| Call Title: | GRANTS FROM MINOR FOUNDATION FOR MAJOR CHALLENGES |
| Programme: | Minor Foundation for Major Challenges |
| Objective: | The Minor Foundation for Major Challenges is a Norwegian trust that funds communication projects which mitigate anthropogenic climate change. The board grants support to the projects they believe have the greatest impact on influencing public opinion and increasing political support for cutting green house gas emissions. The Foundation's work focuses on providing inspiration, changing attitudes, spreading information, etc., all meant to have an impact on decision-makers in society. |
| Eligible Activities: | Their ultimate goal is to reach as many people as possible in the hope of limiting and helping to prevent global climate changes. Most of their funding goes to Europe. So far they have supported around 30 projects. Innovative and experimental projects with high impact are particularly encouraged. The thematic areas of eligible for funding are (1) climate change and (2) environment and natural resources. The foundation's priorities are to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - encourage and support innovation in climate communication - increase the number of voices and narratives in climate advocacy - help strengthen social and political movements that open up for radical change - concentrate on supporting European proposals They have funded projects in Asia (China) and Europe but welcome applications from all over the world. |
| Eligible Applicants: | Eligible for funding are non-profit organisations with a mission to combat climate change and environmental concerns. |
| Total Budget: | €200,000 |
| Deadline: | 28/11/2024 |

| Call Title: | USAID INVESTMENT, JOBS AND INCOME (IJI) |
| Programme: | Haiti USAID-Port Au Prince |
| Objective: | The purpose for the Activity is to advance the United States' goal of a more prosperous and democratic Haiti by helping to strengthen the Haitian private sector, particularly small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), to improve their managerial and operating performance and access the financing they need to grow, thereby creating jobs and fostering inclusive economic growth in Haiti. This will support Haiti to take charge of its own development and provide a better standard of living for its citizens. |
| Eligible Activities: | The activity will create a project that aims to build up the capacity of Haitian and other finance providers to serve local SMEs, strengthen the network of local Transaction Advisors capacity to identify and prepare high potential SMEs for capital while creating trade and supply chain linkages in these SMEs' targeted sectors. Actions must take place in Haiti. |

| Call Title: | Advancing Nuclear Safety, Security, and Nonproliferation through the FIRST Program |
| Programme: | United States Department of State International Security and Nonproliferation |
| Objective: | The Department of State's Bureau of International Security and Nonproliferation, Office of Cooperative Threat Reduction is pleased to announce an open competition for assistance awards titled "Advancing Nuclear Safety, Security, and Nonproliferation through the First Program". ISN/CTR administers the Foundational Infrastructure for Responsible Use of Small Modular Reactor Technology Program (FIRST), which was launched in 2019 and formally announced at the Leaders' Climate Summit in April 2021. FIRST provides technical capacity-building support to potential nuclear energy newcomer countries and current nuclear energy countries that are considering small modular reactors (SMRs) and other advanced reactor designs to meet their energy needs, consistent with the highest international standards of nuclear security, nonproliferation, and safety. FIRST is designed to enhance U.S. bilateral and multilateral cooperation, consistent with the International Atomic Energy Agency's (IAEA) nuclear energy infrastructure development milestones approach, in nuclear energy infrastructure development, nuclear security, and capacity-building. In so doing, the program supports secure, safe, and proliferation-resistant deployment of SMRs or other advanced reactors to partner countries. Recognizing the many years required to develop the necessary infrastructure to support a nuclear power program, FIRST provides essential capacity-building support and technical expertise to priority partner countries to advance the secure and responsible utilization of civilian nuclear reactors, especially SMRs and other advanced reactors. While global in scope, FIRST directs its efforts towards individual priority countries on both a bilateral and regional basis to maximize its programmatic impact. FIRST is primarily interested in engaging partner countries' nuclear energy agencies, regulatory authorities, reactor operators, utilities, nuclear research institutes, technical and non-technical organization decision makers, energy, environmental, and foreign ministries, and academia (at the faculty level). Audiences for these activities may include, but are not limited to: Nuclear Security and Nonproliferation Decision Makers: FIRST engages various policy makers in partner countries, including at senior levels, on paths forward for secure, sustainable, proliferation-resistant approaches to civil nuclear energy in their respective countries. This community may include officials from energy and environmental ministries, science ministries, finance ministries, foreign diplomats, university partners, and local officials in the context of capacity-building for FIRST. |

