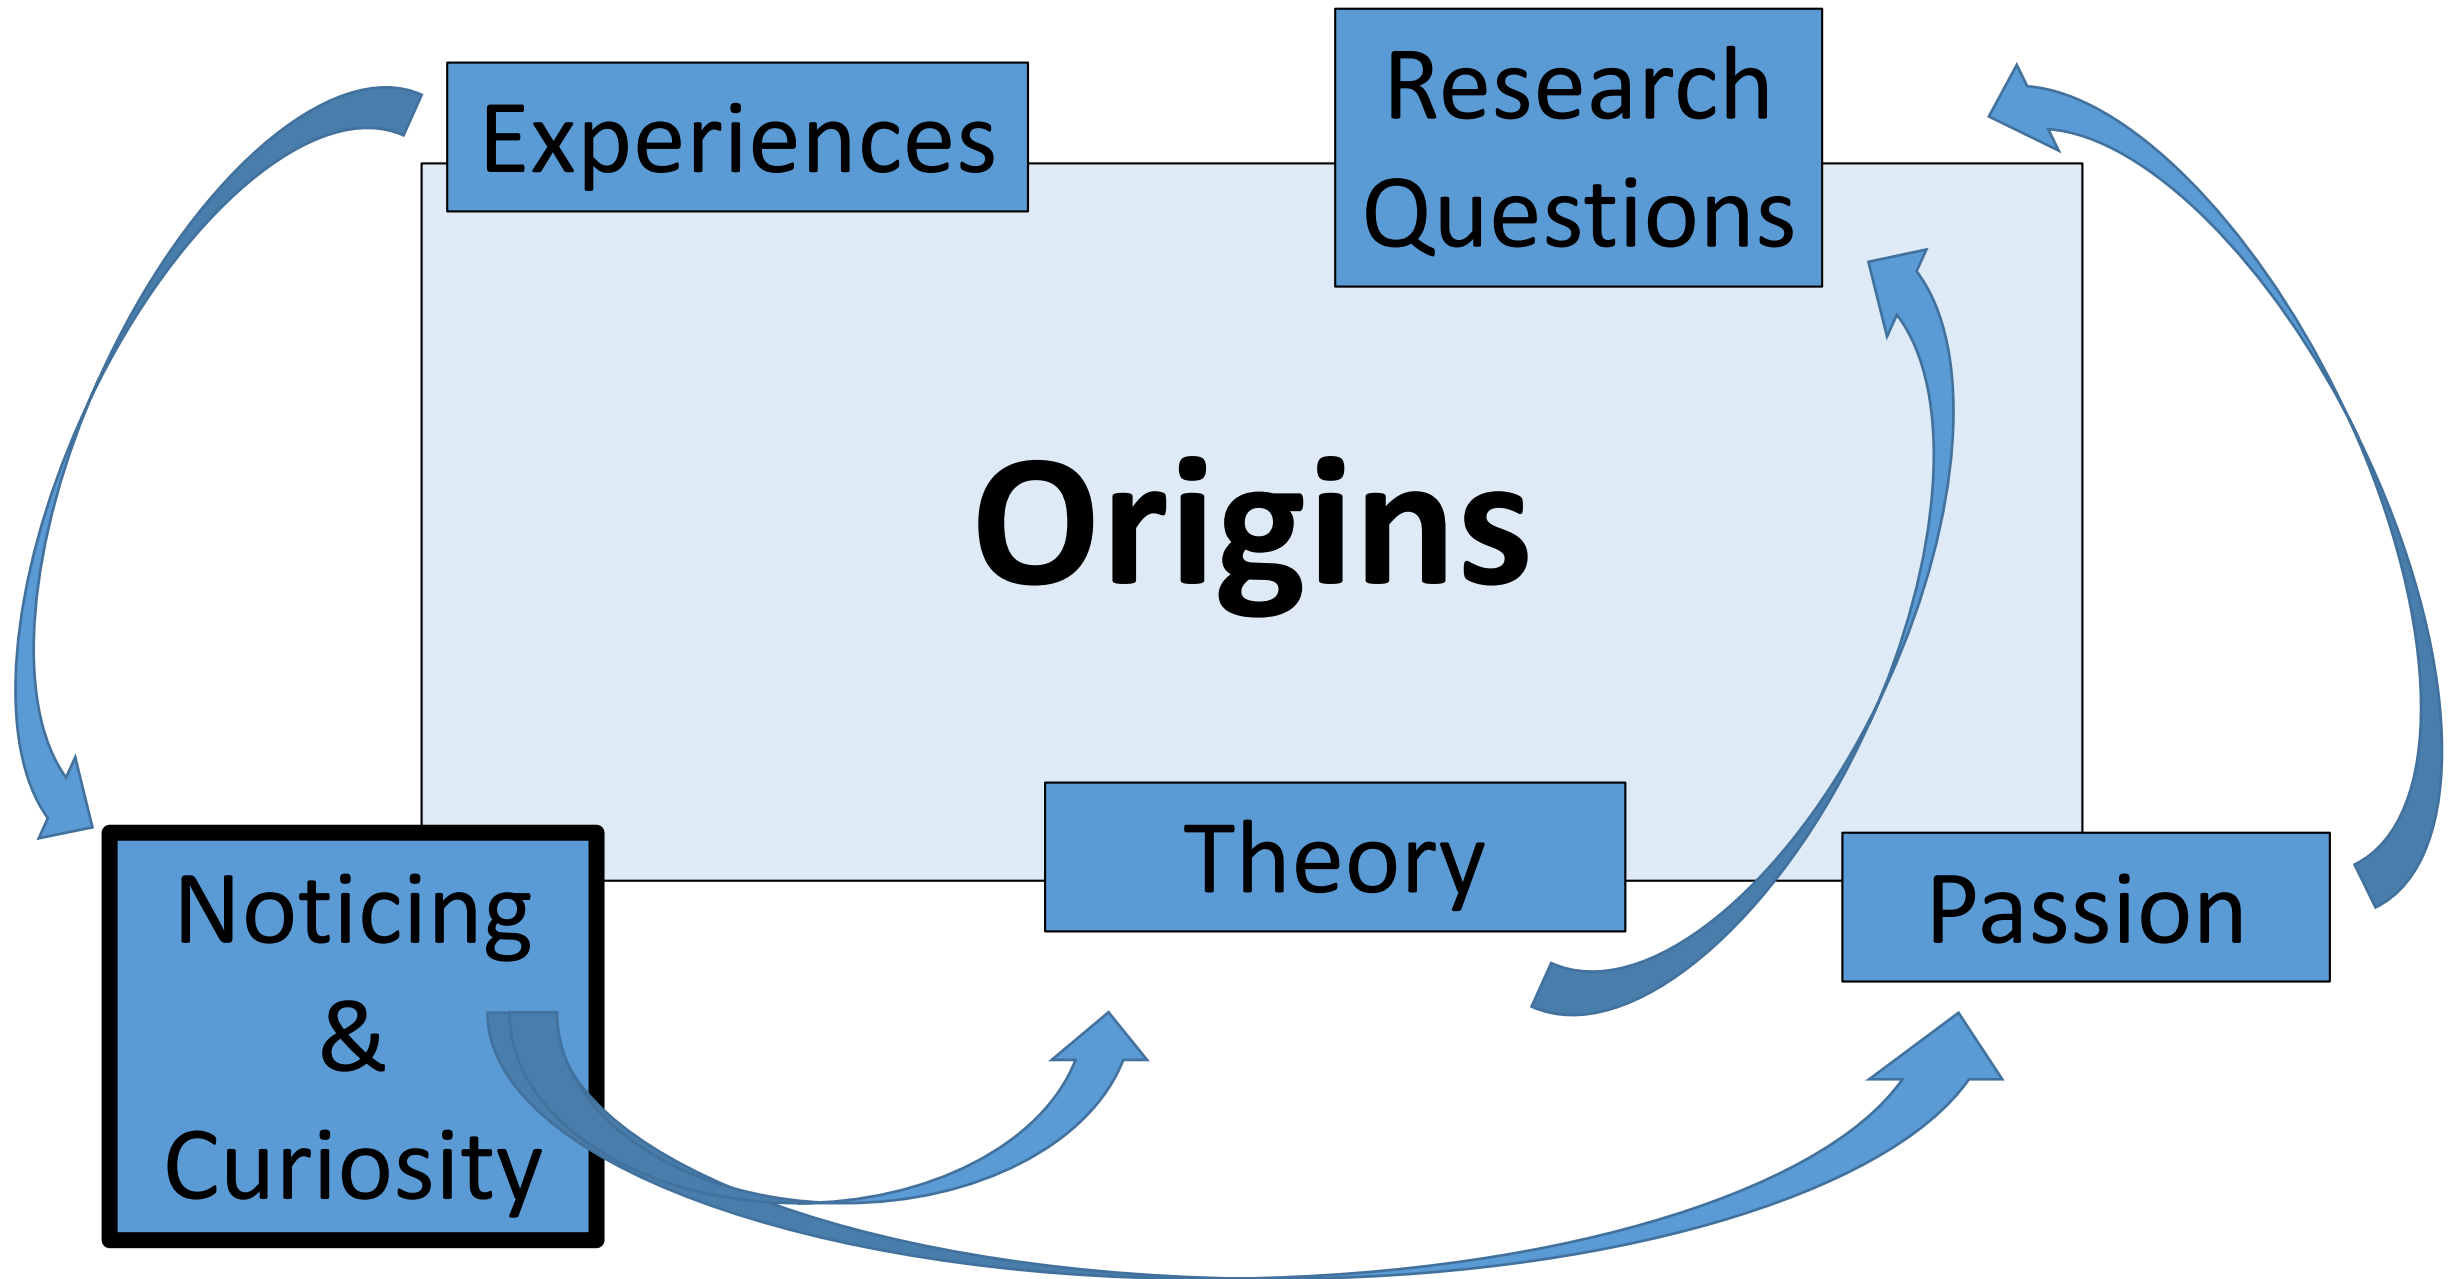

Literacy Coach
Urban High School
Grades 9 – 12

Book Clubs

Guided
Reading

Using Technology to Support Literacy
Instruction for ELLs

Literacy Instruction for Adolescent English
Language Learners (ELLs)

Noticing & Curiosity

Strengths and weaknesses of different approaches to PD (teacher-leader, consulting, coaching)

