

COMMUNITY ENGAGED FACULTY INSTITUTE 2024-25

Call for Applications

The Office of Community Engagement is now accepting applications for the 2024-25 Community Engaged Faculty Institute (CEFI). CEFI is designed to advance UW faculty efforts to provide impactful service-learning opportunities for UW students. The program supports UW's recent designation as a Carnegie Foundation Community Engaged Campus and institutional priorities of pursuing excellence in teaching, student success, and strengthening relationships with external community partners.

UW faculty interested in designing or revising service-learning and community-engaged curriculum for implementation in the 2025-26 academic year are encouraged to apply. Faculty fellows will be selected through a competitive process. Selected faculty fellows will grow as service-learning practitioners through the CEFI model, which provides a collaborative cohort environment, formal learning sessions, and sustained coaching support.

Program Details

- Stipend: $1,000
- Commitment: Participation in eight 2-hour workshops (Jan-Apr 2025), preparation for each session, and completion of final project, presentation, and assessment activities.
- Eligibility: All UW faculty interested in designing or revising service-learning and community-engaged curriculum.

Program Outcomes

- Understand the foundation of service-learning as a high-impact teaching practice.
- Design, implement, and assess service-learning and community-engaged curriculum.
- Learn processes to develop and maintain mutually beneficial community partnerships.
- Identify resources to navigate common challenges with service-learning implementation.
- Utilize coaching support during and beyond the program.