|------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| | Government Operators, Regulators, Utilities, Technical Experts, and Security Personnel: FIRST engages operators, regulators, and security personnel to implement programs that ensure the highest standards for nuclear safety, security, and nonproliferation. Technical Organization Decision Makers: To ensure the sustainability and success of FIRST engagement with operators, regulators, and security personnel, FIRST engages relevant decision makers and nuclear industry officials. Goal FIRST helps partner countries: establish a nuclear power program under the highest international standards for nuclear security, safety, and nonproliferation, take advantage of next generation nuclear innovations and technologies in their sustainable energy plans and meet their energy needs, and deepen relationships through government, industry, national laboratory, and university engagements. FIRST tailors each engagement to meet the partner’s specific needs through a multi-module collaborative training and capacity building program. With partners from across the U.S. Government and experts from academia, private industry, non-governmental organizations, and U.S. national laboratories, FIRST brings diverse expertise on the cutting edge of nuclear technology to build partner country capacity. |
| Eligible Activities: | Objectives FIRST will fund activities that align with tailored capacity-building support for countries participating in FIRST, including both potential new FIRST partners and countries already engaged. Proposals should clearly indicate how the work is intended to support this objective. Empower potential nuclear energy newcomer countries to prioritize nuclear security, nonproliferation, and safety considerations from the outset as key decisional criteria when evaluating civil nuclear reactor technologies, with an emphasis on SMRs and other advanced reactor designs. FIRST provides capacity building support to partner countries as they develop their nuclear energy programs to achieve their energy goals under the highest international standards for nuclear security, safety, and nonproliferation. FIRST provides this support in a manner consistent with the IAEA Milestones Approach for implementing a responsible nuclear power program. These efforts support the ability of the United States to uphold and strengthen global nuclear nonproliferation, security, and safety norms at the facility and national level and in international forums such as the IAEA. Expected Outcomes The FIRST program engages with partners on nuclear security, energy, and sovereignty in an ongoing endeavor. To this end, ISN/CTR will evaluate each proposal, and each project during implementation, based on the strength of its proposed structure of engagement activities and established milestones, seeking work that will continue throughout the period of the project and utilize in-country activities where necessary to ensure the effectiveness of the ongoing training effort. All proposals will measure partner capacity before and after training and engagement, with the expectation that skills, procedures, technical understanding, and abilities have increased due to ISN/CTR support. |
| Eligible Applicants: | Eligible Countries FIRST prioritizes nuclear energy newcomer countries and, in some cases, current nuclear energy countries located primarily in Eastern Europe, Central Asia, Latin America, Southeast Asia, and sub-Saharan Africa. |

| Call Title: | EUROPEAN CROSS-BORDER GRANTS |
| Programme: | Journalismfund.eu |
| Objective: | The aim of Journalismfund.eu is to promote quality journalism in Europe by giving journalists the chance to carry out journalistic research projects. Journalismfund.eu will support professional journalists, who have good ideas for cross-border research and for research on European affairs. The stories must be relevant for European target groups. |
| Eligible Activities: | The project should be one that, in principle, could not be realised in this format within the remit of regular journalism – a project that can include cross-border research, networking between colleagues, established and innovative investigative methods and that is at the same time original, innovative and intensive. |

|-------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| | Journalismfund.eu supports costs related to journalistic research for all media. This can include travel, translation, access to pay-databases or simply time to research. They do not support fixed costs such as office costs, investments such as cameras or computers or production costs. Actions must take place in Europe. |
| Eligible Applicants: | Teams of journalists from at least two countries in geographical Europe are eligible to apply. When relevant for the story, team members from elsewhere can be accepted too. |
| Total Budget: | €900,000 |

| Call Title: | Yidan Prize for Education Research and Education Development |
| Programme: | Yidan Prize Foundation |
| Objective: | Applications are now open for the Yidan Prize to create a better world through education. The prize aims to progress learning by building a global community committed to advancing ideas in education. |
| Eligible Activities: | Areas They award the Yidan Prize to individuals and teams in two areas: Education Research The theory of learning — science, psychology, statistics — that can help educators gain a more methodical understanding of their approaches. Education Development The practice of learning — new methods, ways to make education more widespread — so they can champion techniques that work. Prize Information They award each year's laureates a gold medal and a total sum of HK$30 million — half is a cash prize to recognize their contribution to the sector (shared equally for teams); the other half is a project fund distributed over three years to support the laureate's work. |
| Eligible Applicants: | Eligibility Criteria They welcome all nominations; the process is open to everyone. You don't need to be invited to nominate a team or individual for either the Education Research or Education Development prize. The prizes are open to teams of up to three. That could be a research group working on a project together. Same nominee can be nominated more than once in the same category, or they can be nominated in both categories if their work spans both research and development. Having more than one nomination in one category doesn't increase the nominee's chances. If you know others who are also interested in nominating the same person or |

| Call Title: | ENVIRONMENTAL INVESTIGATIVE JOURNALISM |
| Programme: | Journalismfund.eu |
| Objective: | Journalismfund.eu's flexible grants programmes enable journalists to produce relevant public interest stories with a European mind-set from international, national, and regional perspectives. |
| Eligible Activities: | This grant can be awarded to cross-border teams of professional journalists and/or news outlets to conduct investigations into environmental affairs related to Europe (all the countries, not only the EU). The resulting stories must be published in at least two outlets in two different countries, at least one must be a European media. While news media and newsrooms still predominantly operate nationally, most power structures and societal and environmental problems transcend national boundaries. This grant programme is therefore aimed at cross-border teams of investigative journalists and newsrooms to investigate and document illegal, unreported and unregulated abuse of nature that involves European affairs in and outside Europe. Actions must take place in Europe. |
| Eligible Applicants: | Cross-border teams of at least two professional journalists and/or news outlets can submit a proposal for a journalistic investigation about an issue that concerns the environment and relates to the European continent (islands included). |
