STUDENT BACKGROUND CHECK

All student majors in the Division of Kinesiology and Health, College of Health Sciences, are placed in teaching and/or internship training sites where highly vulnerable clients such as minor children, individuals with disabilities, and/or the elderly, are routinely served. Criminal background checks of all university students placed in training sites are currently routinely required. Therefore, background checks shall be required on all applicants to programs in the College of Health Sciences prior to formal admission into their prospective major. This practice will ensure that precautions are taken to protect clients/patients/learners utilizing the services of these programs and will protect the University of Wyoming from legal liability and negative publicity.

Students seeking admission into the Division of Kinesiology and Health, College of Health Sciences, are required to obtain and pay for a Criminal Background Check. The results of your criminal background check may determine if you will be admitted to one of our three undergraduate programs. You must inform the Dean of the College if you are convicted of a crime while enrolled in your educational program. Each training site (e.g., fitness center, hospital, school, private company, etc.) will be informed that you have completed a background check prior to your placement at that site. You may also be required to update your criminal background check each year. You must sign a release when applying for admission into the professional program that permits us to release this information.
