

BIOLOGICAL CONTROL

Realizing that some insects are beneficial, it is important to identify the insect present before treating. Proper identification aids in selecting the most appropriate and effective control option for pest management.

IPM