Looking to Get Published?

The Law Library unveils two new web sites accessible from our library home page at <http://uwadmnweb.uwyo.edu/LawLib>. Click on "Publication Tips" from the column on the right.

Student Publication Tips

This site includes tips for submission, links to electronic submission software, and help for law review editors and staff. We have compiled information for books and online sources authored by established legal professionals and law review editors.

Faculty Publication Tips

This web page has information similar to the student publications page but there is a general focus toward getting professional works published, an evaluation of submission software, and links to publishing blogs.

Both sites will be updated regularly to identify current practices in article submission.

3L Chocolate and Champagne Party Tuesday, April 17 2:00-4:00

Invitations have gone out to 3Ls for a Chocolate and Champagne Punch Open House. We initiated this program when one of our graduates suggested the library ask Westlaw and Lexis to allow our students to donate unused reward points to the library. Each year since then the library has been able to purchase $300-$400 worth of materials with donated reward points.

If you wish to donate your unused Westlaw and/or Lexis points, there will be an opportunity to sign up during the party. Sign-up sheets will be posted for the rest of the week as well. Regardless of whether you will have unused points to donate, we hope you will be our guest at the party.

Calling All Creative Writers: Library Poetry Contest

Need a break from your legal studies?
Win a $10 gift card to share with your buddies.
Submit a poem, in rhyme or haiku,
And library staff may have a prize for you!

Judges, lawyers, and academic wags have succumbed to the fun of authoring songs, poems, haikus, parodies, and lampoons. Check out the library display case for real-life examples of these works, then join these other legal professionals and showcase your poetry talents in the Library Poetry Contest.

Submit your own short poem or haiku into the entry box next to the display. The contest closes on Monday, April 23. The author of the winning entry will be awarded a $10 gift card of their choice.

Gearing up for Finals

With finals approaching, building usage increases and frustrations rise. Please be especially conscious of library policies that regulate our common areas. Cell phone conversations should be moved outside the library, and conversations within the library should be carried on in a fashion that acknowledges the library as quiet study space. Group discussions should be moved to study rooms, which can be reserved at the circulation desk. Study room reservations are limited to two hours per group and can be renewed after two hours if no one else has signed up. Thank you for being mindful of your fellow students.

National Library Week April 15-21, 2007

First sponsored in 1958, National Library Week is a time to celebrate the contributions of our nation's libraries and to promote library use and support. National Library Week is sponsored by the American Library Association (ALA) and libraries across the country each April.
