

CHEMICAL CONTROL

Weather conditions such as temperatures, wind, humidity, and precipitation influence the effectiveness of pesticide applications. A handheld weather station can be useful in obtaining accurate, site specific information. This can help determine if conditions are favorable for application.

IPM