Different reactions of teachers to professional development

Importance of relationships across contexts

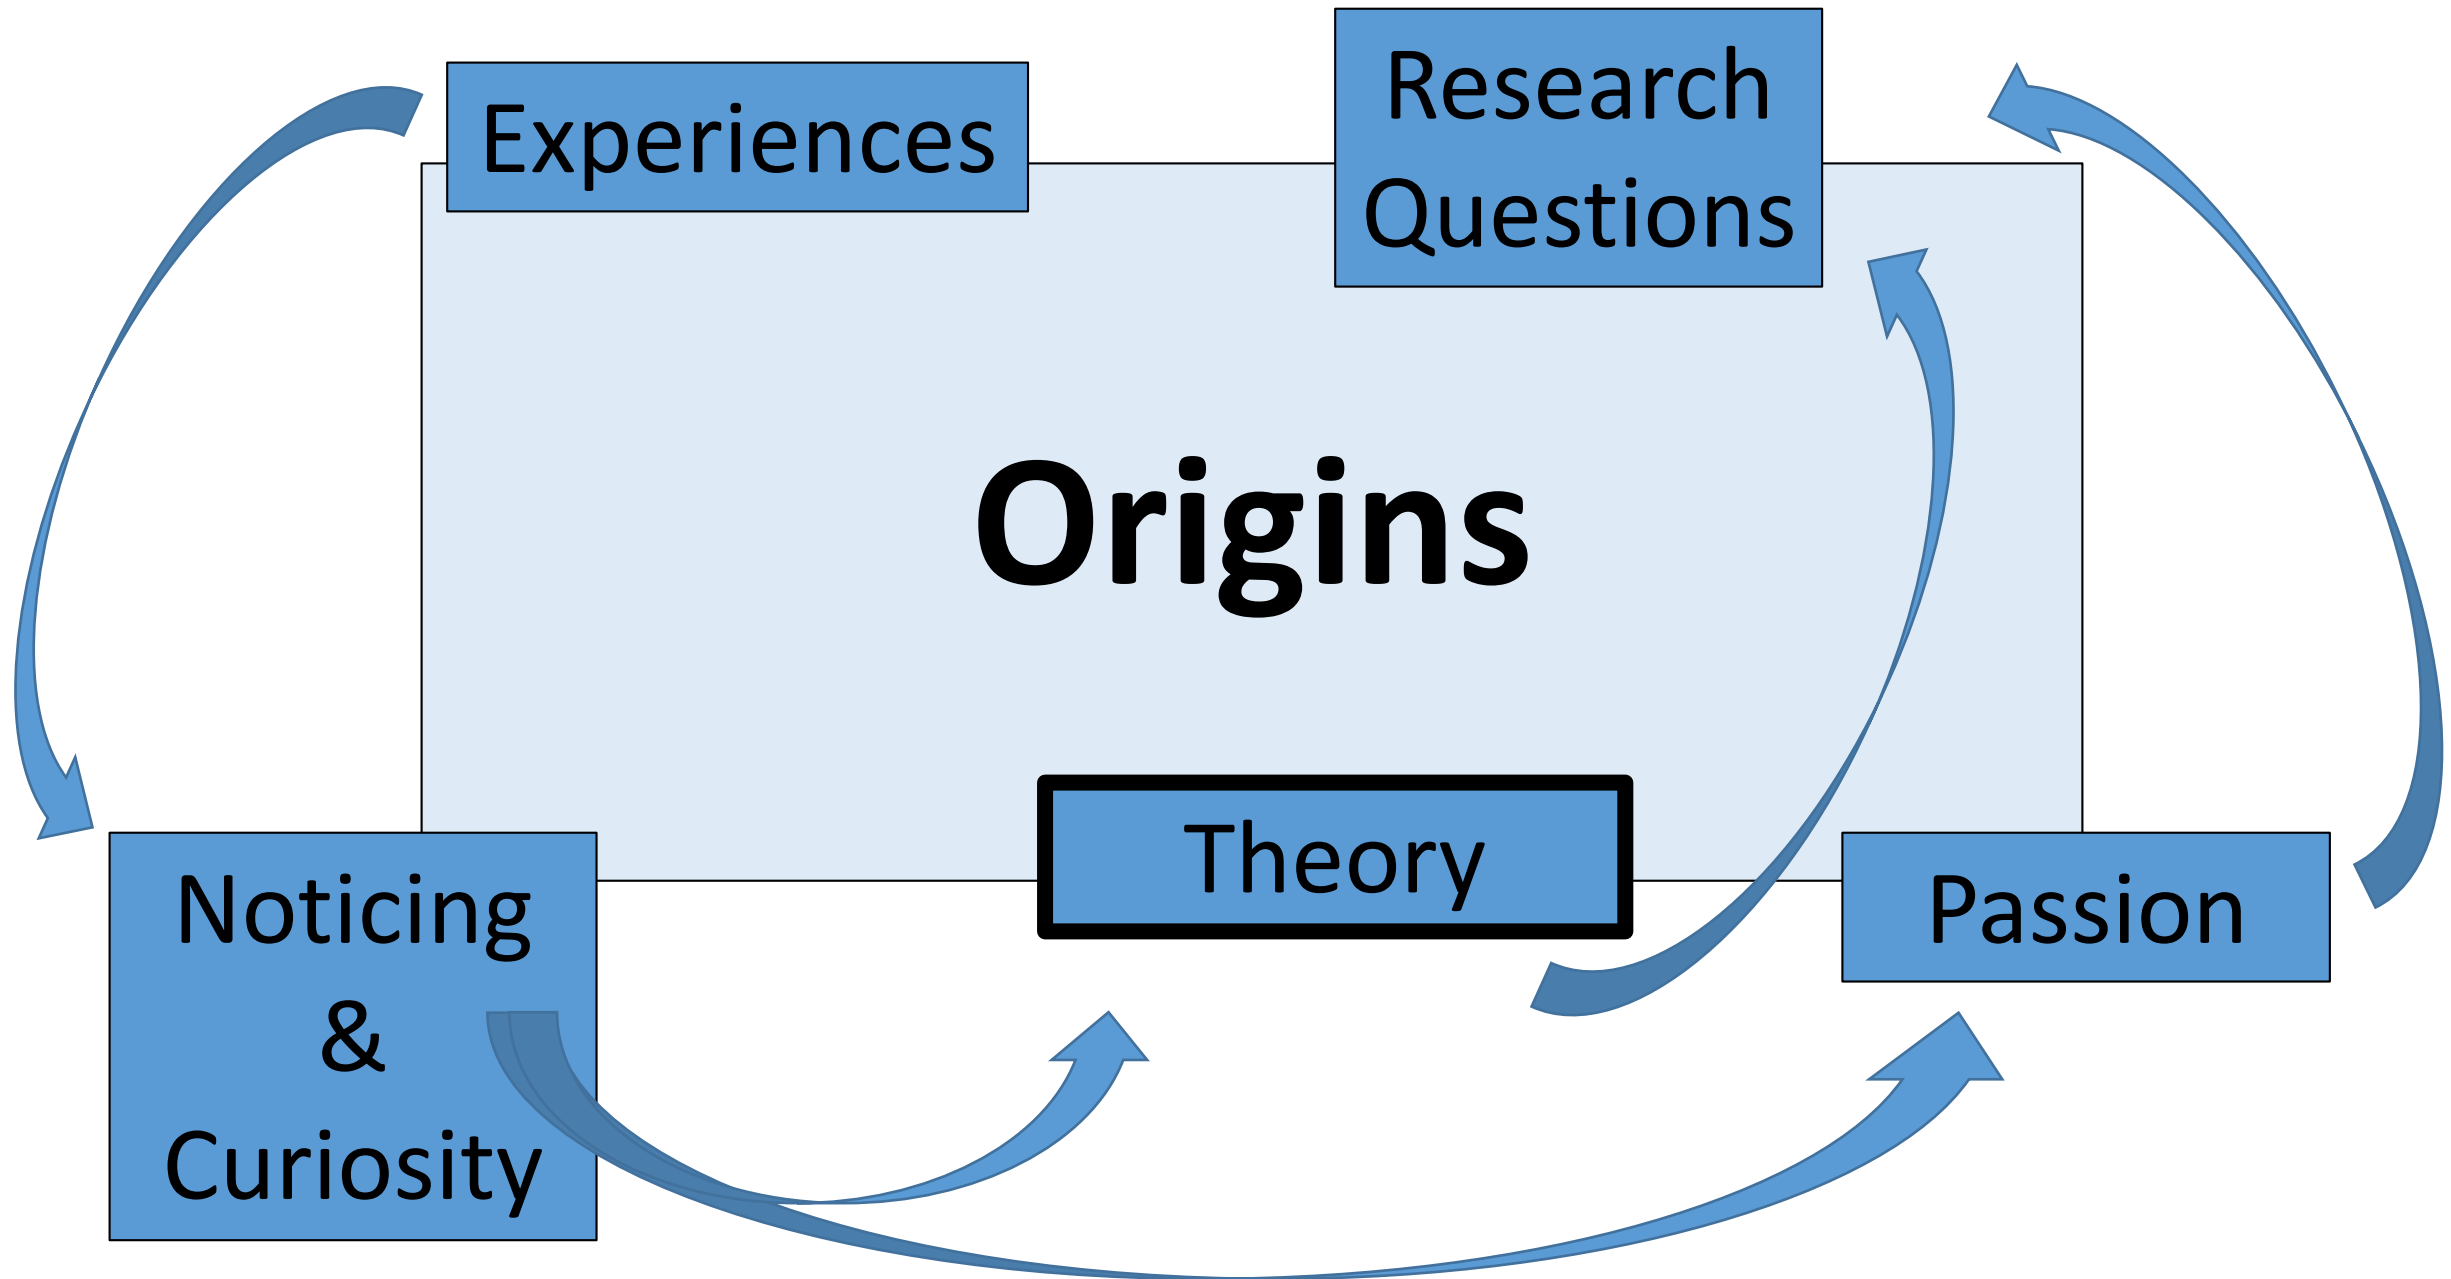

Preliminary Research Questions

How do teachers develop?

How could teachers be supported to develop?

How could teachers continue to develop when support decreases or changes?

Theory
and Relevant Research

Reflection

Sociocultural Theory

Dialogue / Dissonance

Reflection, Teacher Development, & Literacy Coaching

Reflection

Reflection is often ill-defined.

Reflection must be linked to action.

Dewey suggests a disciplined and systematic approach to reflective thought.

Dewey
Schön
Rodgers
Zeichner

Teacher Development

Not all teachers exhibit expertise.

Professional development is often not effective.

Beliefs influence actions and are often tacit.

It is difficult to change beliefs.

Beliefs may change through action.

Berliner
Darling-Hammond
Guskey

Bean
Dozier
Ippolito

Literacy Coaching

We lack research about coaching at the secondary level.

There are some indicators and correlates of effective coaching.

Responsive and directive literacy coaching have both been identified.

Sociocultural Theory

Development in social interaction

Apprenticeship stance

Active role of learner in transforming experience

Internalization

Talking “within a practice” (Lave & Wenger, 1991)

Mediational tools transform action

Impact of mediational tools on power and authority

Joint action as unit of analysis

Vygotsky

Wertsch

Rogoff

Lave & Wenger

Dialogue

Intersubjectivity

Dissonance

Ideological becoming

Dynamic and historical context

Intertextual references

Listening

Bakhtin

Rommetveit

Mercer

O'Connor & Michaels

Penlington

Rice & Burbules

Cazden

The Studies

Theory

Findings

Year 3

Dissertation Study – Multiple Case Study of Coaching

Year 2

Pilot Study – Multiple Case Study of Coaching

Year 1: Fall

Single Case Study - Novice
Reflection-in-Action

Year 1: Spring

Single Case Study – Coaching

Kate
Novice Kindergarten
Teacher

Year 1: Fall
Single Case Study: Novice

Site
Suburban primary school

Research Questions
How does a novice teacher express her reflective stance through the action of teaching and through her comments?
What is the nature of that stance?

Data Sources: Novice Year

Source	Amount
Transcribed audio recordings from interviews	3 recordings (90 minutes total)
Field notes from classroom observations	13 lessons (4 visits) (6 hours total)

Types of Lessons Taught During Classroom Observations: Novice Year

