

UW in Scotland Internship Awards, Summer 2027: Call for Applications

Do you want to take your studies to the next level…in Scotland? Create your own internship with UW in Scotland, and earn funding up to $5000 to support your experience. The internship period should be no less than one month (20 workdays), and residence in Scotland is required.

Starting at least one month before the deadline,* develop your application in conversation with:

- A UW faculty advisor
- A relevant Scottish institution (company, nonprofit, college, etc.)
- The Director of UW in Scotland (Professor Caroline McCracken-Flesher: cmf@uwyo.edu)
- *In some cases, students MUST work through a provider (medical fields, etc.); Center for Global Studies (cgs@uwyo.edu) can advise

Applications should:

- Describe the project in detail (what do you want to study/learn?)
- Specify the educational need (how does this advance your degree/career goals?)
- Specify the host organization (company, non-profit etc.) and its necessity to the project
- Detail logistics (when will you travel; where will you stay; what will you do & where?)
- Detail your budget (travel, accommodation, costs charged by the host institution, etc.)
- Submitted applications should be no more than two pages in length

Also required:

- A statement of commitment from the organization where the internship would occur
- A reference letter from a relevant UW faculty member who will also supervise your project, submitted directly to Professor McCracken-Flesher: cmf@uwyo.edu

Qualifying candidates & programs:

- Students in good standing, enrolled at UW through the period of the internship
- Experiences that are NOT regular university courses or provider-supplied study-abroad opportunities

Students who have taken a UW in Scotland global seminar are strongly encouraged to apply. Prior participation in a UW in Scotland course is not required.

Deadline: 31 January 2027 (rolling deadline; early applications may be accepted, and the competition terminated)

Submit: Submit completed applications, and have reference & support letters sent to: Professor Caroline McCracken-Flesher, UW in Scotland & Center for Global Studies: cmf@uwyo.edu.

NOTE: If you achieve UW in Scotland funding, a signed internship agreement between UW and the host organization will need to be in place before funds are disbursed. Your department may have internship protocols. If not, CGS can supply models from other departments. Cowboys Abroad registration is also required prior to disbursement.

