

BIOLOGICAL CONTROL

Adult syrphid flies serve as important pollinators that feed on flower nectar and pollen. Their larvae prey on large numbers of aphids, scales, and thrips and are capable of reducing pest populations quickly. Syrphid larvae are susceptible to insecticide applications.

IPM