Date	Type of Lesson	Number of Each Type
December 6	Whole Group	1
	Guided Reading	2
	Individual	1
December 12	Guided Reading – Small Group	1
	Individual	2
December 13	Whole Group	1
	Guided Reading – Small Group	1
	Individual	1

Looking at Reflection-in-Action (Schön, 1987)

Metacognitive Talk With Teachers
“How did you know to do that?”
“Was the adaptation effective?” (Parsons, 2012, p. 165)

Year 1

Single Case Study: Novice

Inconsistency in Depth of Reflection

Present
and Articulated

Present,
but Tacit

Least
Present

Privileging the Voice of Authority

Lack of reliance on formative assessment

Privileging formal assessment over her professional judgment

Macro- and Micro-Adaptations (Corno & Snow, 1986)

Management
Macro-Adaptations
(between lessons)
and Micro-Adaptations
(during lessons)

Instructional Micro-Adaptations (during lessons)

Instructional
Macro-Adaptations
(between lessons)

Examples
Text choice
Adjusting children's grouping

Lessons Learned

Conversation between previous studies, theory, and findings

Theory can inform the implementation of the study and the construction of findings

Isabella
10th grade teacher
Social Studies

Year 1

Single Case Study: Coaching for Reflection

Site
Urban secondary school

Year 1: Spring

Single Case Study: Coaching for Reflection

Research Questions

During a period of time in which a teacher engages in a guided video reflection protocol with an instructional coach using a gradual release of responsibility model . . .

- what is the nature of the role of the instructional coach, and how does it change, if at all?
- what is the nature of the teacher's reflection, and how does it change, if at all?

Year 1: Spring

Single Case Study: Coaching for Reflection

Research Questions

During a period of time in which a teacher engages in a guided video reflection protocol with an instructional coach using a gradual release of responsibility model

Dewey

Vygotsky

- what is the nature of the role of the instructional coach, and how does it change, if at all?
- what is the nature of the teacher's reflection, and how does it change, if at all?

Rodgers

Research Question:

What is the nature of the role of the instructional coach,
and how does it change, if at all?

Findings: Coach

Modeling the reflection framework

Scaffolding – Statement prompts, Questions

Articulating pedagogical reasoning

Research Question:

What is the nature of the teacher's reflection,
and how does it change, if at all?

