New Opportunities

Call Title:	African Energy Futures Grant Program
Programme: African Energy Futures
Objective:	The African Energy Futures has launched its Grant Program to support African-based universities, think-tanks and research institutions to register their interest in forming hubs that will anchor a new collaboration network. The initiative is designed to strengthen African leadership in energy research and policy engagement by building durable institutional capacity rather than supporting short-term projects. Registered institutions will be eligible to apply for multi-year funding.
Eligible Activities:	The funding is intended to support the expansion or establishment of research hubs that bring together local expertise and foster strong, ongoing collaboration with national policymakers. They are seeking institutions that can demonstrate long-term commitment to institutional development and collaboration beyond the funding period. The proposals process is structured in two stages. Institutions are first invited to submit a concept note of no more than five pages explaining how their institution will execute the requirements of a hub. By completing the designated form, applicants will be directed to a submission page that provides detailed guidance on eligibility and expectations for the concept note. Concept notes must be submitted via the submission page no later than midnight on 30 January 2026. Up to ten of the strongest concept notes will be invited to proceed to the full proposal stage. The African Energy Futures team will communicate the outcome directly to shortlisted applicants by 20 February 2026. Institutions that do not receive a formal invitation should assume that their bid was unsuccessful for this round, although they note that there will be further opportunities to engage. By submitting a bid, applicants consent to African Energy Futures using their concept note to engage with third parties to attract additional funding and partner support.
Eligible Applicants:	They are currently open to receiving concepts for fully funded hubs of US$1 million to be allocated over a period of three to five years. Bidding institutions must be prepared to help lead the building of an Africa-wide community of practice and must intend to use the grant support to build sustainable institutions engaged in collaborative research and training that will continue after African Energy Futures funding ends.
Total Budget:	€1,000,000

Call Title:	International Fellowships Programme
Programme:	The British Academy
Objective:	The International Fellowships Programme provides support for outstanding early career researchers to make a first step towards developing an independent research career through gaining experience across international borders. The International Fellowships Programme aims to attract and retain emerging talent in the UK while building a globally connected, mobile research and innovation workforce by encouraging talented international early career researchers to establish and conduct their research in the UK, supporting them to pursue high-quality and innovative research, enabling them to acquire and transfer new skills and knowledge through training and career development, and fostering long-term relationships through networking opportunities and the International Fellowships alumni programme.
Eligible Activities:	The award is offered for a duration of two years and is funded at 80% of Full Economic Costing. Applicants may request research expenses of up to £12,000 and relocation costs of up to £8,000, with clear justification required for the amounts requested. There is also the possibility of follow-on Alumni funding after the fellowship to support networking activities with UK-based or international researchers. Funding can cover directly incurred staff costs for the award-holder, estates and indirect costs, and research expenses such as travel, fieldwork, training, conferences, dissemination, and one-off relocation and visa expenses. Salary levels are expected to be comparable to academic staff at an equivalent career stage, with any inflation applied requiring justification. Certain costs are explicitly not eligible, including salary costs for additional research staff, equipment purchases, open access fees, computer hardware, books, publication-related production costs, and carbon offsetting. Each award is expected to involve a specific and protected research focus, with the award holder undertaking high quality, original research. The fellowship is designed for early career researchers who meet strict eligibility criteria, including holding a PhD (or being in the final stages with completion before 1 June 2026), having no more than five years of active full-time postdoctoral experience, working outside the UK, not holding UK citizenship, and being competent in oral and written English. Applicants must also have a clearly defined and mutually beneficial research proposal agreed with a UK host researcher and ensure they meet all requirements set out in the scheme notes.

Eligible Applicants:	The application process requires two supporting statements: one from the UK Sponsor and one from the Sponsor's Head of Department. These individuals must be invited through the application system and must accept the invitation before contributing. Applicants can monitor the progress of these contributions and will be unable to submit the application until all participants' sections show as complete and have been formally submitted. It is emphasised that participants should complete their sections well in advance of the deadline to allow time for institutional approval. Once an application is submitted, it is routed to the designated Approver at the UK Host Organisation. This approver must have the authority to confirm that the organisation can host the fellowship and that the proposed research and budget are appropriate and eligible. The responsibility for coordinating with the Sponsor, Head of Department, and institutional approver rests entirely with the applicant, and applications submitted after the deadline will not be accepted.