Findings

Established – Setting goals, Taking responsibility

Most growth – Articulating pedagogical reasoning

Little growth – Generating multiple alternatives

Lessons Learned

Developed the reflective protocol I used in my dissertation

Additional theory to inform my research questions

How to write about coaching and teacher development

Year 2

Pilot Study – Multiple Case Study of Coaching

Research Questions

What is the nature of the support provided by the coach while planning and evaluating lessons, and how does it change, if at all?

What is the nature of each teacher's reflective stance while planning and evaluating lessons, and how does it change, if at all?

Year 2

Pilot Study – Multiple Case Study of Coaching

Research Questions

Year 1
Study

role

What is the nature of the support provided by the coach while planning and evaluating lessons, and how does it change, if at all?

reflection

Lave &
Wenger

What is the nature of each teacher's reflective stance while planning and evaluating lessons, and how does it change, if at all?

Study Design

Multiple case study

(Merriam, 2001)

Bounded by five teachers in a school

Site

- Public high school
- Urban
- About 700 students
- About 80% economically disadvantaged
- About 70% ELL

Karen

ESL teacher

4 years of experience

Participants

Patrick

ESL teacher

19 years of experience

Analysis #1

Development

Patrick

Karen

Thinking: Foresight

Practice: Grammar Instructional
Routine

Thinking: Responsibility

Practice: Vocabulary Instructional
Routine

Revoicing

Agency

Focus on the Positives

Embodied Coaching

Developing Trust and Collaboration

Listening in Context

Reconceptualizing

Revoicing

Listening in Context

Reconceptualizing

Revoicing

Cross-Case Themes Relationship
Context
Listening

Lessons Learned

How to manage larger corpus of data

How to write about multiple participants in a coherent manner

That I wanted to also focus on the action of the classroom

Study Design
Single case study
(Merriam, 2001)

Bounded by one teacher in a school

Analysis #2

Participant

Kevin
Social Studies
12 years of experience

Volunteered to work with literacy coach
Goal to increase students' authentic talk around social studies content

Kevin's Development

Sustained use of new routine that increased students'
authentic talk

New insight into students' understanding

Engaged in further self-initiated reflection and changes to the routine for his ELLs

Least robust development: November 13

Analyze specific coaching sessions related to development
Justify analysis of those sessions

Most robust development: February 5

Lessons Learned

More deeply explore the role of context – both historical and dynamic – in literacy coaching

How to justify the identification of focal coaching sessions for fine-grained analysis of dialogue

Year 3

Dissertation Study – Multiple Case Study of Coaching

Setting

Relationship with school and knowledge of school culture

Participants

Teachers with whom I had previously worked Developed a rapport and level of trust

Year 3: Dissertation Study

Coached Teacher Reflection with Video and Reflective Framework

Research Questions

- 1) What is the nature of mediation by the reflective framework while planning, enacting, and reflecting upon lessons?
- 2) What is the nature of mediation by the video while planning, enacting, and reflecting upon lessons?
- 3) What is the nature of mediation by the coach while planning, enacting, and reflecting upon lessons?
- 4) What is the nature of each teacher's reflective stance while planning, enacting, and reflecting upon lessons?
- 5) What changes, if any, are perceived in regard to mediation by the reflective framework, video, and coach and in the reflective stances of the teachers throughout the study?

Year 3: Dissertation Study

Coached Teacher Reflection with Video and Reflective Framework

Research Questions

Wertsch

1) What is the nature of mediation by the reflective framework while planning, enacting, and reflecting upon lessons?

2) What is the nature of mediation by the video while planning, enacting, and reflecting upon lessons?

3) What is the nature of mediation by the coach while planning, enacting, and reflecting upon lessons?

4) What is the nature of each teacher's reflective stance while planning, enacting, and reflecting upon lessons?

5) What changes, if any, are perceived in regard to mediation by the reflective framework, video, and coach and in the reflective stances of the teachers throughout the study?

Guskey
Johnson

Additional Aspects of My Dissertation Informed by Earlier Studies

Gradual Release to Mediation Tools

Context: Dynamic and Historical

Reflection (as a process) to a Reflective Stance

Listening

Analysis of Dialogue and Action

Limitations

my subjectivities

four teachers

volunteers

coach not employed by the school

Trustworthiness

Prolonged engagement

Triangulation

Member-checking

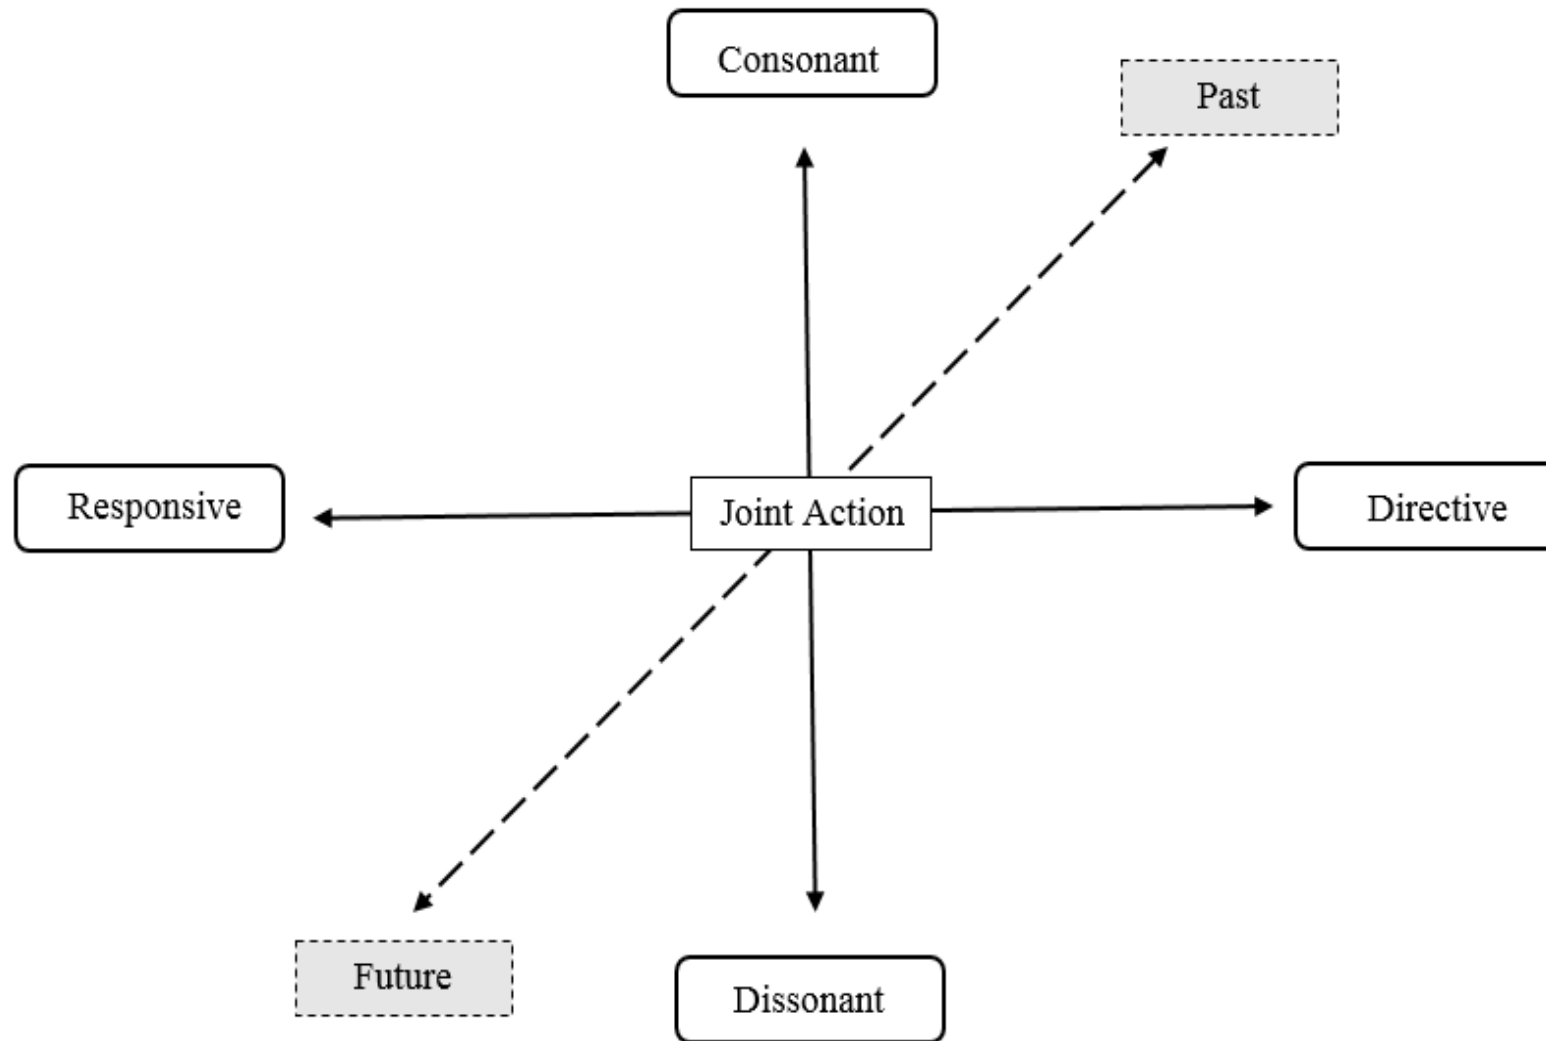

Active awareness of subjectivities

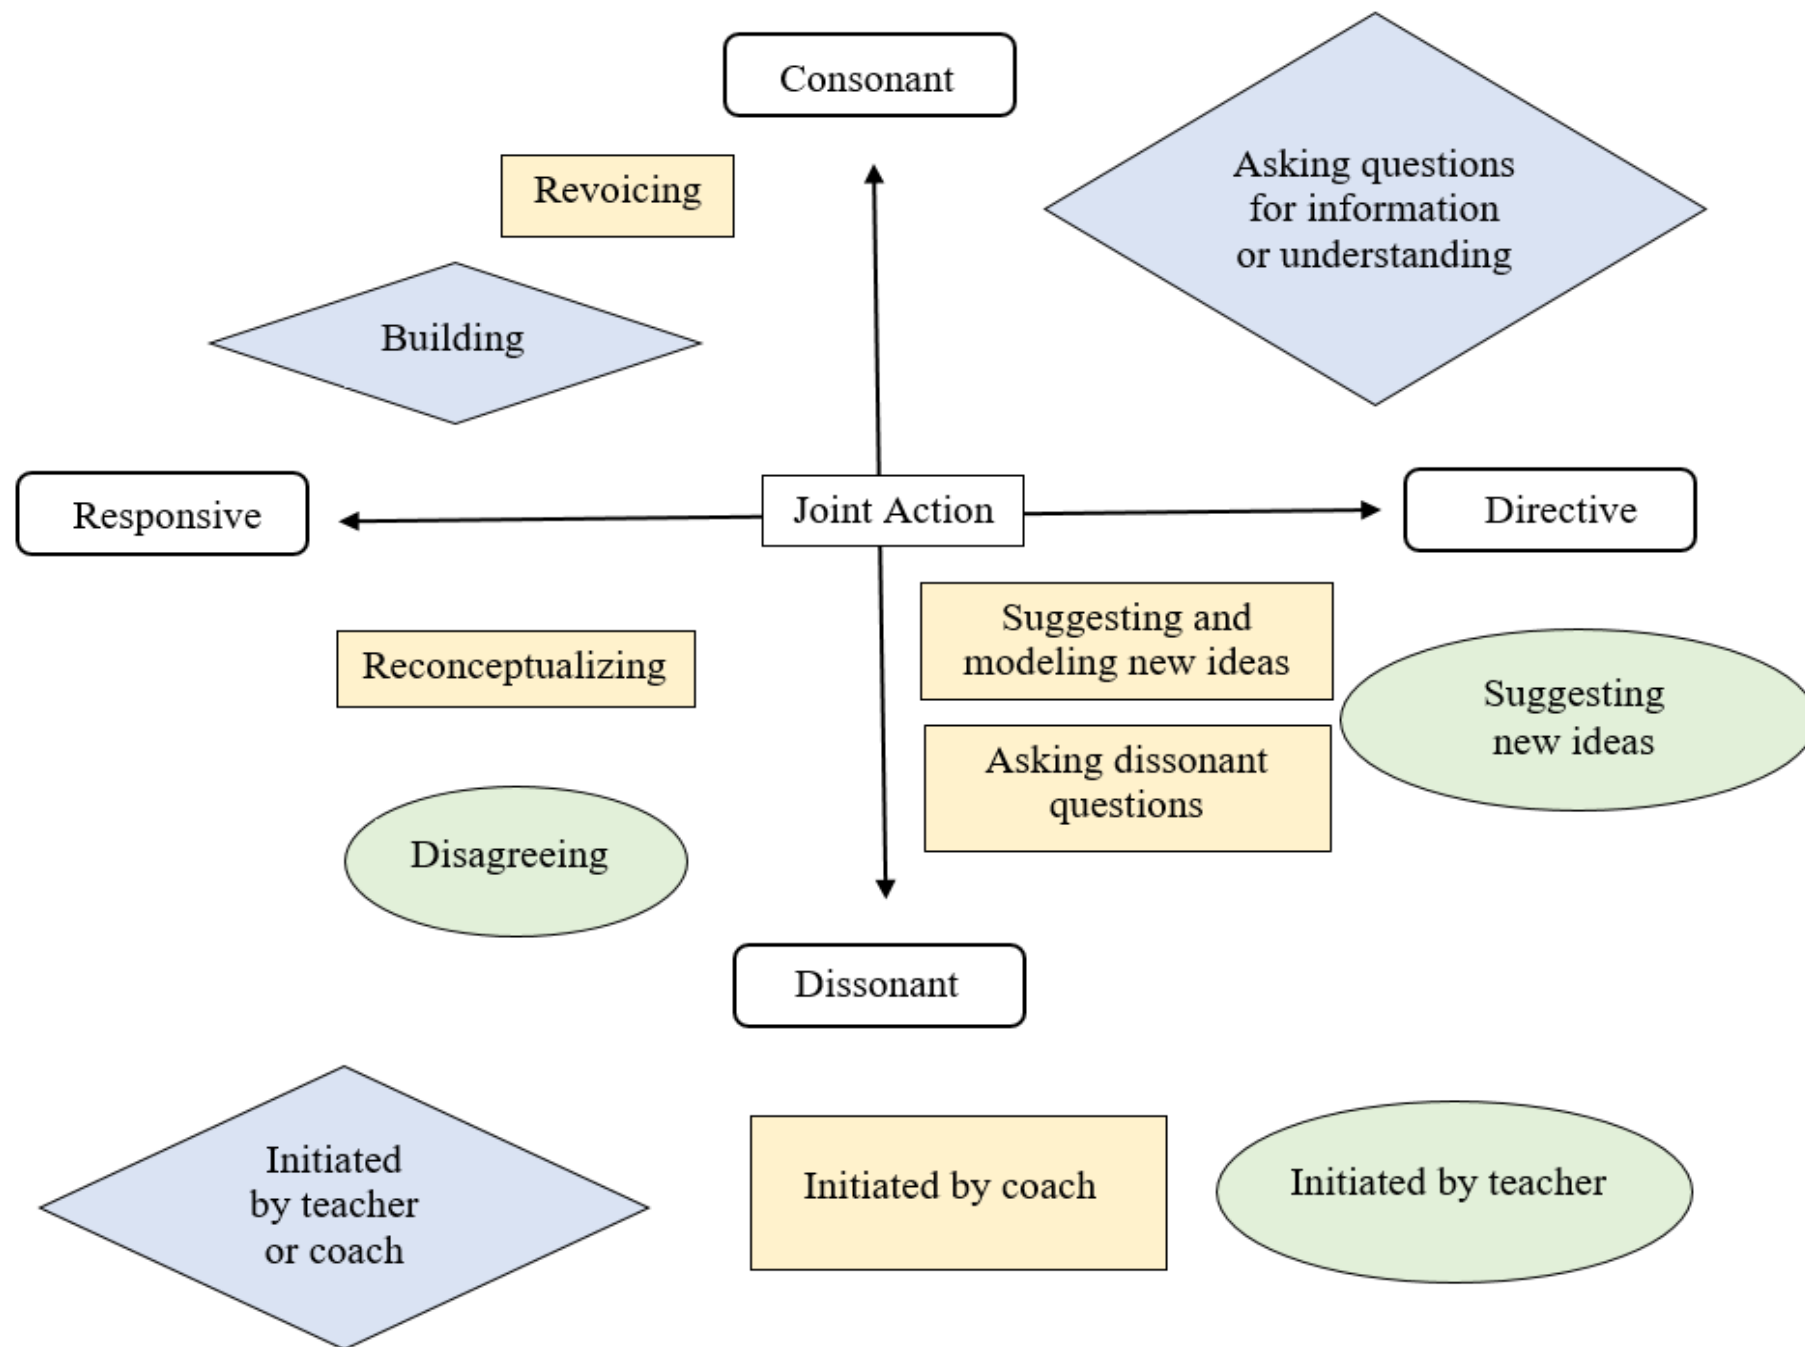

Persistent writing of analytic memos

Participation in a research and writing community

A Model of Joint Action for Literacy Coaching with Video Self-Reflection

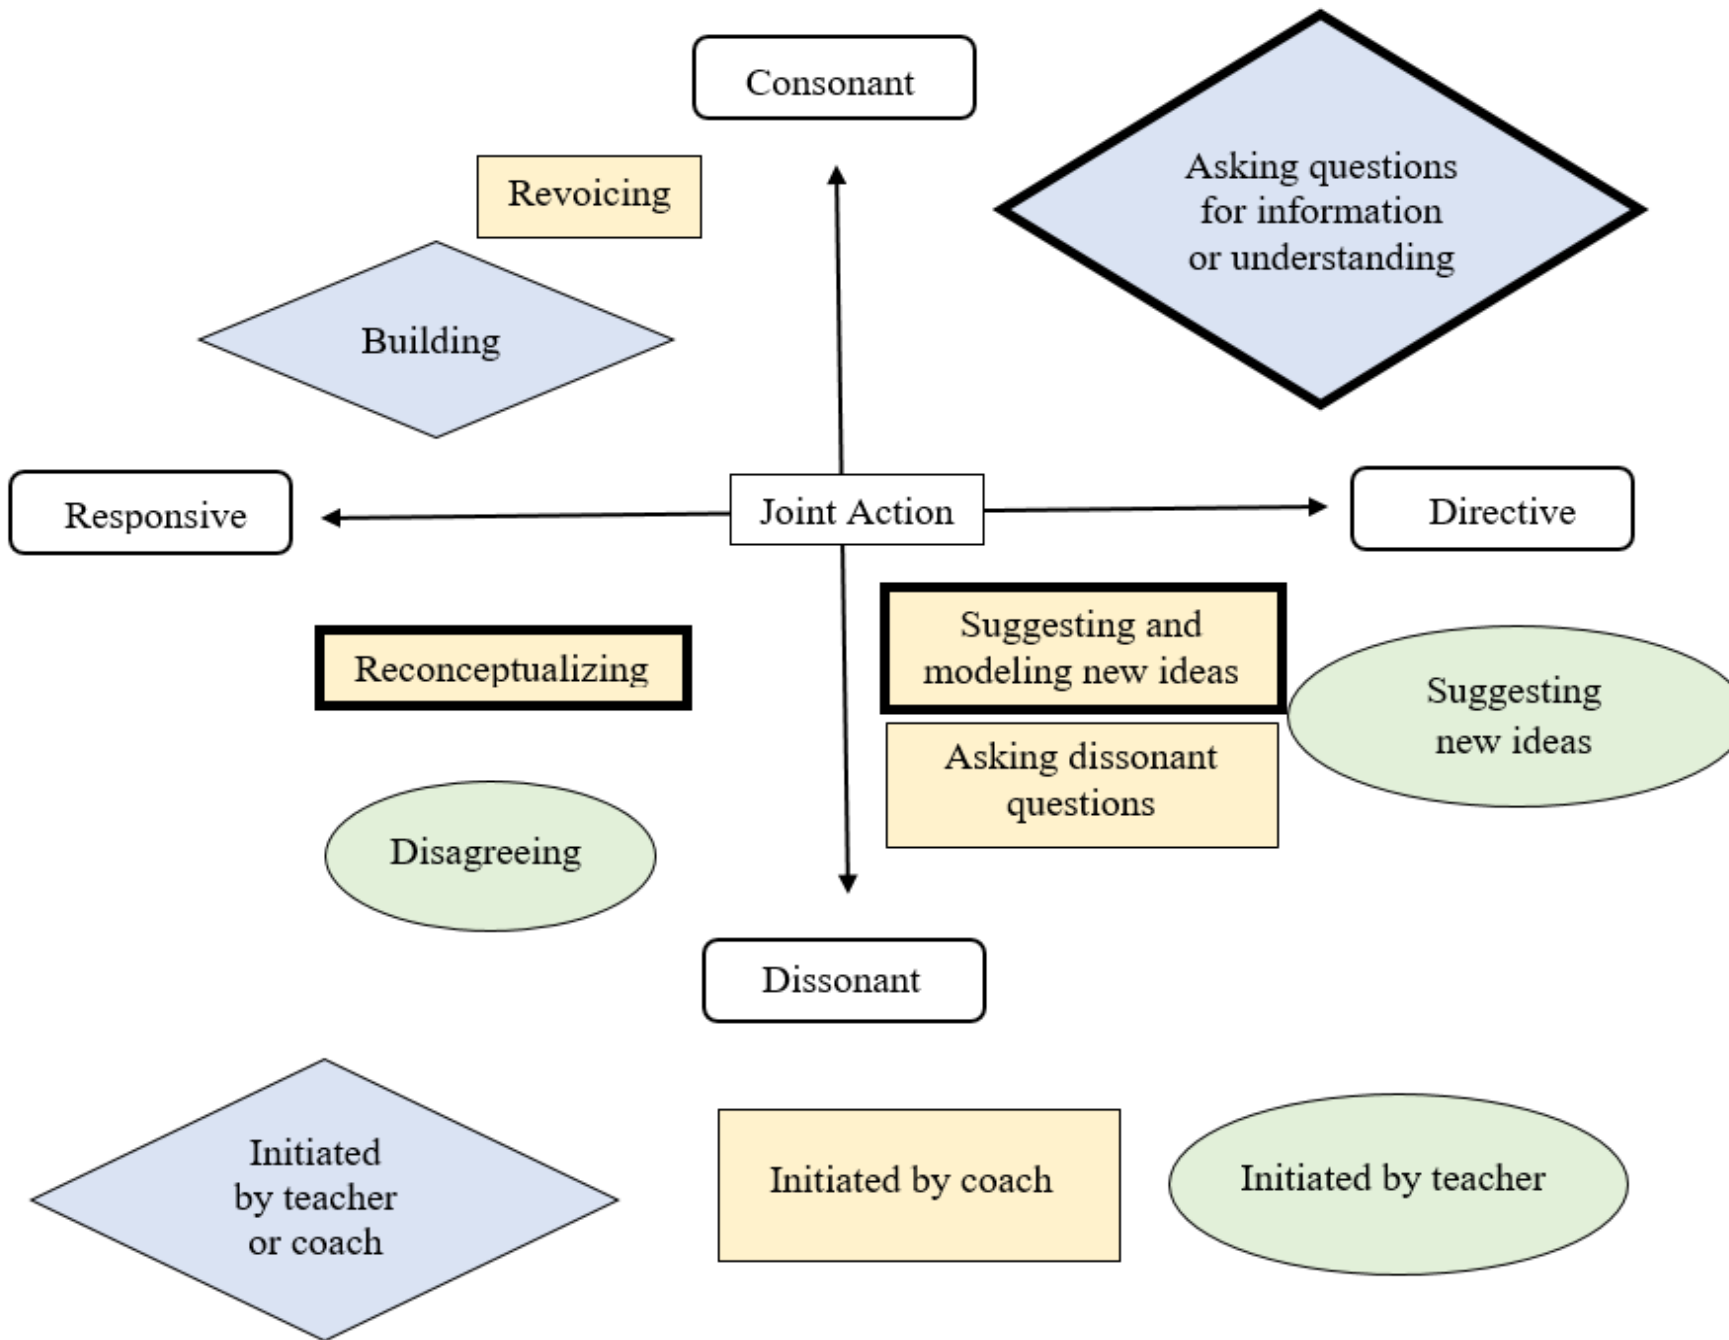

Coaching Sessions

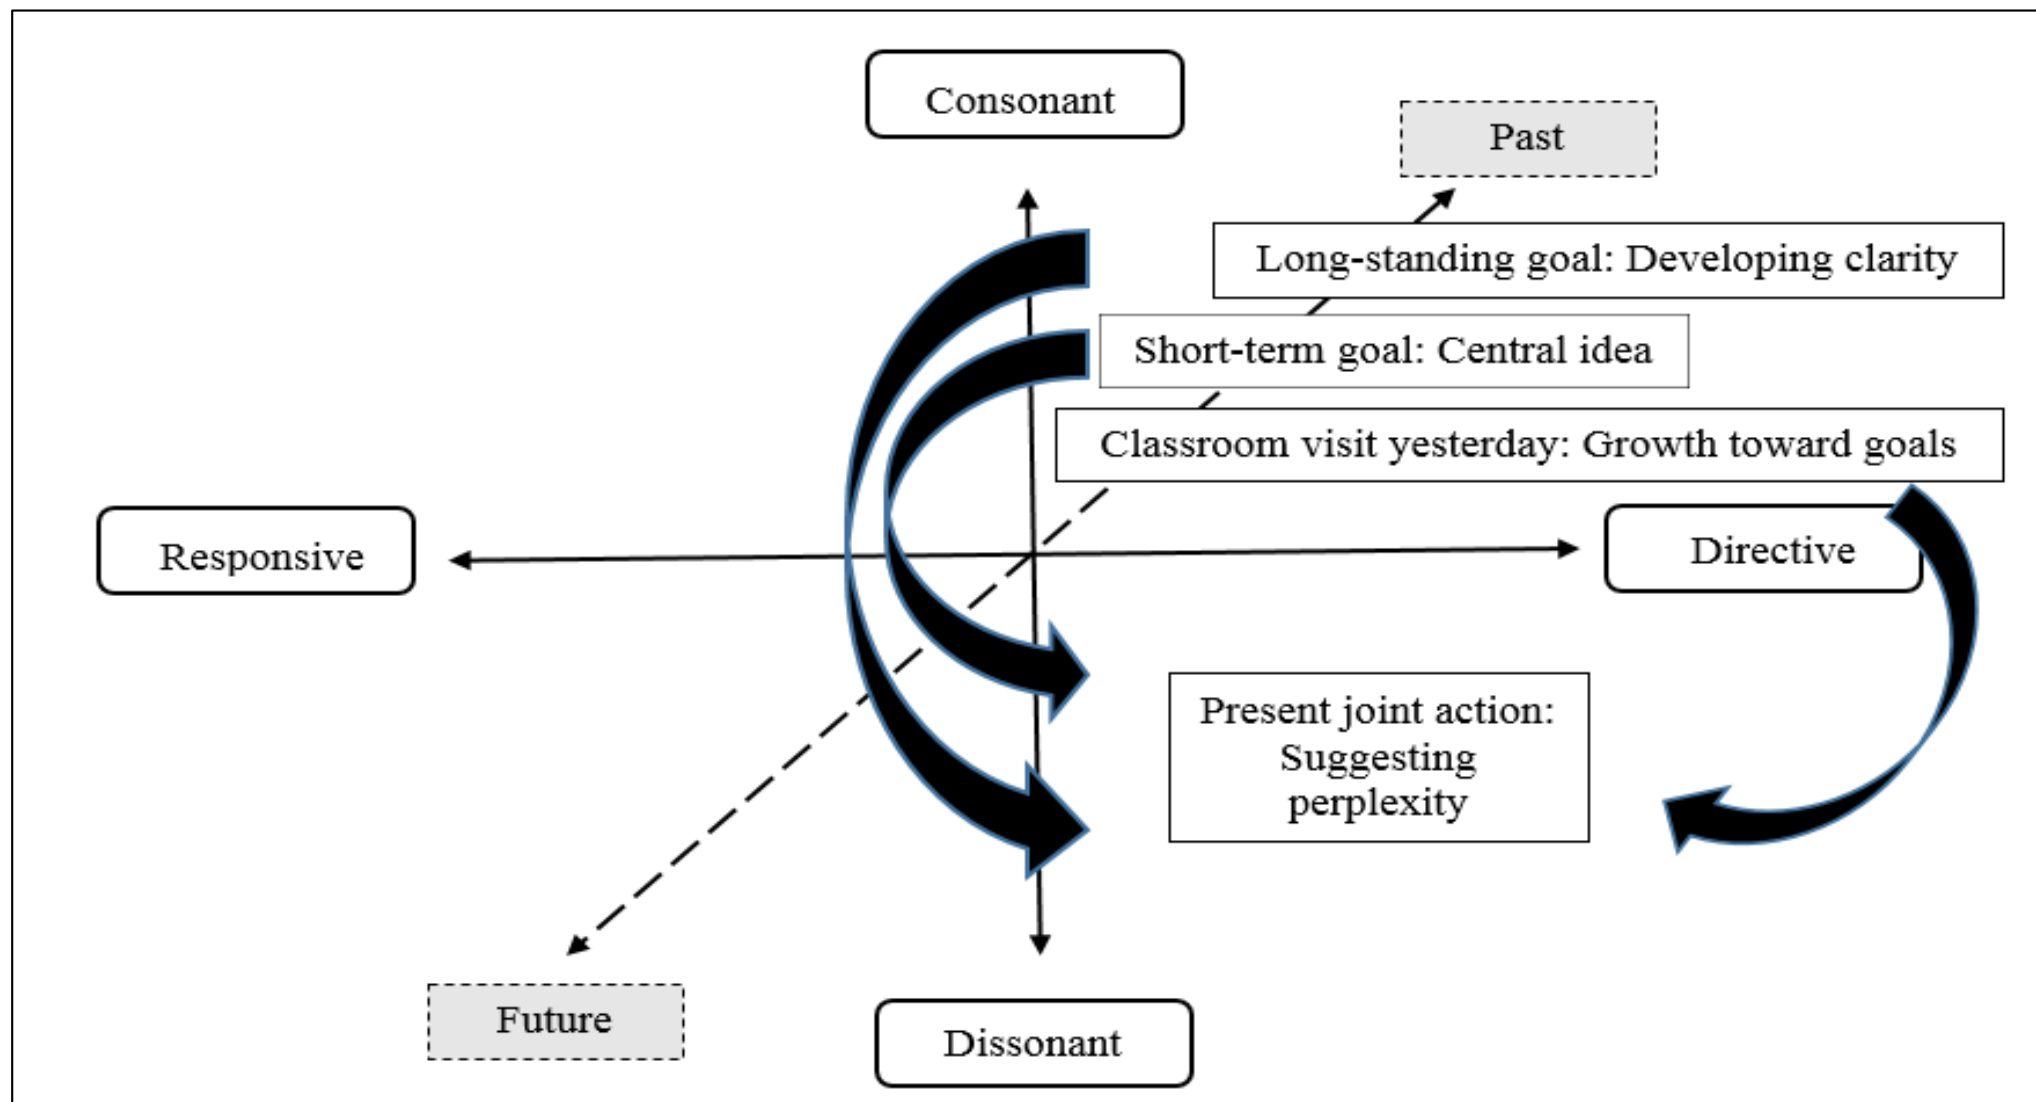

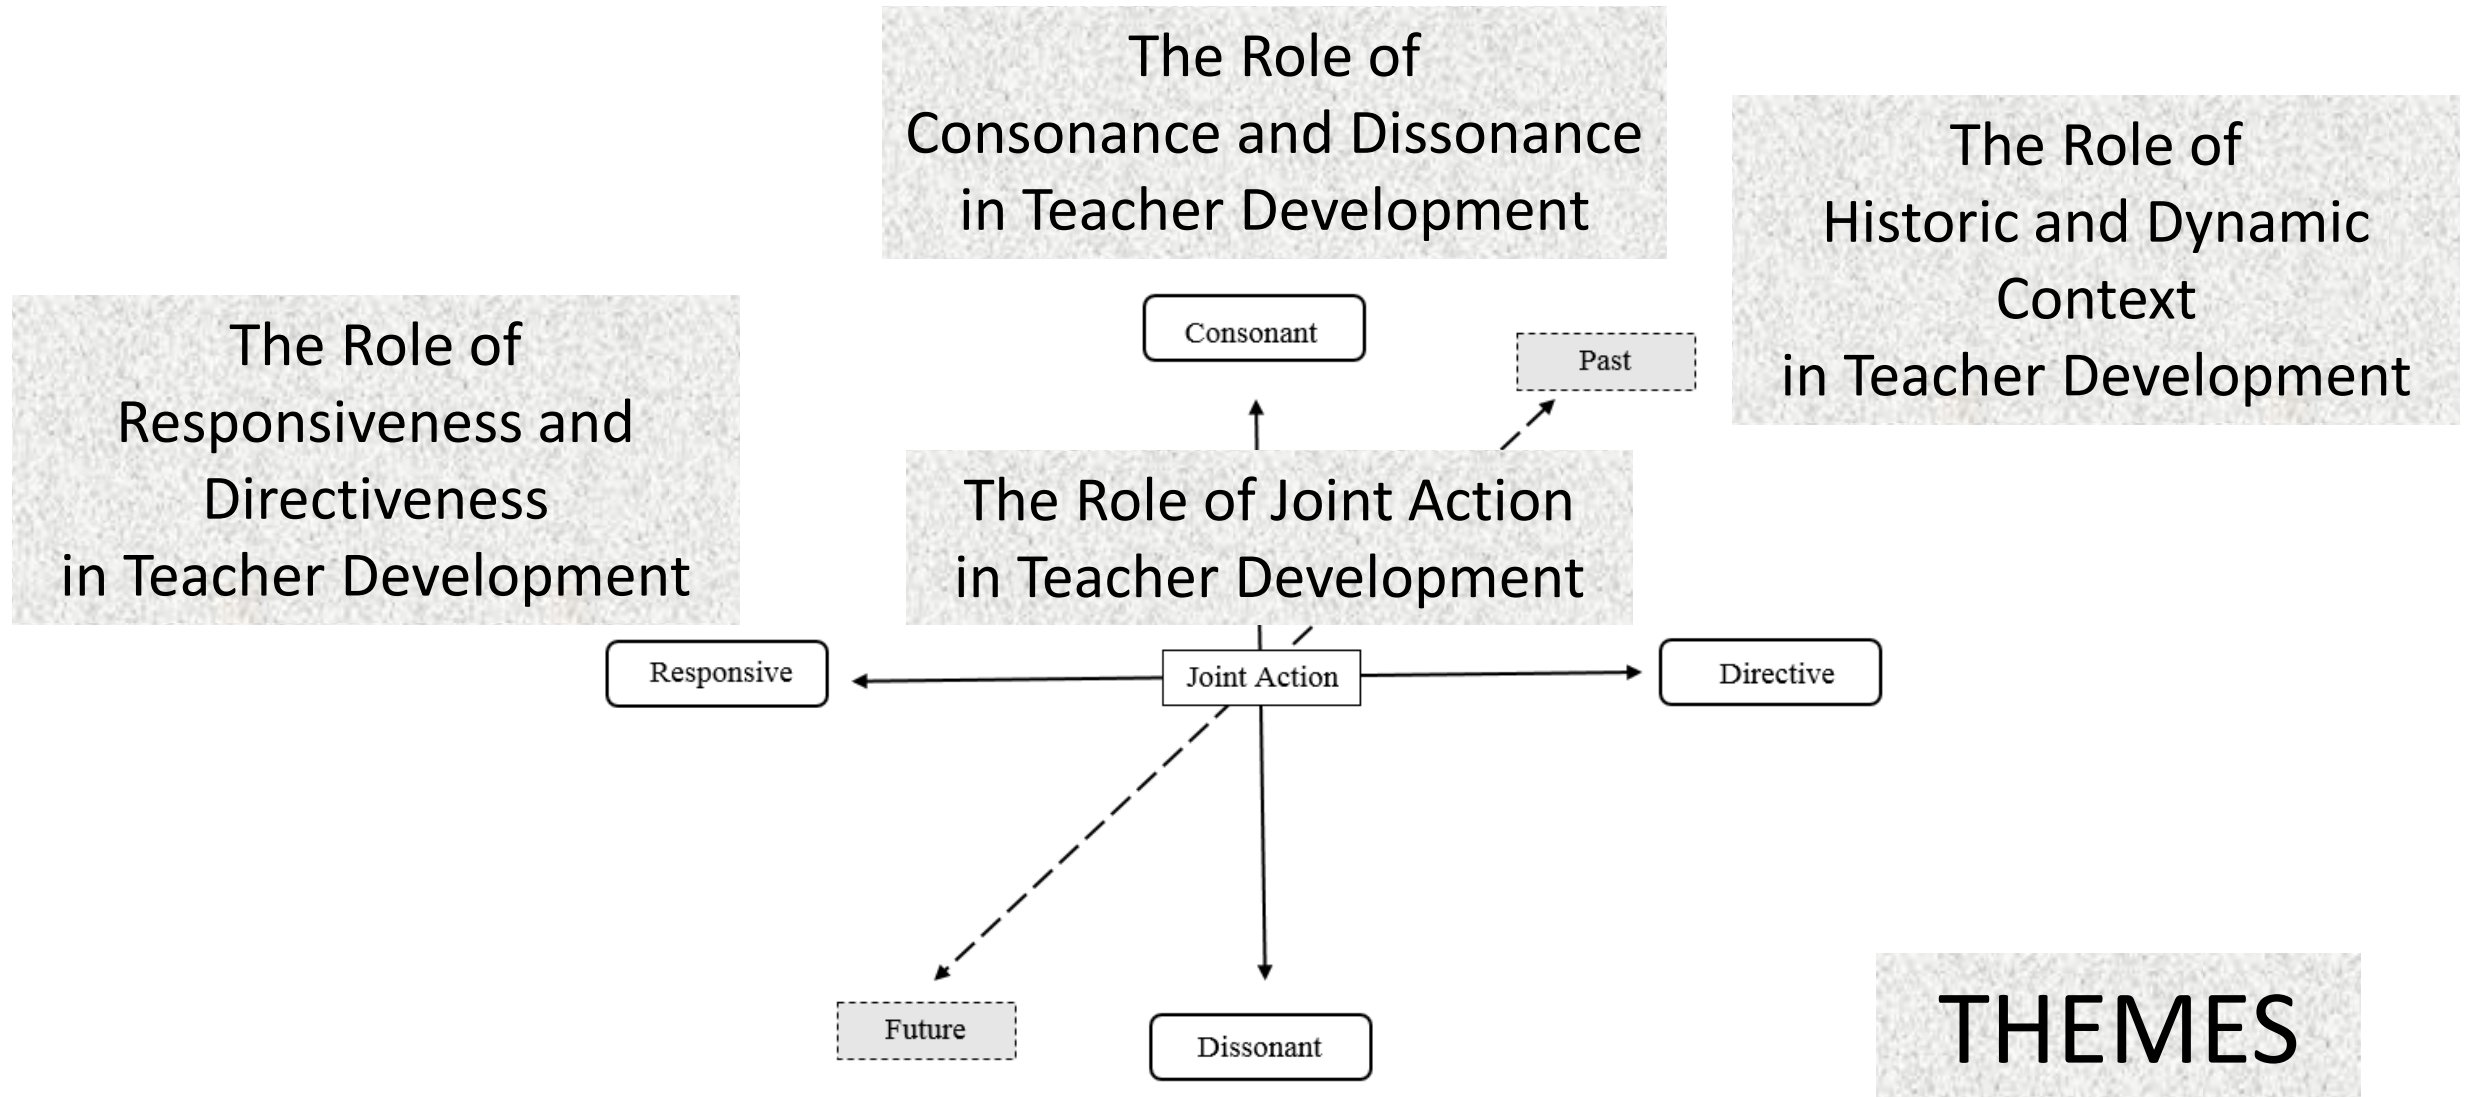

Coaching Sessions

Classroom Visits

A Model of Joint Action for Literacy Coaching with Video Self-Reflection

The Role of Joint Action in Teacher Development

November 4 (Coaching session #1)

Fay: I can't say I really even realized these kids were tuning out.

November 5 (Coaching session #1)
no trying involved . . .

November 7 (Coaching session #3)

Fay: Let's hit the (standards) that they can hit.

Fay

Preliminary Research Questions

How do teachers develop?

How could teachers be supported to develop?

How could teachers continue to develop when
support decreases or changes?

